PREPARATORY BROOKLYN, NEW YORK

Foreword

SANITAS, SCIENTIA, SANCTITAS—Three words, little in size but towering in meaning. They represent the nurturing of all our varied talents; an endeavor not only for intellectual but for spiritual and physical perfection also. This is a complete process, not a fragmentary one, a development of the whole man—morally, bodily, and intellectually—for what is a body without a soul?

Equal emphasis is put on all phases of school life, the classroom, the chapel, the playing field. The phases are like pearls which are evenly polished and conscientiously strung by discipline and training to make the final product. All care is taken, however, since these pearls cannot be restrung.

SANITAS, SCIENTIA, SANCTITAS STANDS FOR FOUR YEARS OF MUTUAL SACRIFICE. If the student has the initiative and the judgment to gain the merits of this sacrifice, he will be assured of success. What could be more fitting and proper than to have as our seal the symbol of our own temporal and spiritual success?

Dedication

To a Catholic gentleman who has contributed so much to our four years at Prep, who has given us an education we could never acquire by merely reading textbooks or by doing our daily assignments. For through his classroom instruction and his personal example, he has shown us the ideal of a richer Catholic life and has enkindled in our hearts a deeper love and respect for God.

To you, Mr. Devlin, on the completion of twenty-five years of teaching, our yearbook is humbly dedicated, that we might in some small way express our deep gratitude and appreciation for all you have done for us.

Mr. John E. Devlin

Ad Majorem Dei Gloriam.

Faculty

Perhaps the most fitting seal that could be chosen for our introduction to the faculty is the seal of Saint Ignatius. For just as the keynote of Saint Ignatius' life was sanctity through dedicated study, so have our teachers persevered in the oftentimes trying task of imparting these principles of sanctity and scholarship to us.

It is thus that our dedicated faculty carry on the centuries-old philosophy of Jesuit education and bring to us not only the fruits of the arts and sciences, but also the truly Christian education.

Seniors

This is the Class of 1954, the graduates of Brooklyn Prep. We have been trained to represent, in every way, the ideal of the school, which is summed up very briefly on the school seal: "Sanitas, Scientia, Sanctitas."

Although at times we may have doubted it, our days at the Prep have been the best days of our lives. It is here that we have first been treated as young men, and it is also here that we have first seen ourselves growing up. These days will never be forgotten or equalled. They are the initial, and perhaps, the most important training for our jobs as the future leaders of the country.

There will be some of us in every profession in every part of the country. Wherever we are, we will be marked by the traits which have become second nature to us; these traits which have become so embedded in us by every day experience and practice that they will never be quenched. They are "Health, Knowledge, and Holiness" which are stated on the school seal, and are indicative of a successful leader in this troubled world.

With the help of God, we will be successful in whatever undertaking we may choose, and will reach our eternal reward, heaven.

In Memoriam

Donald Lake

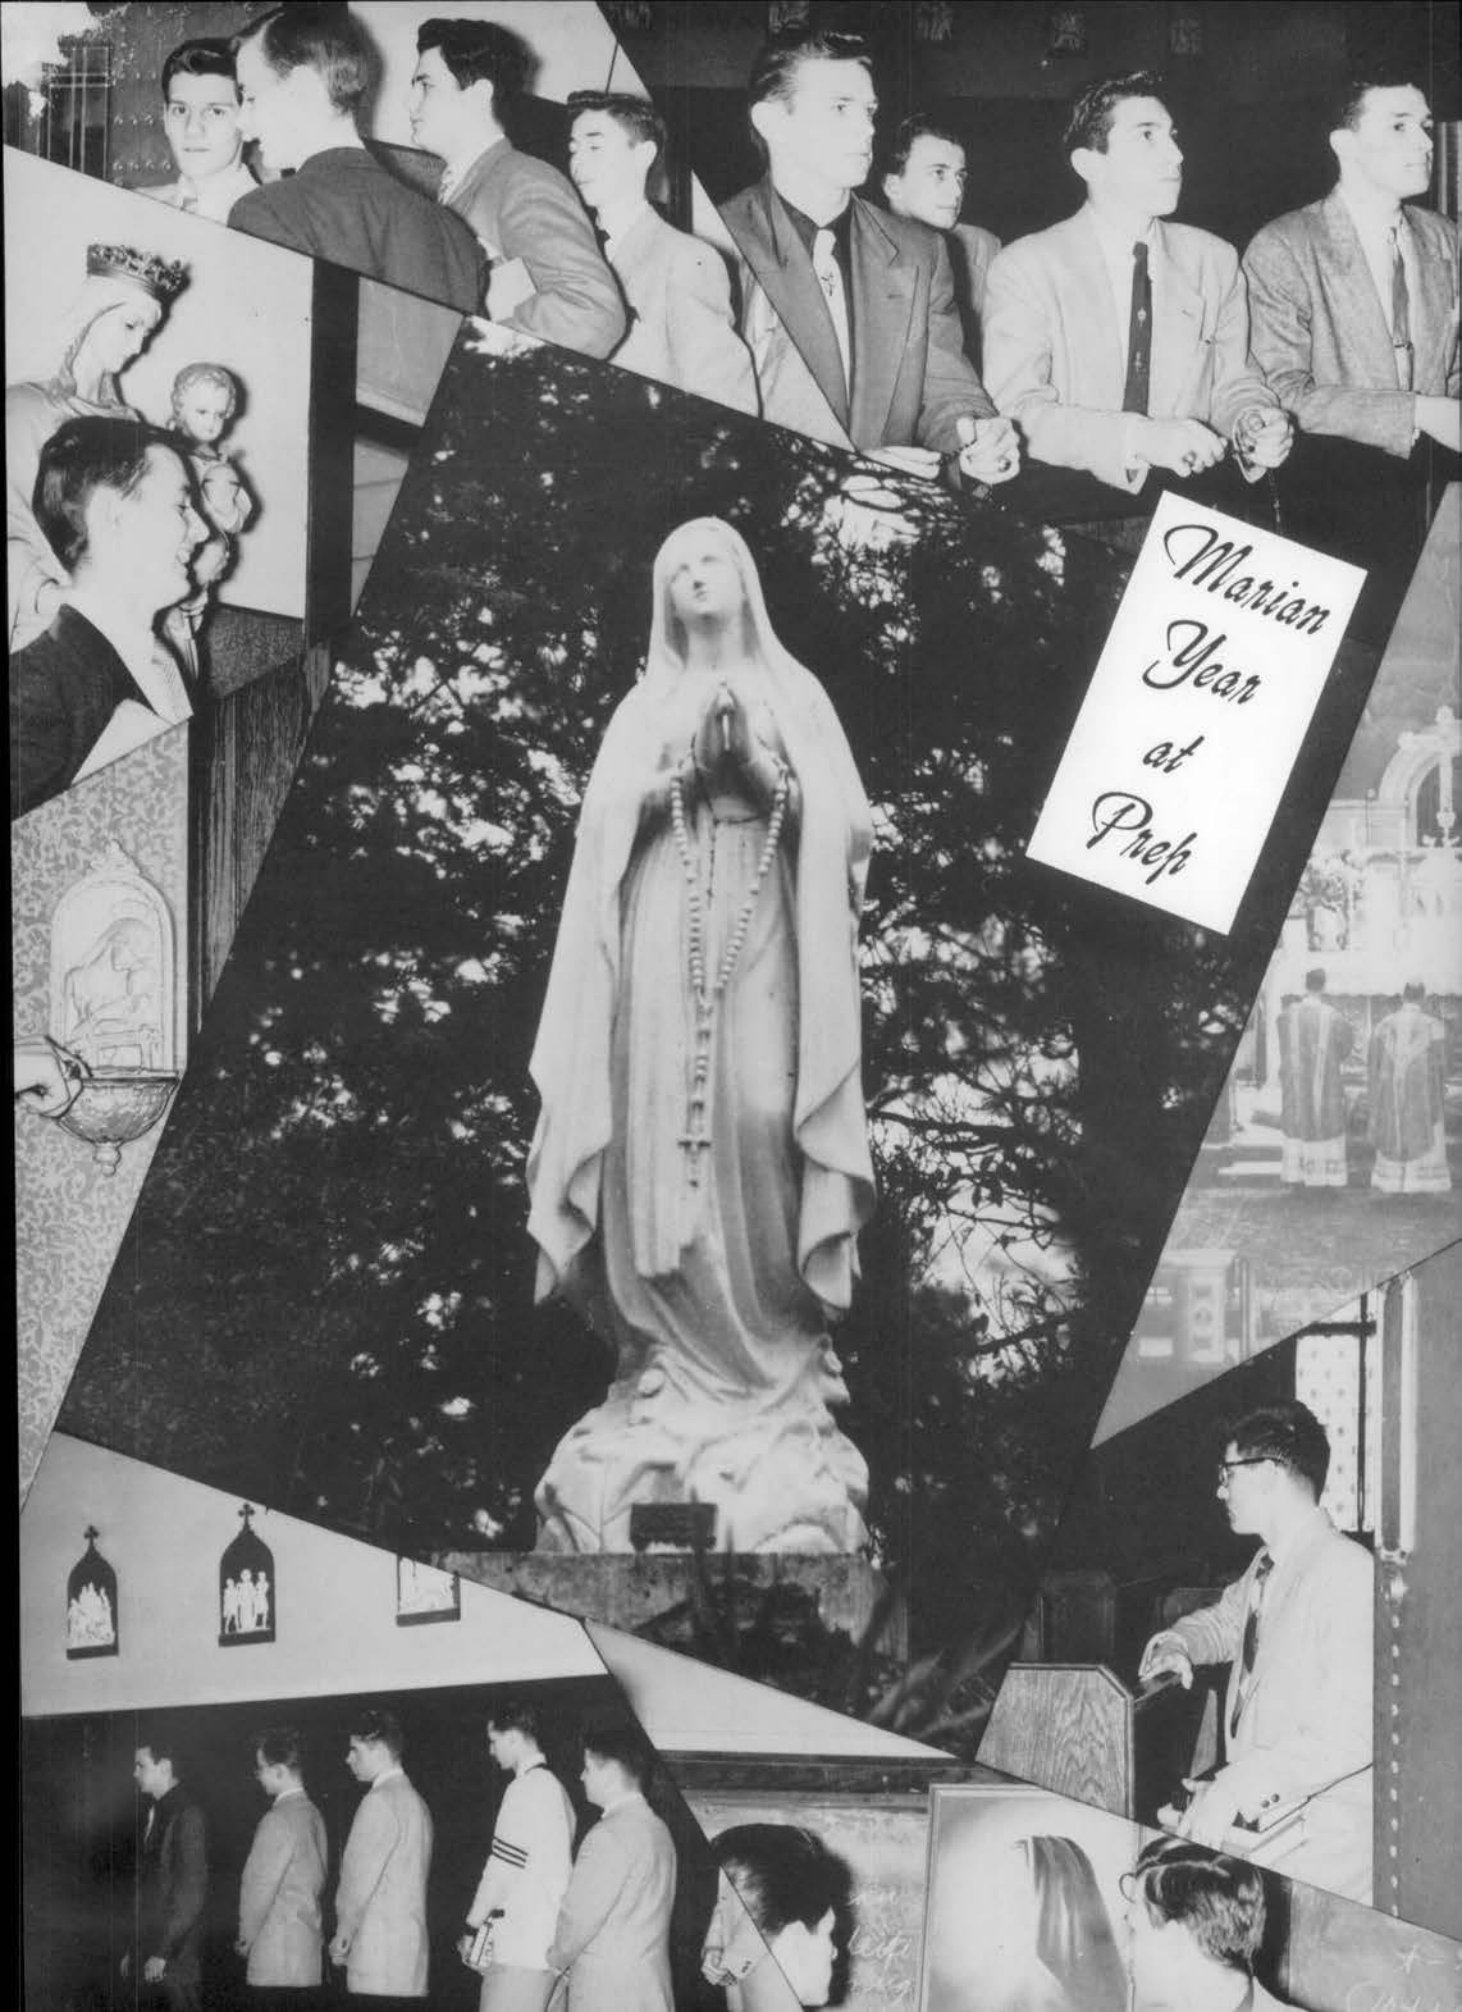

OCTOBER 23, 1952

Don was a member of the Class of '54. An earnest student and a true friend, he was esteemed by all his Prep associates. His actions spoke so loudly of his upright character that we need add of him only this: Don lived and died a Catholic gentleman, a true Prep man.

Underclassmen

The seal—it reminds us of Prep pads and all that you use them for. The daily Latin half sheet, the math homework, the weekend composition, all rolled into one. Yes, even the composition written in the library on a rainy afternoon.

But most of all, the seal reminds us of all that Brooklyn Prep means: the freshman lost in a maze of latin forms; the sophomore proud of his geometric skill; the junior conquering sines and cosines; the senior following the wanderings of Aeneas.

Here are three latin words which paint a picture of four years of Jesuit education. They symbolize the training, guidance and understanding these Catholic educators have shown us.

Sanctitas: The care that was taken in keeping our souls in the hands of God have clearly been demonstrated by the constant preaching and teaching both in and out of the classroom.

Scientia: In the classroom we were taught what life is and how to live it. After school we learned how to live and work with our fellow man—the most valuable asset a creature can possess.

Sanitas: Man is developed in a third way besides holiness and knowledge. His body is the bearer of his very self and the temple of the Holy Ghost. At the Prep we were taught the value of our body and how to use and strengthen it to make it worthy of being the home of the Paraclete.

25th Anniversary

Planning the deadline is the first job. "How's the 22nd?" asks Editor George Marsh. Sports Editor Opladen chuckles approval; Co-editor Castellane muses on possible conflicts.

GERARD P. BELL, S.J.
Moderator

Deadline set, writers respond to the call over the P.A. and pack into Room 312, next to the JUG office, for a News Staff meeting.

"Luongo! See Mr. Duffy about the basketball game at the K. of C. Fullam! Catch Mr. Doolan on the way out and get the facts of the CHSAA meet this Saturday." So it goes with the Sports Staff.

A week later, Photo Editors House and McCooney decide the best of the JUG pictures while Bill Farrugia, Ed Shay, and DiMeo and DeLaura help in the decision.

After "galley" mistakes are corrected, the "dummy" is pasted together, and the grueling task of making up "heads" brings forth groans from weary workers.

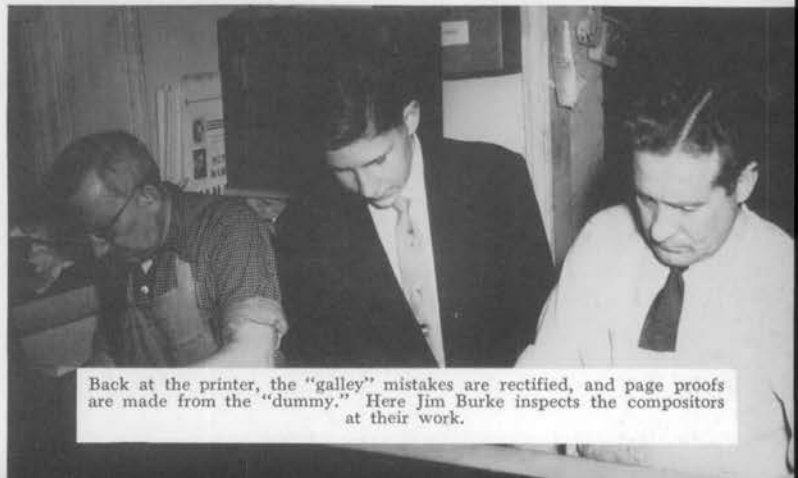

In order to meet the publication date, "galleys" back from the printer are checked between periods by Seniors Charles, Norman, McDermott, and Bott.

Also meeting their deadline on the same day, six stalwarts line up to hand in articles with Frank Luongo checking off. Rewrite men and typists take over at this point.

To play safe and avoid confusion, staff members check their assignments in the JUG office for the right number of words.

Back at the printer, the "galley" mistakes are rectified, and page proofs are made from the "dummy." Here Jim Burke inspects the compositors at their work.

No! It's not money! Just Brother Victor, O.F.M., looking on with Gilbride and Flanagan as some much needed BLUE JUG stationery goes to press.

"There's the masterpiece," remarks Al Bott as Brother Didacus, O.F.M., and Dick Hutchinson look over final copy.

“The athlete, if he loves the game and plays to the best of his ability, learns how it feels to be ‘on top’ and how it feels to lose a hard fought game. He learns to work with his mates as a team. That is the purpose of high school sports: to learn to work as a team with your mates—so that you can work in unity with your fellow man in later life. When this is combined with Catholic training, the athlete and student will evolve as a Catholic gentleman of whom his family, his school, his Church may be proud.”

Musical Club Makes Debut Victor Meyer Renders Saxophone Solo

The Prep Glee Club is an admitted success. Even its severest critic must retire in silence. For, at the debut on March 22 the youthful singers easily proved their ability. Each number was received with more enthusiasm than the preceding, and rightly so.

The opening number was the national anthem and from the first note there was no doubt as to the success of their efforts. As the closing strains rang through the hall, the audience broke into unrestrained applause which ceased only when the orchestra prepared for its first selection.

The boys returned to the stage after the main speeches for two more selections. The first of these, "When Elmer Plays the Accordeen", was rendered with plenty of pep, zip and harmony. Flushed with their two successes, the boys redoubled their efforts with Bulard's "The Winter Song". The result was indeed gratifying to all interested in the Glee Club. Wave after wave of applause rolled up and down the auditorium "those who had come to scoff" remained to applaud.

The success of the Club debut was clearly evident. On any other occasion they would have held the center of the stage. A great part of this success is undoubtedly due to Mr. Frederic Joslyn, director of the Fordham Glee Club. Who knows? Some day our own Glee Club will be as well known as Fordham's.

The success of the Glee Club led the audience to expect great things of the Prep Orchestra and they were not disappointed. After a rather shaky start the young musicians began to reveal the benefits of their coaching. The first selection was the overture of Suppe's "Poet and Peasant". It was well received by the audience.

While awaiting the decision of the judges the orchestra again entertained with the "Waves of the Danube Waltzes."

This number found the boys at their best and the enthusiastic reception of the selection was a tribute to their skill.

Following this Mr. Victor Meyer '30 demonstrated the beauties of the saxophone solo with "Saxophon" Victor

The Blue Jug

Well, fellows, here it is at last! The first edition of the "BLUE JUG", the Prep's own student paper. For years the students have been without an organ wherein to give expression of their personal views about Prep affairs. The need of a school paper has always been realized, but no definite action was ever taken to publish one.

One enterprising class did try to publish a small mimeographed paper.

The purpose of it, in their own words, was to "publish a paper which would take the place of a school paper until such time when the whole student body would take an active interest in the matter". After a few issues the plan fell through. Other classes have published papers at irregular intervals. The present 4-B-1 class in the early years of its existence issued a Review. But it met with failure. Other attempts along these lines met the same fate.

What seems to be the reason? Either enthusiasm waned before any decisive action could be taken, or interest died out after the first few issues. The "BLUE JUG" is another venture. How will it be received by the student body? What is the reason of its existence?

The Prep had a humble beginning, but now it has developed into a large institution. Last year saw the addition of a new recitation building, laboratories, students' library and a faculty building. The enrollment has passed the 900 mark and is climbing steadily. The Prep's early graduates have become prominent in professional and financial circles. Her more recent graduates are bringing glory to the Blue and White in the classrooms and on the athletic fields of some of the leading colleges. Her present students are striving to uphold the record of her glorious past.

With the opening of the new buildings last fall, a new atmosphere seemed to pervade the school. Everything fine in the old spirit has been retained but the lethargy of former years has been shaken off. New activities have been added—the Glee Club, Orchestra, Stamp and Coin Club, Chess Club—these are but a few of the new organizations. The crowning achievement of this organization work was the establishment of the Student Council—but more about this in another issue.

With all this activity and enthusiasm it is quite natural that the school paper idea should be again broached. It was welcomed by the student body, and at once a few capable men assumed the responsibility, and what was the outcome of their planning? You have it here—the "BLUE JUG".

The staff of the paper was determined by competition, each aspirant submitting an article, many of them showing great promise.

To insure the financial success of the paper a plea for subscriptions was made. The response, though not exceptional, was satisfactory. Approximately eighty per cent of the student body pledged their support, the other twenty per cent no doubt will be heard from when they see the "BLUE JUG".

In presenting the first issue of the "BLUE JUG" to the student body the staff wishes to thank all who have lent their support and cooperation to make the dream of many years a reality.

HESTERBERG SENIOR
CHAIRMAN

At a recent meeting of the three 4-B classes, Al Hesterberg was elected permanent chairman to manage the activities of the Senior classes for the remainder of the term. Upon him will fall the work of arranging for the Senior Banquet. He is at present making inquiries at the leading hotels and hopes to have a report soon.

surely can wrestle with the old Sax. "Let's have some more solos, Vic."

The orchestra closed the evening's entertainment with the "N. C. 4 March". Their performance was indeed satisfactory to Mr. Hopkinson, their director. It was vastly superior to the unorganized group of boys who reported at the first meeting. Mr. Hopkinson has worked hard with them and his labors are bearing fruit. We are proud of our musical club.

Prep Debaters Lose to Loyola of Baltimore

700 Attend Formal Opening of
New Hall

On March 22, the Senior Debating Society held its first home debate of the current season. The debating team of Loyola High School furnished the opposition. The debate was staged in the new auditorium. The occasion was indeed noteworthy. Over seven hundred friends and supporters of the Prep were present in spite of the inclement weather. The numbers and animation of the spectators were indicative of the interest which the debate had aroused. It was a fitting event for the opening of the new hall.

The subject of the debate was, "Resolved: That the Cabinet form of government is preferable to the Presidential or Three-department form of government." Our boys defended the negative.

After numbers by the Glee Club and Orchestra, Mr. Shaughnessy, the chairman of the debate, welcomed the team from Baltimore in the name of Brooklyn Prep, and then explained the question to the audience.

The affirmative side of the discussion, or the superiority of the Cabinet form of government, was defended by the debaters of Loyola High School, Messrs. Kernan, Power, and Ireton; the negative view-point was upheld by Messrs. Ward, Tiernan, and Crane.

The first speaker for the affirmative was Mr. Gerald J. Kernan, a master of eloquence and logic. He introduced the debate by showing that the argument dealt, not with the English form of government as opposed to the American form, but with a consideration of the respective qualifications of the cabinet form of government and the presidential system. He showed that the presidential form of government repels men of ability; that, under the presidential form, there exists antagonism between the Congress and the Executive. His arguments were presented in a forceful manner; he was fiery and eloquent.

The first speaker for the negative was Mr. Ward. He opened his attack with the question: "What is the purpose of all government? Is it not the protection
