Blue Book 1965

Published by the Senior Class

Brooklyn Preparatory School

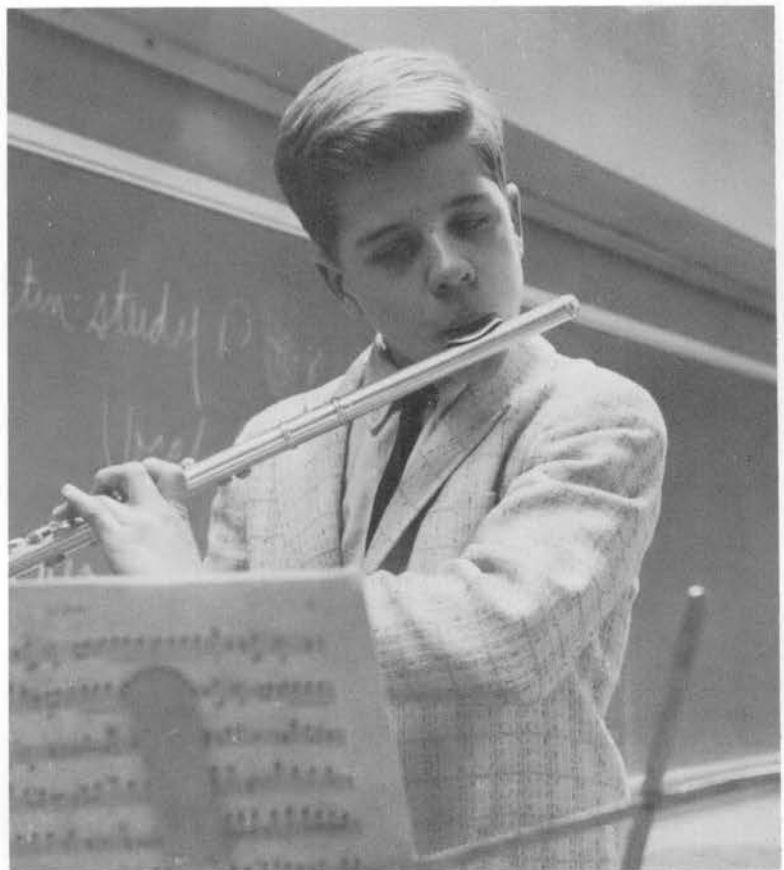

A school in itself is merely a building. Brooklyn Prep is a collection of people, of faces, of personalities.

They make Prep what it is.

In showing you their faces,

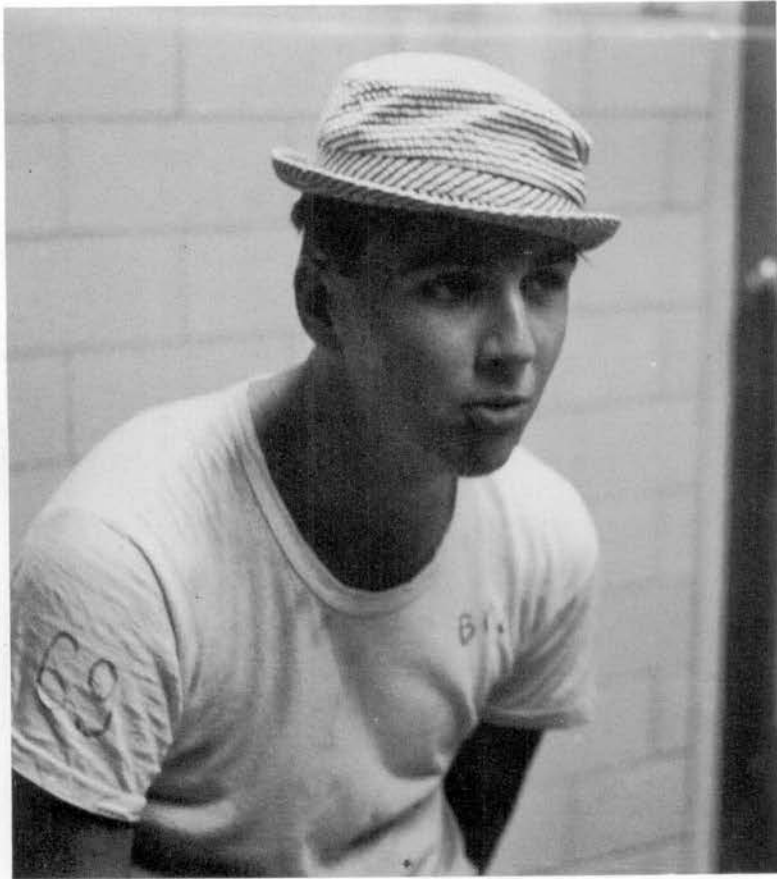

we hope to catch their spirit...

...faces which accept a challenge

...faces which laugh

at any time

Blue Book's Man of the Year

Mr. William Duffy

Considering that Mr. William Duffy has been a major factor in life at Brooklyn Prep for the last fourteen years, we feel that it is about time that a senior class dedicate its yearbook to him. The name, Mr. Duffy, has become synonymous with the spirit of Prep's entire athletic endeavors. It is a known fact that immediately after an alumnus asks about Prep he asks about Mr. Duffy. Alumni and present students alike have known him not only as a gym instructor, a coach, or a teacher, but also as a man possessing that indefinable quality which leads them to follow.

The senior class of 1965 now hopes to honor Mr. Duffy by dedicating this BLUE BOOK to him.

WHAT MAKES A STUDENT?

Is it only a daily order, bells to summon him to books and a desk? Or do his studies form the nucleus of that sphere which will be his whole life? The answer of course is up to the individual. In the following pages we show what Brooklyn Prep offers to help him.

And in These Latter Days, Through His Son, Jesus Christ...

Armed with the Religion series developed by the Jesuits of the New York Province, the Fathers and Scholastics of Brooklyn Prep, daily attempt to spread the Good News, a hard task that. In freshman year begins the study of prophecies and hints about the Messiah from the Old Testament, and of His life and miracles in the New; in sophomore year, the plan of salvation unfolds further as Christ is seen living on, in His sacraments; in third year, His Church grounds the student's concern for his religion. The fourth year course is the most challenging of all: in the first semester is an analysis of Christian vocation; in the second, each Senior is led to define his own view as a Christian living in 1965: such problems as censorship, alcoholism, and birth control force him to prove to himself how much of the Christian life he has assumed.

Sooner or later in any Religion course books fail. To stimulate Christian living beyond Prep's walls, beyond books and class, is the ultimate goal of the Religion teacher at Brooklyn Prep.

Sing to Us, O Muse, of Man...

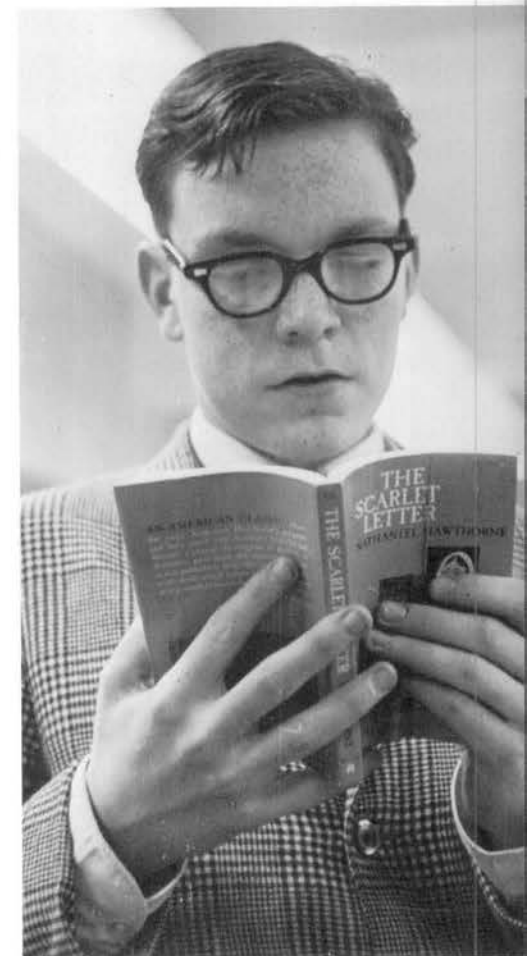

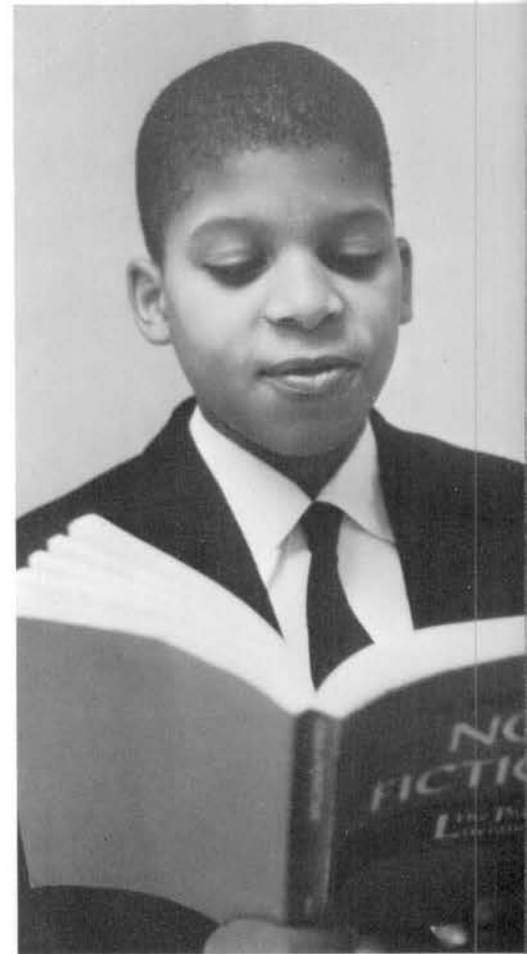

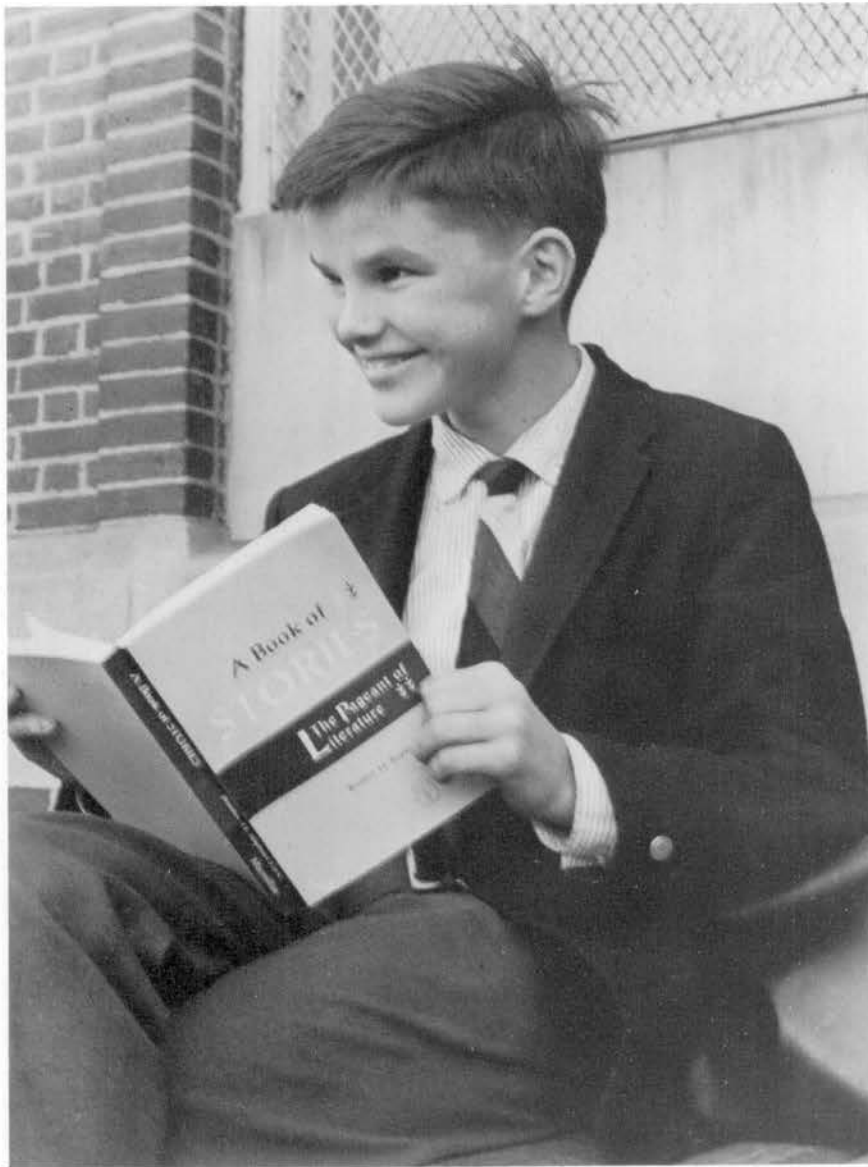

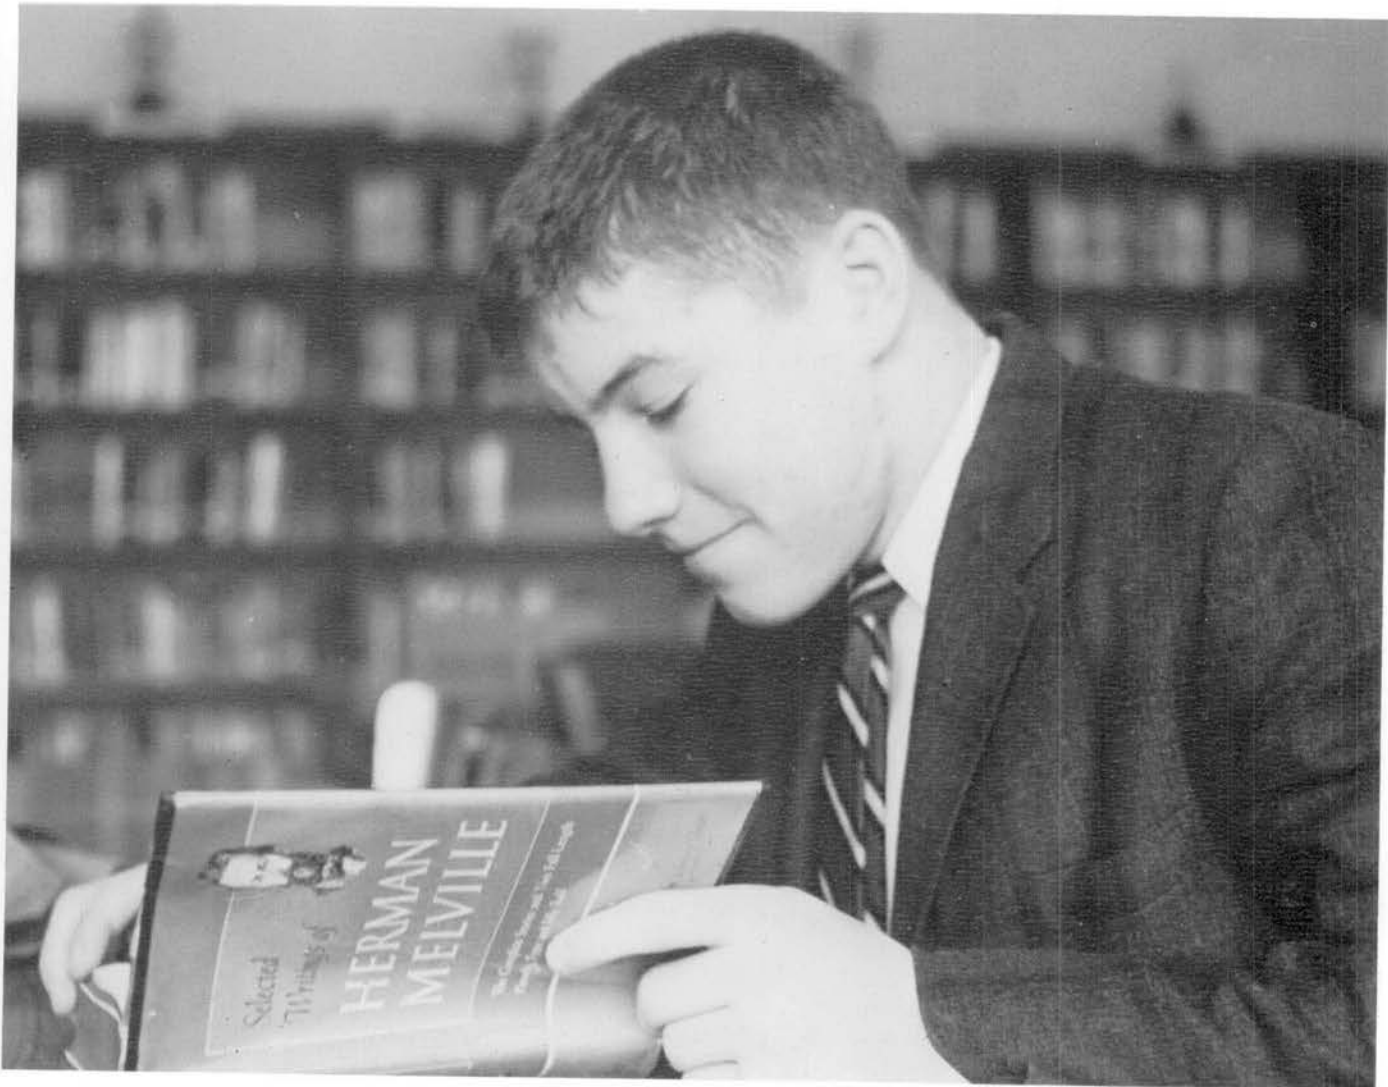

Phidias still breathes in the once-chill marble, and Homer still sings the centuries aside. What creature could it be but man to scoff so brazenly at time? The Classics enable us in the present to hear the words and wisdom of ages passed.

At Brooklyn Prep the Classical Tradition lives on. All students take Latin; many take Greek. But if the matter is old, the approach to it at Prep is always contemporary, always under revision. This year the freshmen arrived to find themselves with a new Latin textbook; Advanced Placement seniors experienced a new course in Horace, Catullus, and Livy. Also the juniors became aware of another side to the Catilinarian controversy: they read Sallust's life of Cicero's foe, and started afresh to understand Catiline, hero or despot.

In the future, Greek too may see some changes; Father Harold Oppido, S.J., winged-worded Chairman of the Classics Department, avers that expansion of the Greek courses is now under consideration.

“There Is No Frigate Like a Book, To Take Us Lands Away...”

Prep students are reading more and more literature these days. Why? The carefully planned novel program for each year, semesters and summers, may be responsible. Or perhaps it's the beginner's program of poetry and fiction newly introduced into the first semester of sophomore year, before the student enters into a more historical approach to American and English literature. Or perhaps it's the Advanced Placement Program, which, year by year, runs more smoothly.

Or perhaps it's the teaching. Chaired by Mr. Charles Winans, the English Department has this year continued to question its teaching methods for both literature and composition. No English teacher will sound the same as another, but through the interchange of methods at English meetings, through the continuing suggestion of new methods, such as the team teaching endeavor in fourth year, it is the hope of all to raise the general level of reading and composition.

To Explore, To Measure, To Know the World Around Us...

With the advent of freshman Biology into the curriculum our Science Department has come upon the brink of its professed goal—a smooth-flowing four-year science program. P.S.S.C. physics is in its second year of glory, and all the omens seem favorable for the future extension and coordination of science courses at Brooklyn Prep.

This year the Math Department also has reason to pride itself in the fulfillment of a four-year advanced placement course which includes more than a year's intense study of integral and differential calculus.

French Revolution, 1965

No more paradigms, no more French taught as Latin. Tapes and slides are the basics of Modern Language at Brooklyn Prep. Following the St. Cloud method, Father Farrand, chairman of the Modern Language Department, leads his students down the path of knowledge through picture and sound, of mastery through creative assimilation.

Father Joyce, pictured above, does auf deutsch what Father Farrand accomplishes in French, adding to the versatility of the forward-looking department.

French and German are already three-year courses at Prep. Future aims of Father Farrand are a Spanish course (already slated for September, 1965), and finally, a fourth year of Modern Language, giving every Prep student linguistic insurance for a spree in Paris, Bonn, or Madrid.

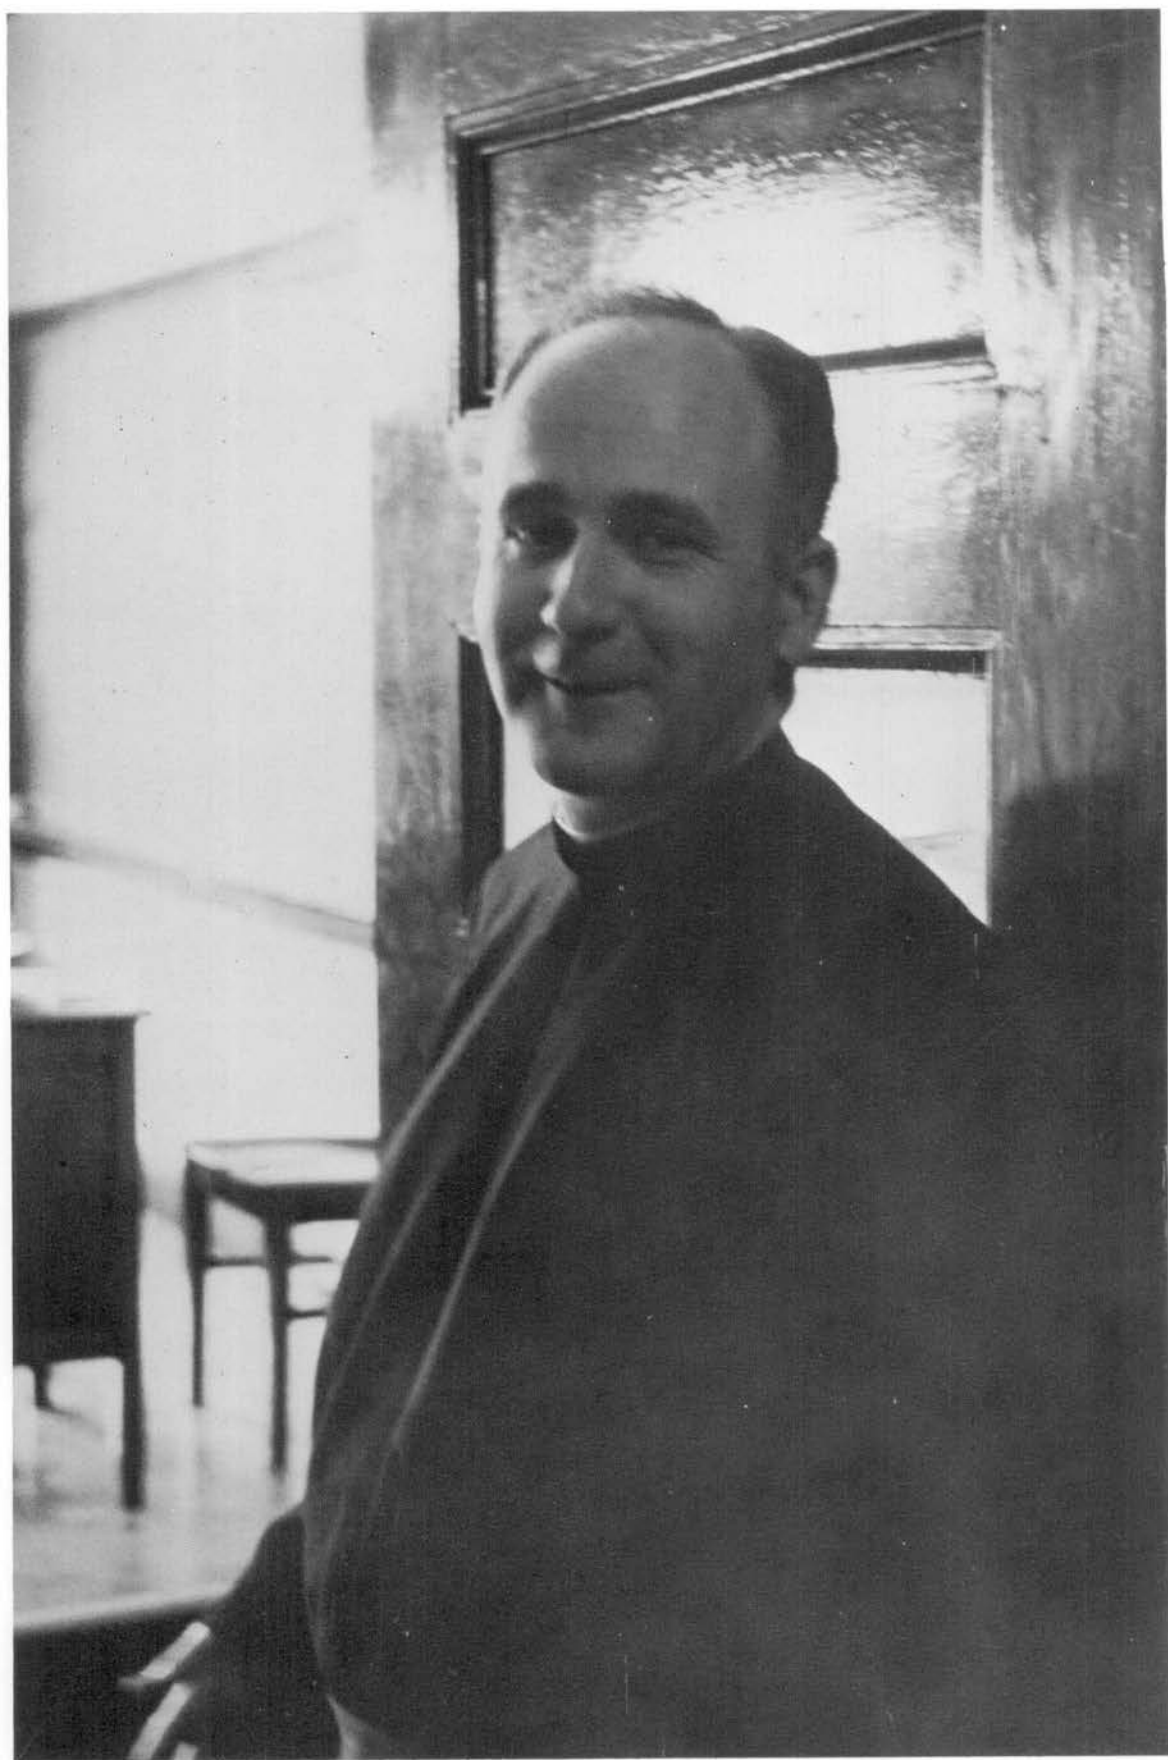

Senior History Seminars Cope with the Changing World

Mr. Francis Luongo, chairman of the Social Studies Department at Prep, has this year challenged the interested senior by presenting him with a choice of second semester seminars in Theory of Communism or American Constitutional Problems.

These seminars crown the now perfected four-year Social Studies curriculum. Freshmen begin with one semester of World Geography, with a concentration on contemporary Asian and African developments. There follow three semesters of World History, lasting through sophomore year. Juniors further the program with three semesters of American History, after which the second-term senior, firmly versed in the story of his world, may choose a seminar.

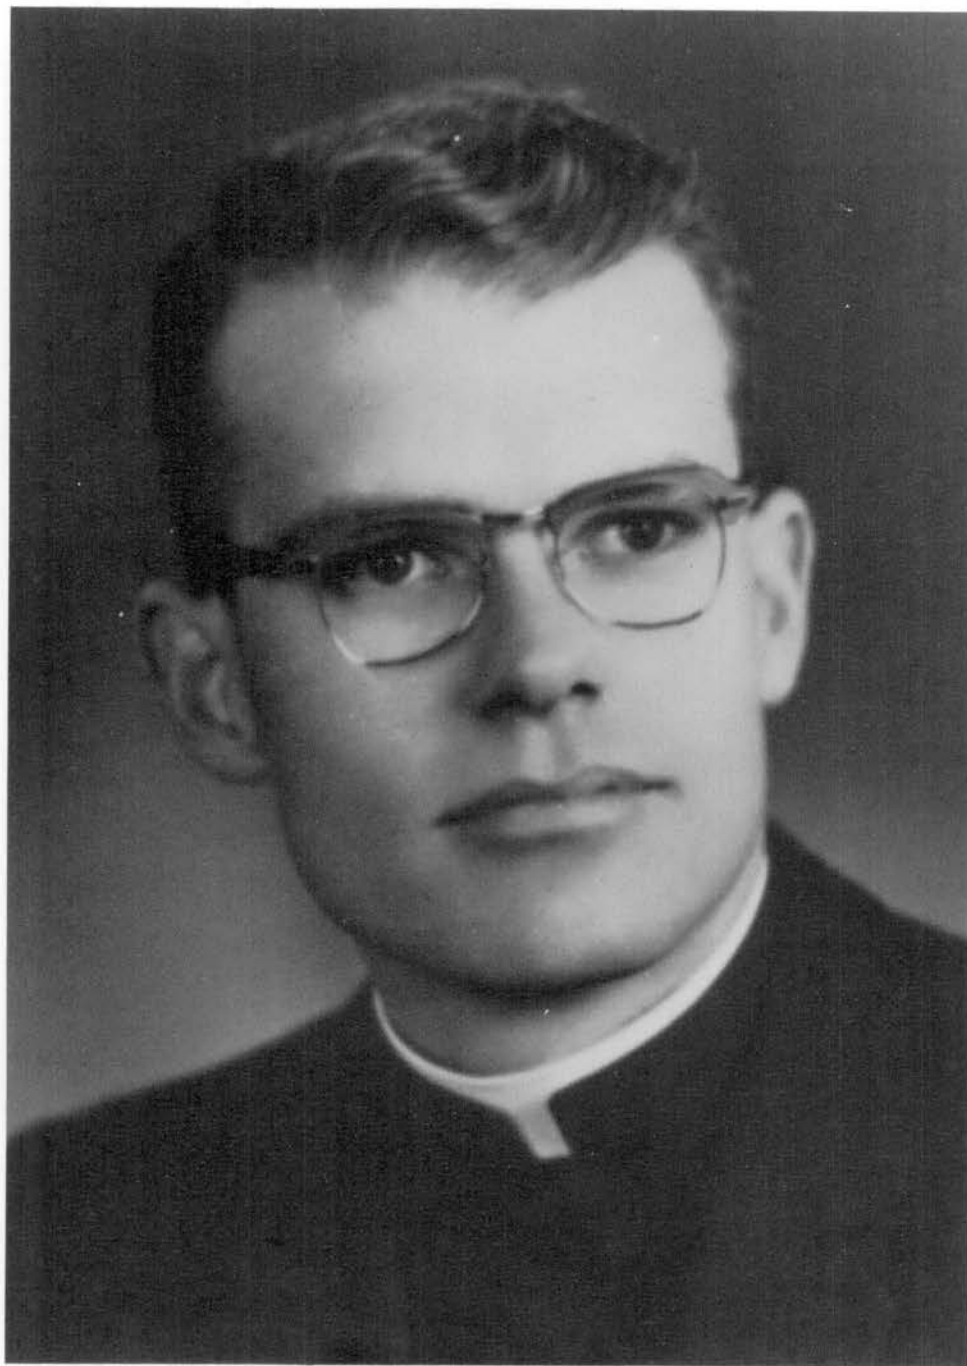

To keep the Prep student alive to his past, by itself and as part of an ever-changing present—thus the role of the History teacher at Brooklyn Prep.

WHAT IS A TEACHER?

Not all who aspire to bequeath a little something of themselves to the ages go about it in the same way. Some artists forge their phoenixes in marble, others in rhyme, and others still in very humanity, a most difficult medium. Teachers are artists, for in their students they seek to strike chords of reality and hope which may never cease to sound.

REVEREND JAMES B. McNAMARA, S.J.

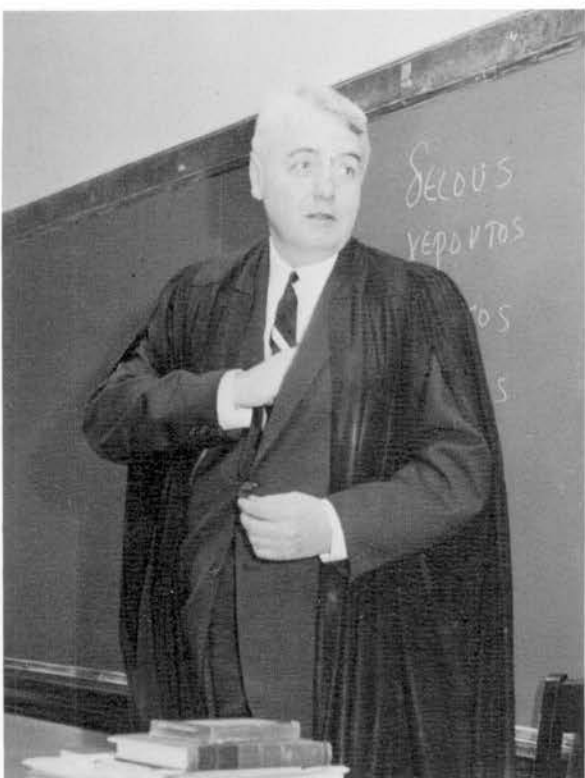

Father McNamara was graduated from Prep in 1949, and came back to teach from 1956 to 1959. On August 26, 1964, on the edge of the bright fields of his priestly life, he died.

The class of 1965 offers its condolences and prayers to Father McNamara's mother, and to his two brothers, both Jesuits.

Father John Gerhard, S.J., conducts the weekly press conference during a lull in Latin class. Besides senior Latin, he teaches junior Religion and moderates the freshman Football Team.

An apprehensive freshman keeps an eye on Mr. Walter Doolan, freshman Mathematics teacher, coach of Varsity Swimming and Baseball, and long-time veteran on the Prep faculty.

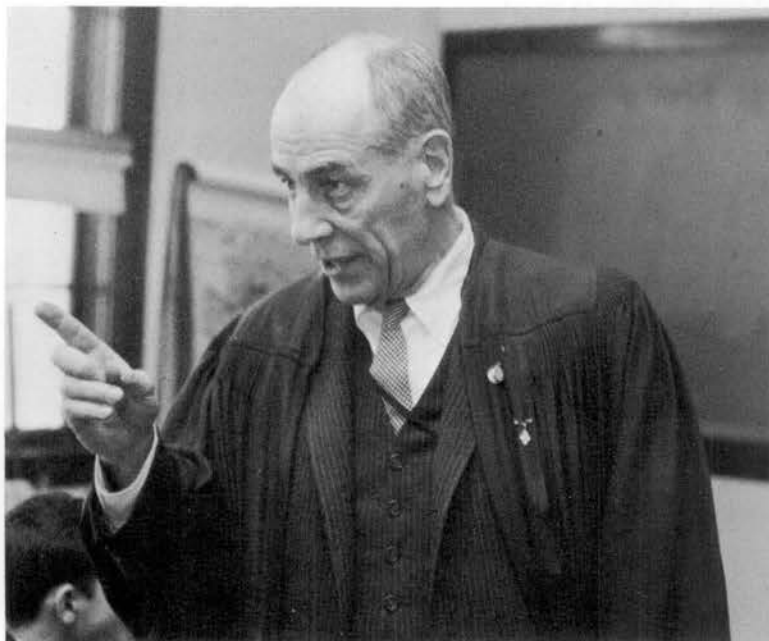

"While you're up, get me a Grant's." Mr. Charles Winans, Chairman of the English Department, teaches junior and senior English and American History. Dramatics also attract his expansive efforts.

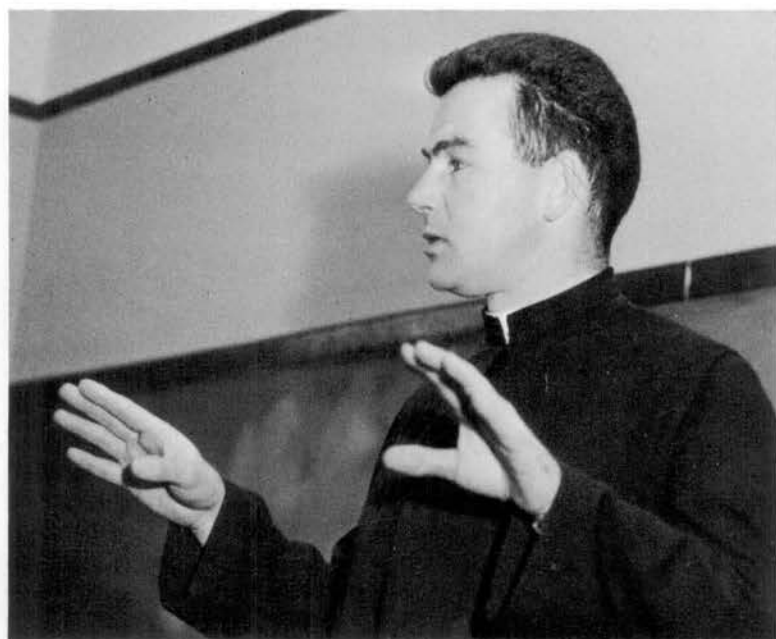

Mr. James Donnelly, S.J., displays a secret ambition for the presidency. However, because of teaching assignments in World History and Geography, and in freshman Religion, the closest he can get to the executive state is moderating the Oratory Society and the Brooklyn Prep Magazine.

Mr. Murtha Lawrence, last year's Blue Book Man of the Year, here dares sophomores to learn Math. Three o'clock finds him out on the field, coaching Track.

Although Mr. Jerome O'Connell bears the bulbous burden of all of Prep's Speech classes, he nevertheless finds time each lunch hour to preside in our basement restaurant.

Mr. Edward Murphy, S.J., who teaches sophomore Latin and English, and junior Greek, tries transforming his class into a Greek chorus. He also directs all Intramurals and the Prep Cheerleaders.

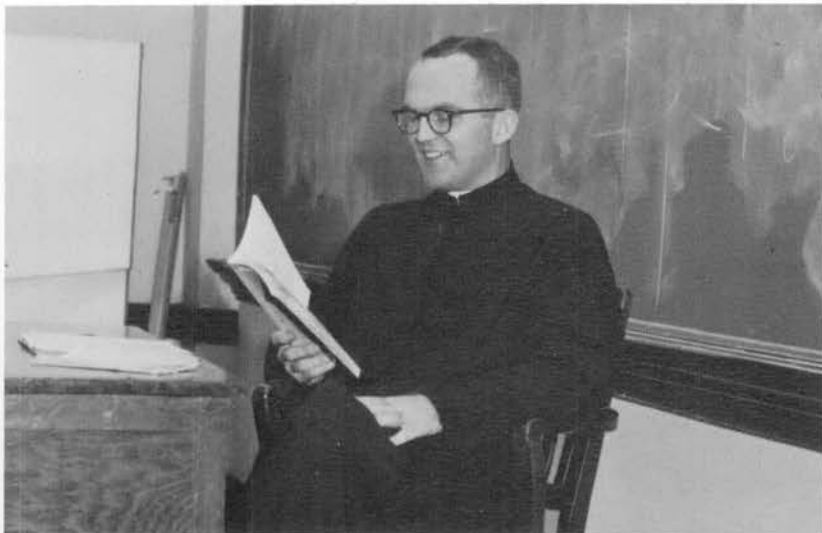

Dr. William Quinn, a forty-year veteran at Prep, plays a compass in one of his second or third year Math classes. He holds the chair as Chairman of the Faculty Council as well as of the Mathematics Department.

Father Harold Oppido, S.J., of the rumbling thunderbolt, conducts senior Greek class. Chairman of the Classics Department, he also teaches freshman Latin and Religion, and is Director of Worship.

Besides being Acting Chairman of the Religion Department, moderator of freshman Sodality, and Assistant Student Counsellor, Father Gerard Giblin, S.J., teaches sophomore Latin and Religion.

Religion teacher for freshmen, Latin and English teacher to sophomores, Blue Book and Photography moderator for all, Mr. Gerard Reedy, S.J., here pushes a poem to sophomores.

"I got my job through the New York Times." Mr. Vincent Downing's job is to teach freshmen English and to moderate Dramatics.

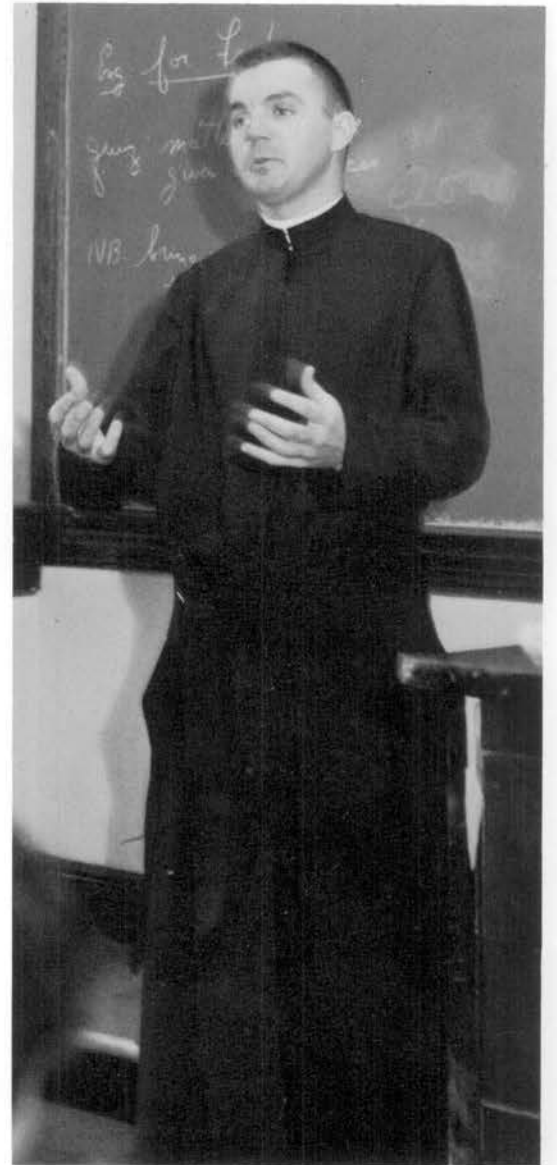

"Tomorrow and tomorrow and tomorrow and tomorrow . . ." Mr. Edward Bartley sells English to freshmen, sophomores and seniors, always merrily.

Besides conducting English classes for freshmen and seniors, Mr. Raymond Sullivan moderates the Art Club.

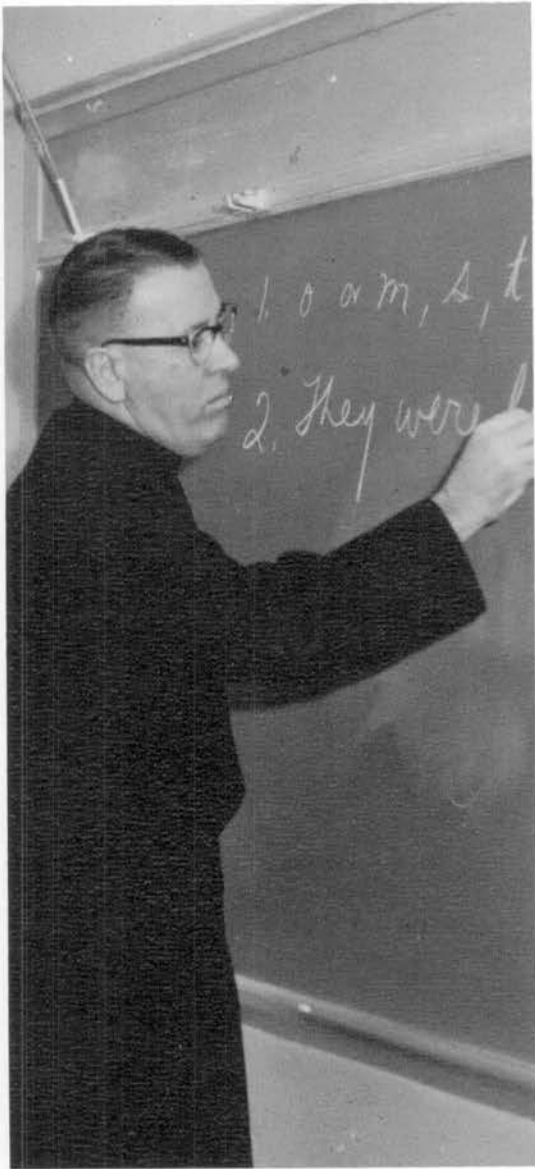

Mr. Thomas Denny, S.J., Prep's representative from the Philippines, teaches junior Latin and English, counsels Sophomores, and moderates their Sodality.

"Passer mortuus est meae puellae.' Don't that just get ya?" Proprietor of the Book Store and moderator of the Golf Team, Father John Alexander, S.J., tries to convince senior Latinists of the beauty of the tongue.

"O-s-t-mus-tis-nt." Father Bernard McElroy, S.J., is Prep's veteran freshman Latin teacher. He is also Assistant Student Counsellor.

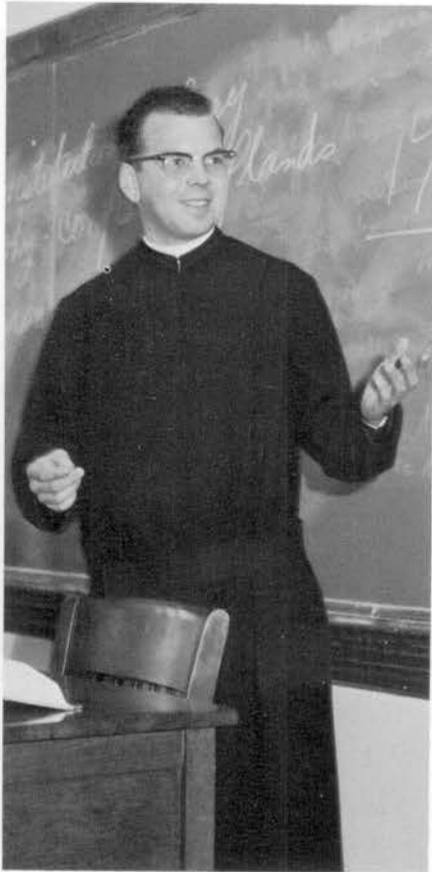

"And for my next number, I will conduct . . ." Mr. John Lawn teaches sophomore English and History, and through good season or bad coaches Varsity Basketball.

"We ought to get up a campaign against this stuff." Father Daniel Burke, S.J., teaches and preaches senior Religion.

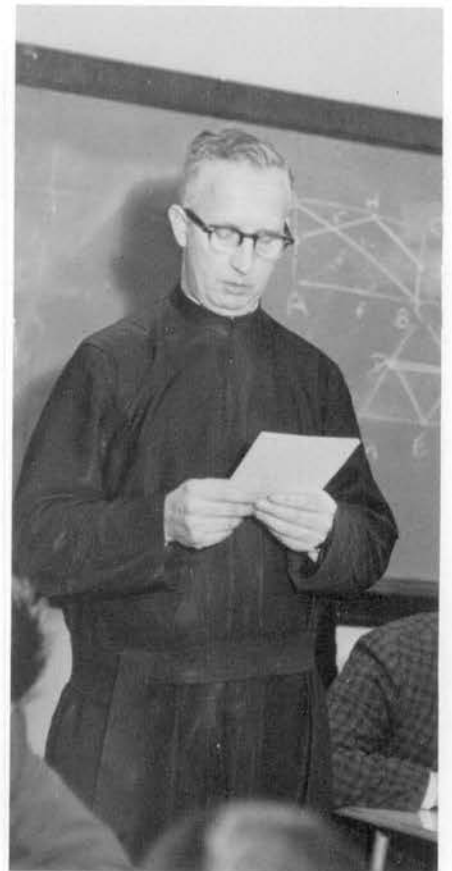

"Bang, you're dead!" Mr. Robert Nebot shoots down another Helvetian in sophomore Latin. He also teaches sophomore Greek and moderates the Latin Sight team.

"People, people who need people . . ." Mr. Michael Takacs, S.J., conducts a sing-along in his World History or Geography class. He also moderates Varsity Bowling, Stage Crew, and Dance Committee.

"Dear Diary, $E=mc^2$." Mr. John Lloyd stirs love for Chemistry and Physical Science in the potential Einsteins among Prep's upperclassmen.

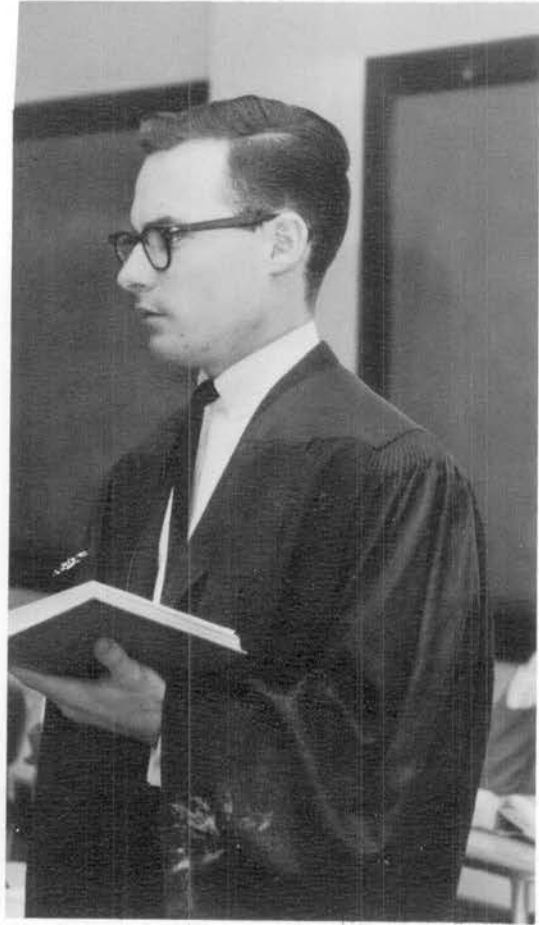

"But this doesn't even look like me!" Chairman of the Science Department, Father Joseph Musselman, S.J., teaches Fundamentals of Science and Chemistry. He also moderates the junior Sodality.

"Vive Dubonnet!" Monsieur Michael Langkutsch, a notable addition to our faculty, teaches his native language.

Mr. James Cusick teaches sophomore Latinists the highways and byways of Caesar's Gaul and, to the freshmen, all the approaches to it.

Mr. John O'Neil, our man in the library, finds time also to instruct freshmen in the romance of the Dewey Decimal System.

Père John Farrand, S.J., master of the Prep sound track and film department, teaches French to juniors and seniors. He is also Chairman of the ever-expanding Modern Language Department.

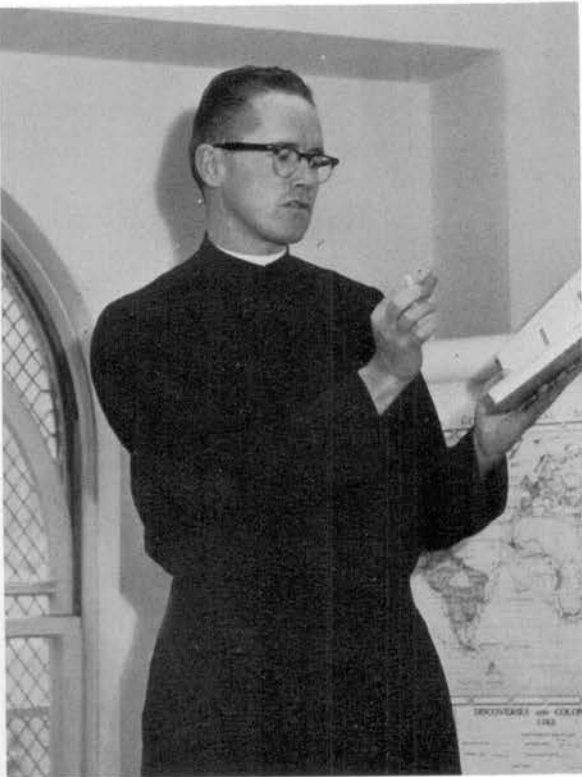

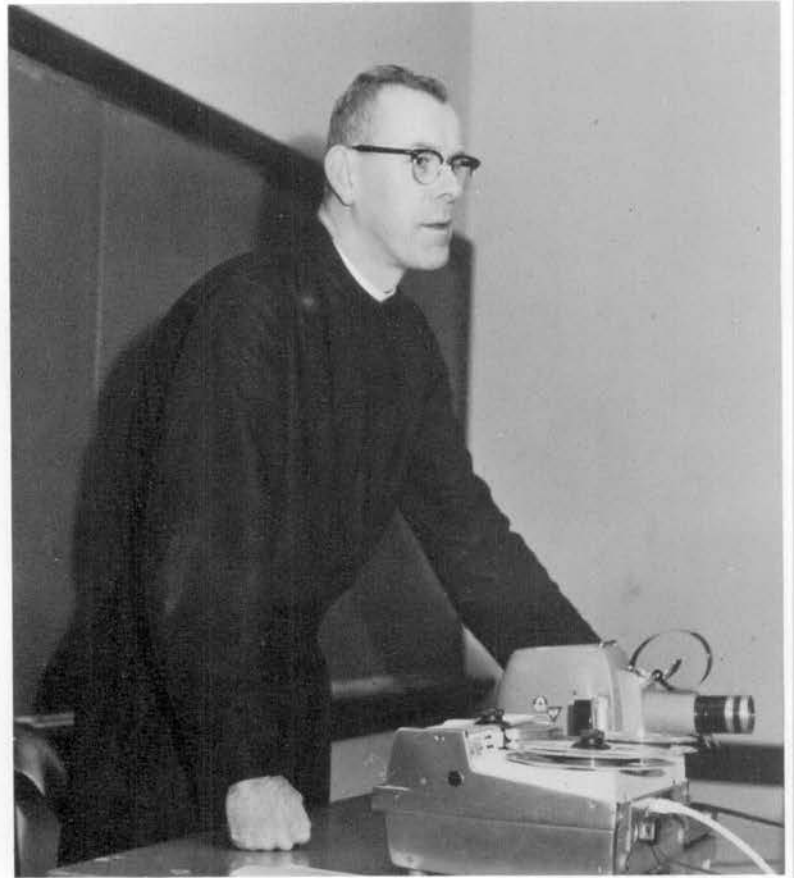

Mr. Richard Mallery, S.J., besides moderating the Blue Jug, teaches Physical Science and Mathematics up on the fourth floor to sophomores.

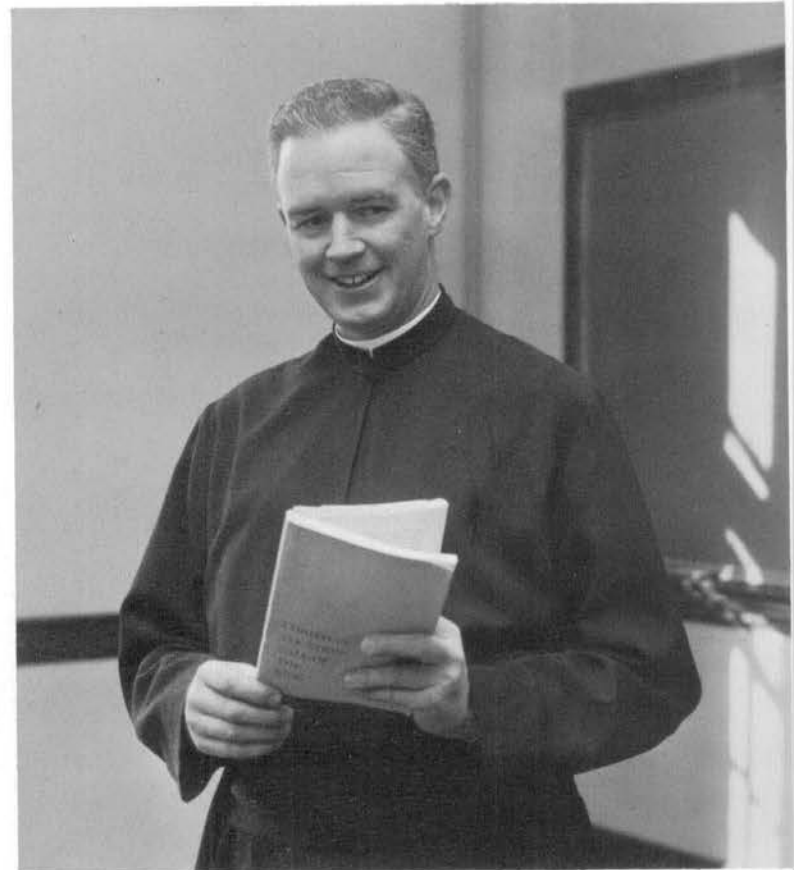

"And God bless Father Kelly and Father Meany . . ." Mr. Richard Winchurch, besides after-school work in training future drivers, teaches the new Biology course to freshmen.

"Hans, you dish out the sauerkraut. I'll break open the lager." Father William Joyce, S.J., teaches German to seniors. His extra-curricular activities are legion: Director of Dramatics, Assistant Athletic Moderator, and Moderator of the Booster Club.

"Right, gen'lmen, circumference of earth squared times number of ice cream equals functiony." Father Francis O'Connor, S.J., teaches Mathematics and Religion. This year he coached the freshman Basketball Team to a very successful season. He is also Moderator of Athletics.

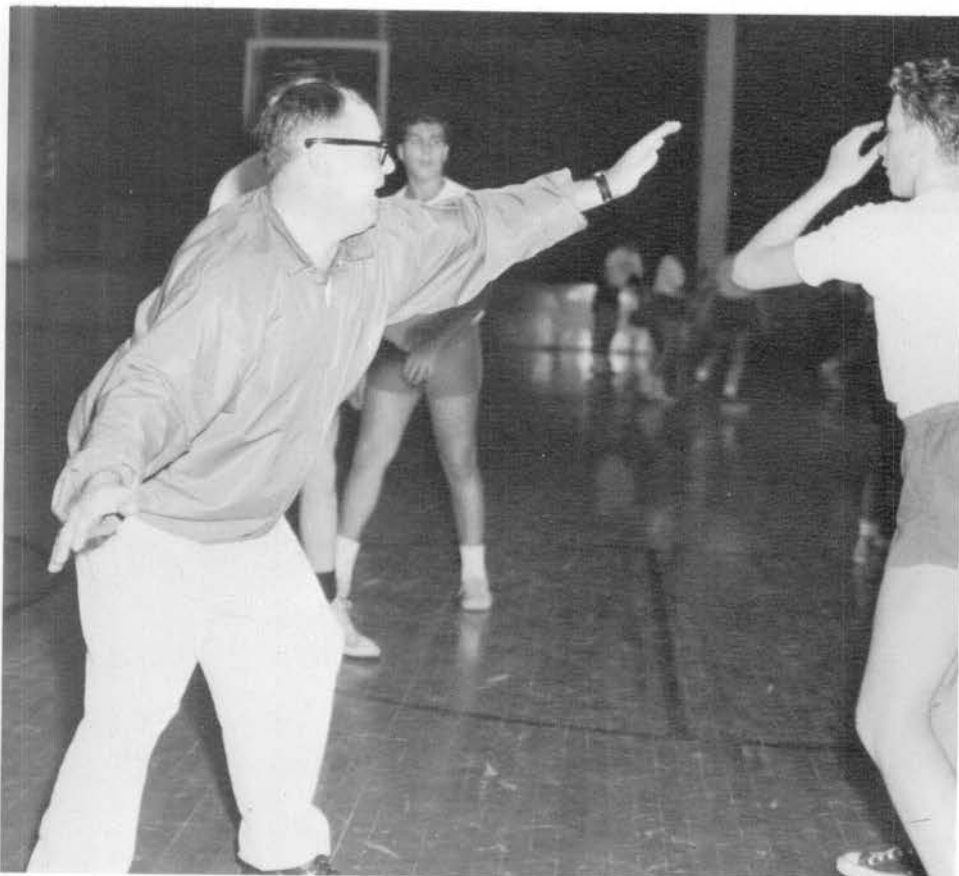

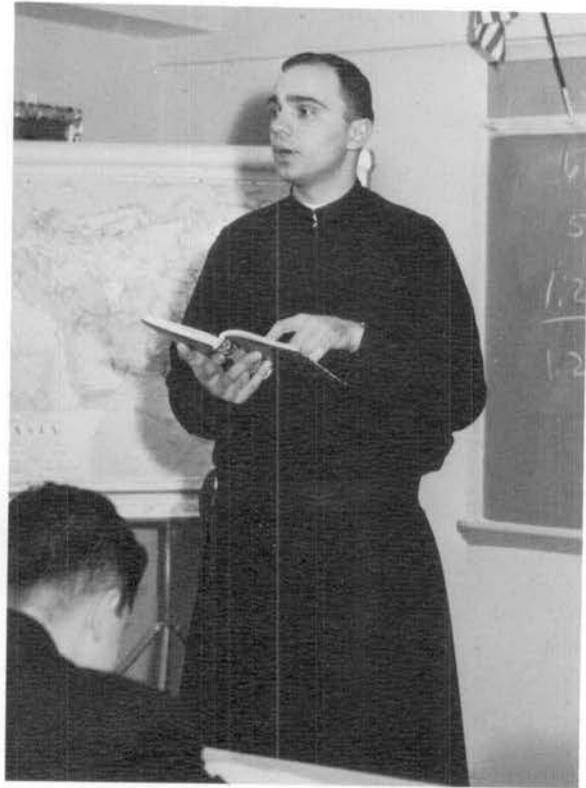

"My group had twenty-one percent fewer cavities." Father Francis McNamara, S.J., teaches sophomore and senior Religion, and is Assistant Student Counsellor.

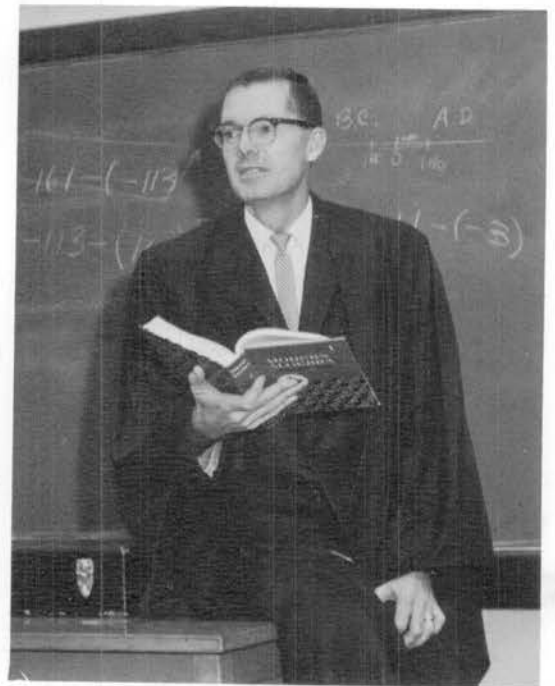

"This is the part where I annihilate sixteen Redmen single-handed." Mr. John O'Sullivan shows how the West was won in his American History classes.

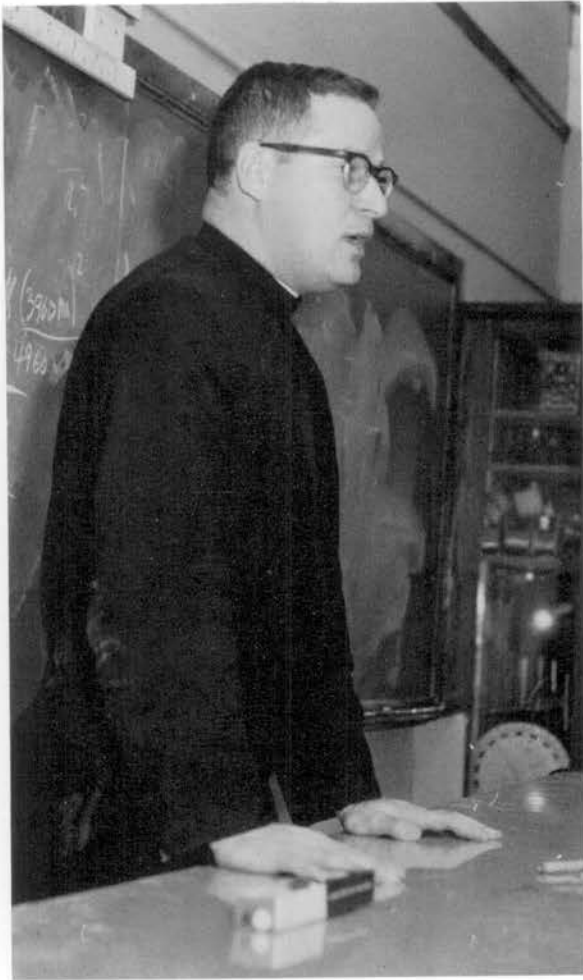

"What do you mean you forgot your pencil? Pencils are essential." Mr. John Amandolare, S.J., instructs freshmen in Religion and Latin, directs the Spring Musical, and is Moderator Emeritus of the Blue Jug.

The 1965 Blue Book's Man of the Year, Mr. William Duffy is also Prep's man in the gym. He also teaches Biology, and coaches the Junior Varsity teams in football, basketball, and baseball.

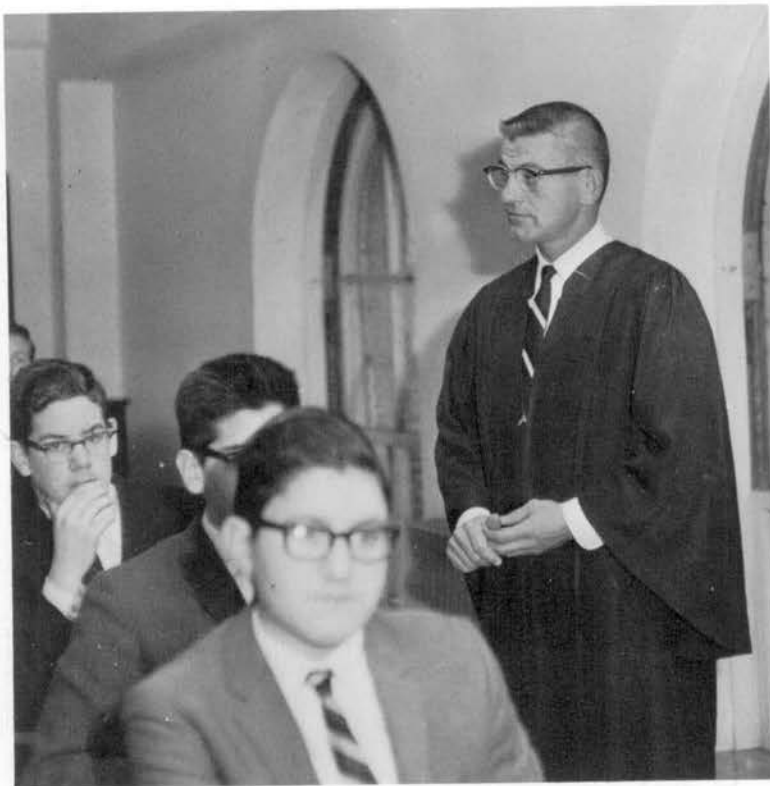

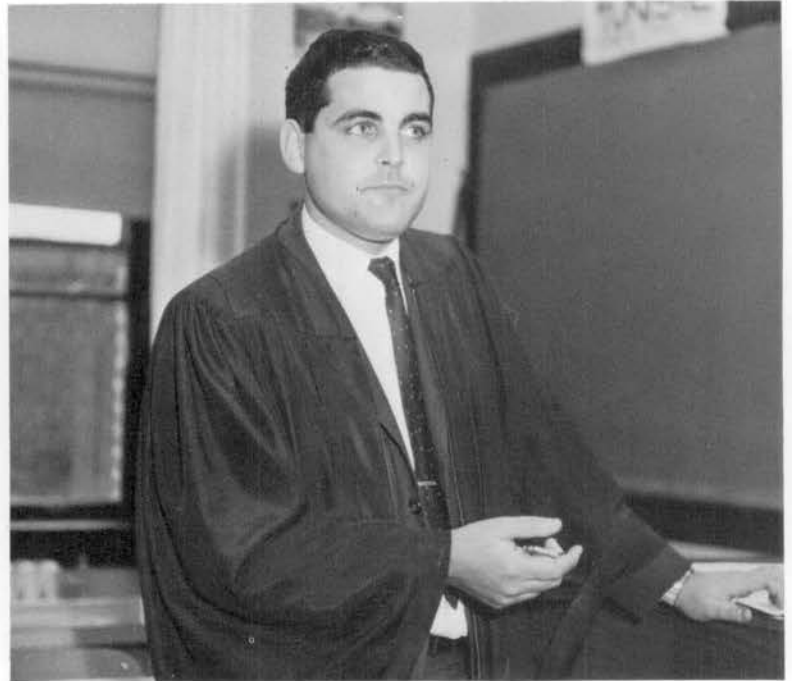

Mr. Edmund Gibbons is Brooklyn Prep's guide to freshmen through the mazes of the New Math.

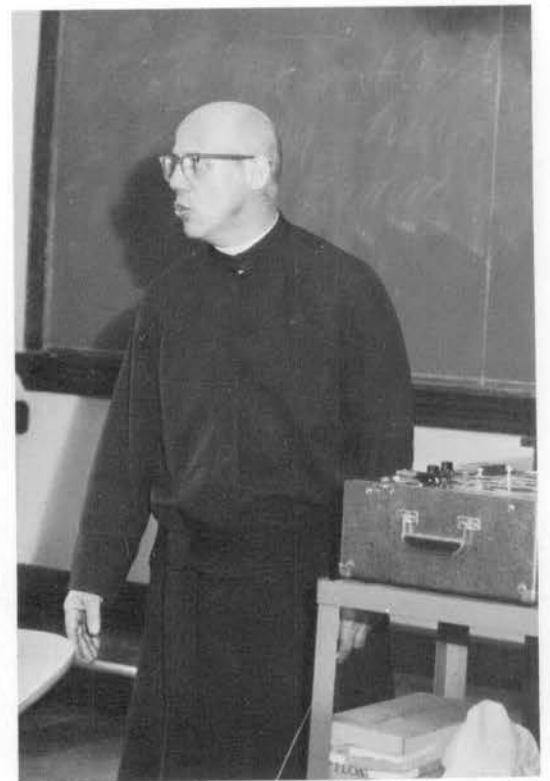

"What did the stroboscope say to the ripple tank?" Moderator of the Science Club and Senior Sodality, Father Edward Guth, S.J., teaches Physics and senior Mathematics.

Another member of the language-by-tapes-and-pictures-school, Mr. John Murphy teaches French to upperclassmen.

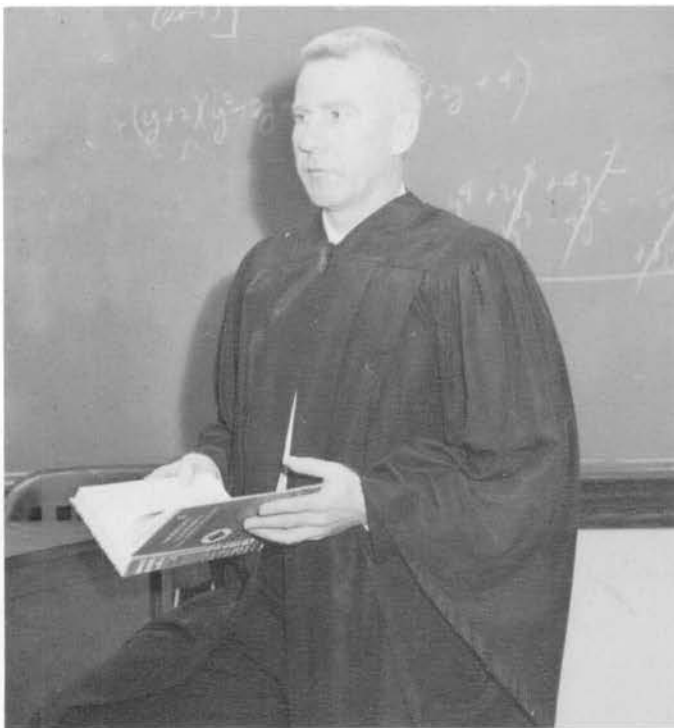

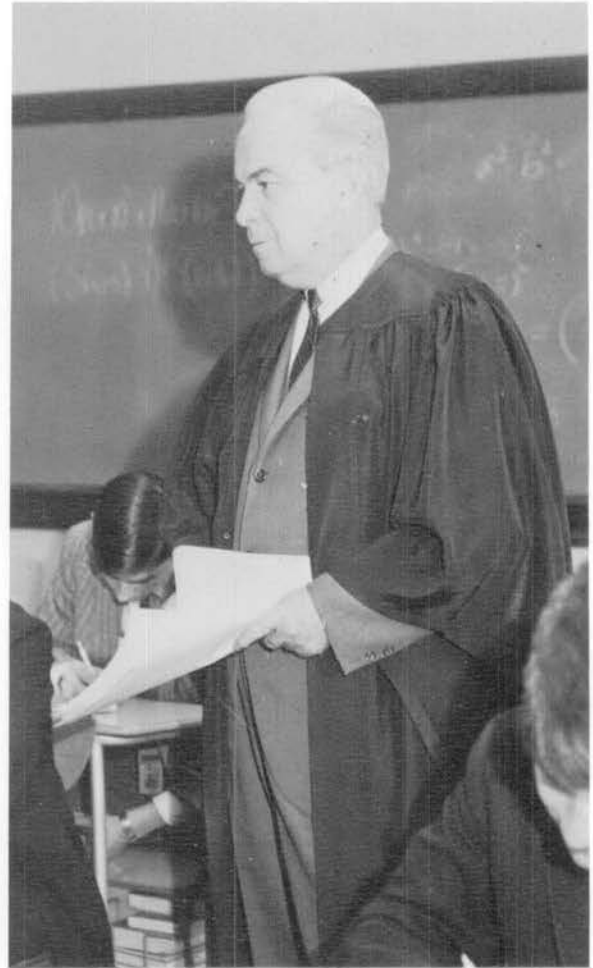

Mr. Eugene Perry fills his days with freshman Biology and sophomore History, his afternoons with coaching Varsity Football.

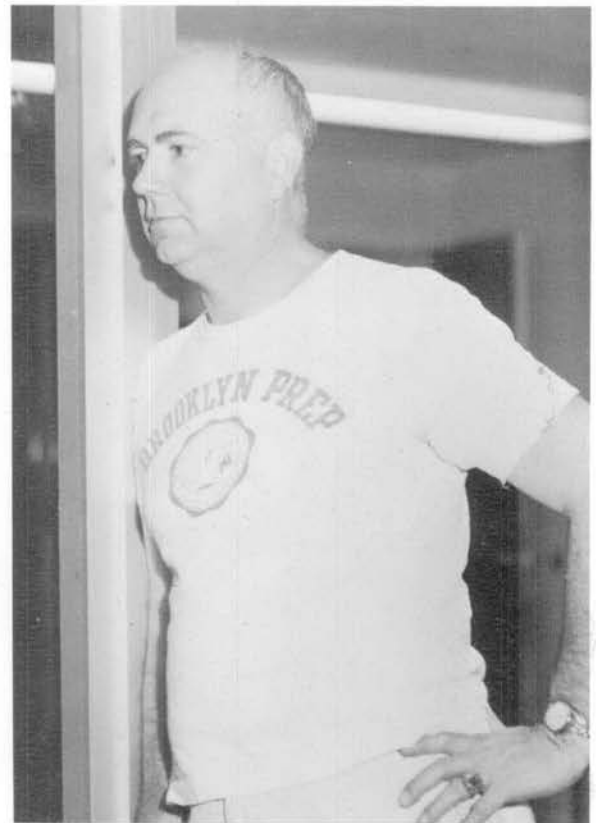

Father Anthony Paone, S.J., a polyglot, imbues sophomores and juniors with French and German.

Mr. John Devlin, one of our most respected, diffuses classical wisdom to freshmen and juniors.

Mr. Carmen Luisi effervesces: it is his task to fill sophomore minds with the knowledge of French and English.

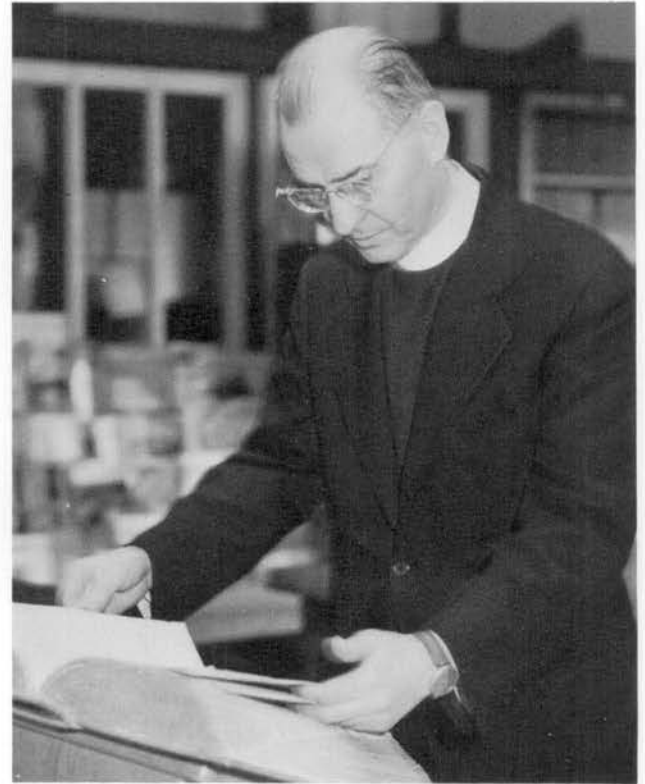

Mr. John Berreen, statue-like, stands in wonder at the minds of juniors struggling with Mathematics.

Mr. William Beck, chlorine king at Brooklyn Prep, pushes Physical Education in all four years and coaches freshman Swimming.

Mr. Robert McCarthy, S.J., here shown teaching English to juniors, moderates the Band and teaches Music to all of freshman year.

Father Ivan Nikolic, S.J., school librarian, takes time out from his day for a few moments of pleasure.

Mr. Robert Fleischacker, besides teaching freshman English and World History, has led the Debate team to a winning season all around Brooklyn and beyond. He also moderates tennis.

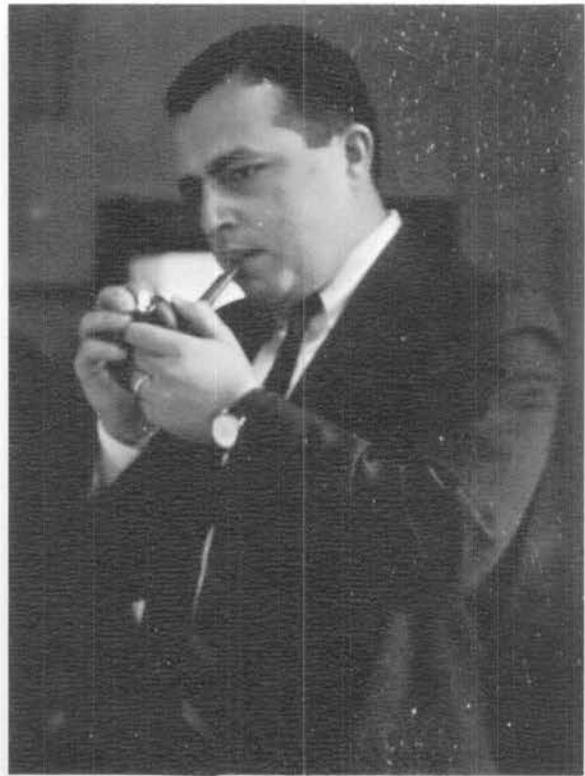

Mr. Francis Fallon, S.J., kept the Registrar's office in step this year, helping also to untangle financial complexities in the Treasurer's office.

"You guys got any more jokes like that?" Mr. George Wallace, S.J., besides teaching Latin to seniors and English to juniors, holds down a part-time job in the Bookstore and is the founder and moderator of Folk Singing.

Father Joseph Watson, S.J., our physicists' physicist, spends the year teaching senior Physics and the summer teaching the P.S.S.C. program to Physics teachers.

"The most exciting men we know smoke Masterpiece." Mr. Francis Luongo, chairman of the Social Studies Department, opens the doors of American History to juniors and seniors.

WHO IS THE FACE OF THE FUTURE?

No one now can tell. But the Prep Senior, on the threshold of his own new world, will try to shape that unknown. Let us honor him here in these few pages of prelude to life. He has done much in these four years. He has much more to do in the next forty.

Mr. Charles Winans, long-time promoter of scholars and scholarships at Prep, addresses proud group of New York State Scholarship winners. Fifty percent of the Class of 1965 qualified after the day-long exam held in October.

Seniors Leave Example of Scholarship for Future

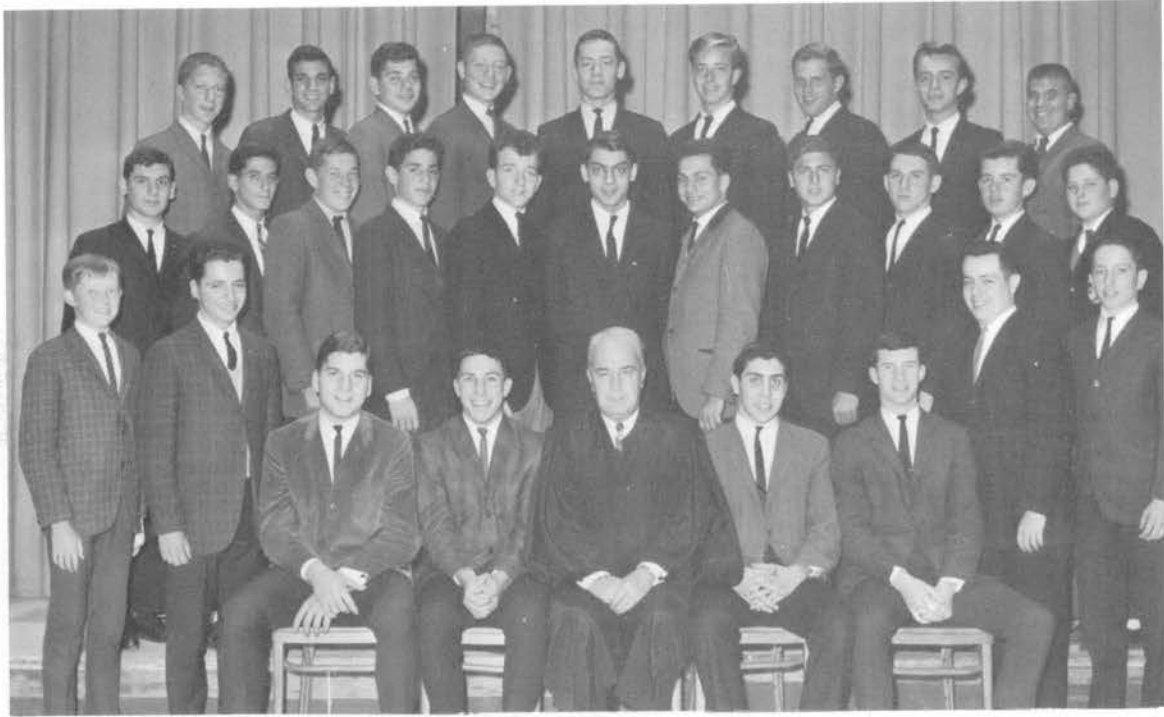

Our St. Francis College Math Team placed second in the diocesan Math contest this year; fifteen schools participated at the College in late winter. William Marciano was second in individual score among all the contestants, and was awarded a full scholarship to St. Francis. Stefan Czopp was ninth in individual score. Pictured here are Rev. Francis O'Connor, S.J., Moderator; George Lindsay, Stefan Czopp, William Marciano, Lawrence Ribbecke. Team members not pictured are John Barbaro, Francis Rager, Gregory Milmoe, and Leslie Hutchinson.

WHEN DOES A BOY GROW INTO A MAN?

Not on a fixed day, not at a certain hour does the change come about. But somewhere in freshman, sophomore or junior year at Brooklyn Prep, through joy, through work and inquiry, the boy takes the first step. In the following pages we list, all too rapidly, the faces that are growing through these years.

WHAT ABOUT AFTER SCHOOL?

If Brooklyn Prep is a state of life, after-school activities are, for many, half of that life. In a yearbook office, at a play practice, or tutoring a seventh grader, the Prep man finds self-expression, friends, and himself.

The school year 1964-1965 was marked by considerable controversy over the effectiveness of Prep's traditional form of Student Government. Large meetings of the class presidents and the top echelon of the Council often ended contentiously when highly debatable issues were brought to the floor. It also became obvious that few people were actually involved in the Student Government. The structure of the Council needed to be changed to direct its business more efficiently, and at the same time, to increase the involvement of the student body.

After a careful study of other successful High School Student Councils by Father Kelly and the aspiring student leaders of the Prep, a model similar to that of the United States Government was adopted. It consists of the traditional body of class presidents and the President of the Student Council under a new name, the House of Delegates; and another smaller body called the Student Senate, whose membership encompasses the four officers of the Student Council, two additional senior members, the officers of Sophomore and Junior year, and an alternating Freshman Class president. The Student Senate was created primarily to function as a small, efficient body in which the committees and the major problems facing the Student Government could be handled.

Anticipating the amount of work required to initiate such an ambitious plan, the present four senior officers began their work in the first few days of July. Then, as well as throughout the rest of the summer, it was decided that Steve Treadway would handle the Freshmen Orientation, Freshman Night, Sophomore Night, and the Election Committees; Ed Frey would direct the tremendous amount of work involved in Dance and Prom Committees, Bill Mattison would head the Rallies and Assemblies Committee, while Greg Milmoie would oversee all of these activities and arrange the boat ride in addition to managing all the Student Council Meetings.

Operating under the new structure with weekly meetings of the Student Senate, and bi-monthly meetings of the House of Delegates, the council brought about some remarkable renovations: a change in the cafeteria food service, exemptions for seniors, membership in the National Honor Society, and the renewal of the annual boat ride. In retrospect, it appears that the election of the individual year officers, as well as the revamping of the system itself, has helped to solidify the spirit of each year and has aided them in organizing and directing their own affairs.

This year a new activity came to the Prep, one vitally involved with the social problems of today's world. The activity was the Higher Achievement Program, a follow up of a summer tutoring program for Negro and Puerto Rican boys of other schools.

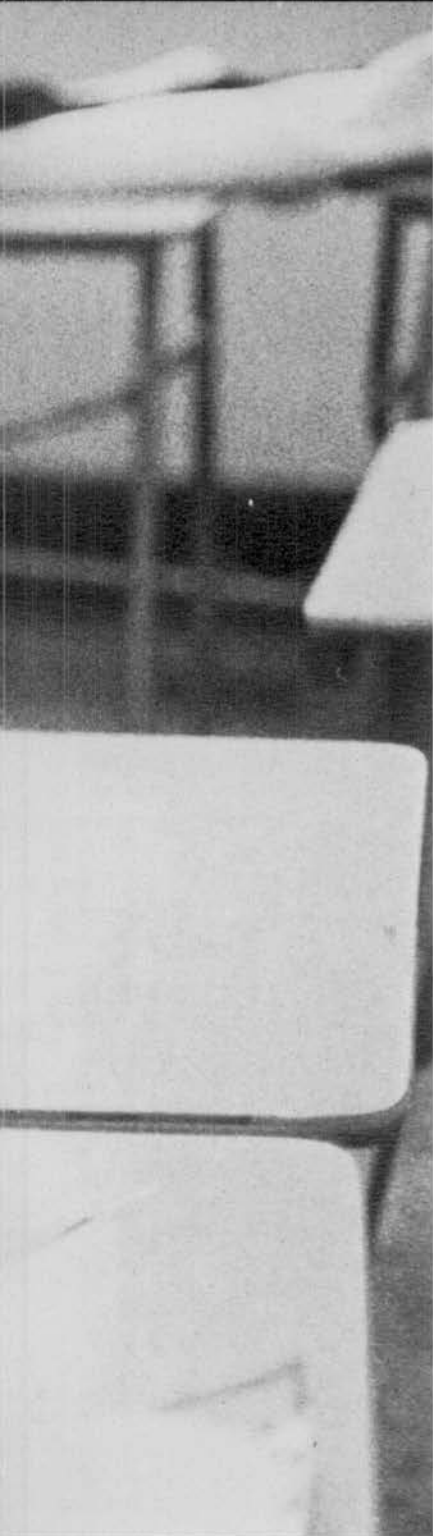

Last summer, pilot centers for this new program were set up in four high schools by the Jesuit Interracial Council of New York. Twenty-six grammar and high school students came to Brooklyn Prep five days a week for six weeks. It was stressed that an important part of the program was the contact with the student tutors, so ten Brooklyn Prep students aided the five Jesuits actively participating in the program. Recreation periods and weekly excursions afforded time whereby mutual understanding and friendship could develop.

When the six week program was ended and the fall semester began at Prep, the same boys came on Saturday mornings, had classes, and were tutored by twenty Prep students for the Co-operative and College Board Entrance Examinations.

Since then, Father Francis McNamara, S.J., director of the program, has developed and broadened it. Six Prepmen taught at St. Peter Claver Grammar School in the Bedford Stuyvesant area on Thursday afternoons and, at the same time some one hundred Negro and Puerto Rican boys came to Prep on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons. The students were tutored in English, mathematics and in general in whatever fields they needed help.

When Father McNamara issued the call for tutors for this program, he received an encouraging response of over 150 volunteers from the Sophomore, Junior and Senior classes. This response demonstrated the general willingness of all Prepmen to participate in a social apostolate for the good of the community. Thus, this new activity which is so beneficial to all participants and so progressive in furthering the cause of real democracy has become one of the biggest activities in the school.

Bill Mattison explains the basics of division while his eager student tries his best to understand them. This new program has brought many hours of satisfaction to both pupils and tutors.

Some of the publishers: Bob Cassano, Editor-in-Chief; Mr. Gerard Reedy, S.J., Moderator; Vin Sullivan, Copy Editor; Jerry Murray, Copy Editor; Bill McLaughlin, Business Manager and Production Editor.

They say a picture is worth a thousand words; well, here are 44 words for Rich Loehfelm.

There are rumors rampant to the effect that this is Richie Rotondi, that incognito Associate Editor of the Blue Book.

September, 1964 found the yearbook office manned by a new moderator and five editors intent on producing a different and better yearbook. Mr. Gerard Reedy, S.J., the Blue Book's moderator, led the way in introducing new ideas and in plotting the path of style the yearbook would follow. Editors Bob Cassano, Rich Loehfelm, Rich Rotondi, Jerry Murray and Vinny Sullivan introduced innovations of their own, while also directing the quality and composition of the yearbook's subject matter. Business Manager, Bill McLaughlin, together with Business Staff members Quinton Van Wynen, John Garside and Charlie Crawley handled the countless tasks involved in a business drive. Also prominent on the staff were Junior Tom Barritt and typists Tom Gibbons and John Carberry.

The '65 Blue Book boasts of a new trend of informality exemplified by the informal Faculty section and the over-all de-emphasis on copy throughout the book. By approaching the representation of the year's events in a different manner it is hoped that a new interest might be taken, not only in the yearbook, but also in the many facets of school life.

At year's end, Mr. Reedy, S.J. especially noted for praise editors Bob Cassano, whose long hours over the light-box are in the main responsible for this book, and Bill McLaughlin, who, after the Business Drive, turned to writing for the Activities and Sport sections of the 1965 Blue Book.

Editors Cassano and McLaughlin amuse all-purpose man, Jerry Renda.

With Moderator Mr. Mallery, S.J. out, Editors Joe Incorvaia and Pete McLoughlin celebrate in the wee hours. The reason? Another Blue Jug put to press.

The high school newspaper is, in a sense, the most limited publication on the high school level. The strict news-editorials-sports form held the Blue Jug in mediocrity for a good many years. The limitation of news to school activities and social functions made the Blue Jug more of a record book than a newspaper before 1963.

This past year the Blue Jug once more made a radical formal change, its second in the past two years. The scope of reporting was advanced beyond the boring level of factual recording of school activities and covered the rapid and pertinent changes taking place in Crown Heights and the nation.

Editor Bob Grossberger diversified the news and comment in the sports section.

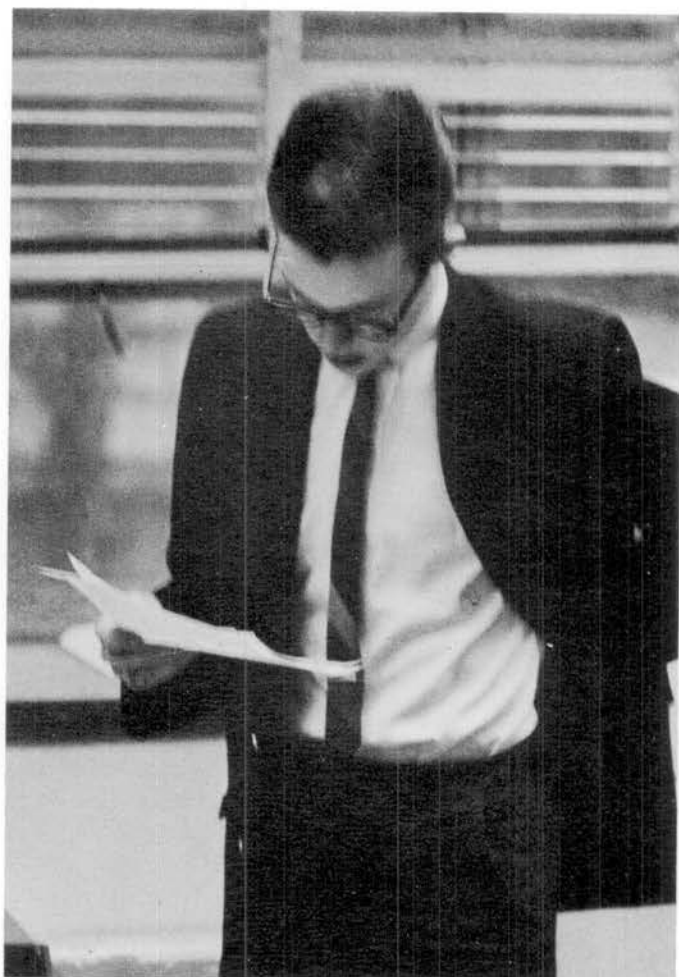

Editorials by Incorvaia and Barbaro departed from the hackneyed impotent editorials of past years and came out with forceful, constructive and often controversial comments on the school and its activities. Five new columns and steady features were added and "To Top It Off" was continued from last year. This made over twenty-five percent of the paper completely new.

The spirit of change that has overtaken the Blue Jug for the past two years is sure to be perpetuated. Perhaps future years may find the Blue Jug finally achieving the balance a school paper must have: an equilibrium between school news and pertinent reporting. June 1965 finds it much closer to that goal.

Magazine, 15 Years Old, Still Vital

The administrative and productive aspects of the magazine were streamlined under the guidance of George Lindsay and the heavy hand of James Mangi. Deadlines were set and for the most part fulfilled. Layout and the technical training of future editors was entrusted to Richard Askin. With the help of feature editor, Greg Milmo, and other staff members, the magazine was given a colorful and interesting format.

What were the results of this work? First and foremost, The Brooklyn Prep Magazine again received the Columbia Press Award. Other high schools continually praised its high quality and many actually copied its format. In light of these honors, the editors feel that all of their hard work was for the good.

The editors of this year's Magazine were not so obsessed with the idea of change as they were with the drive to continue the already proven fifteen-year old quality of this literary publication. For the Brooklyn Prep Magazine has for the past several years been the recipient of the Columbia Press First Place Award, an honor given to the foremost high school magazines. With this as their goal, the editors had to enlist the best writers Prep had to offer. The poetry and fiction departments, headed by Jeremiah Murray and John Bertolini respectively, were given new emphasis. Writers were recruited from all four years, thus bringing the magazine closer to the school. More attention was given to the movie and play reviews to attract student interest. The end result of all this was a magazine which the editors felt truly represented the literary talent found in our student body.

Editor-in-Chief George Lindsay hard at work. When a deadline had to be met, George was on the job.

Mr. James Donnelly, S.J., moderator of the Magazine, was a busy man this year; he also ran Oratory. All the more valuable, then, was the initiative and responsibility of the editors.

The hope of future, continued excellence in the Magazine: juniors Phil Cardinale, Terry McAteer, Jim Hardy, and Gerry Mulé will move up to publishers in the year 1965-66.

Sodalists

This year the junior and senior Sodalities were combined under one moderator, Father Guth, S.J. Under his guidance the Sodalists undertook a tutoring program in addition to their traditional canned food drive for needy families.

Want Action

When the Jesuit Sodalities of Our Lady were first established each meeting would find the moderator giving spiritual instruction to the sodalists for the purpose of their own sanctification and for the sanctification of others. But today's sodalists are not attracted by this aspect of the Sodality. The sodalists at the Prep this year wanted to give visible help to others. Although their help was limited by their ages and their funds, the sodalists made this their main aim this year.

Divisions of the Sodality included the Sophomore Sodality under the direction of Mr. Denny, S.J. and a union of the Third and Fourth Year Sodalities under the co-guidance of Fr. Musselman, S.J. and Fr. Guth, S.J. This combination was made in order to form a stronger group from two relatively smaller ones. Edward Madara was elected prefect.

The sodalists then began giving their material aid. Since charity begins in the home, they dedicated their help to their fellow students first. One of the services the sodalists performed was their tutoring of Freshmen who needed help in certain subjects.

Interested in the racial problem, the sodalists visited a home in the Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn at Christmas time. Asked by that mother, living alone with her seven children, for some presents for her children, the sodalists collected about $50.00 and used it to buy a Christmas tree and gifts for that destitute family. When Father McNamara, S.J. announced that a plan also involving the racial question, which was introduced into many other schools, would also be introduced at Prep, the Sodality immediately offered to help. This plan will include the tutoring of about 100 Negro boys in Catholic High Schools.

Therefore it is evident that the influence of the Sodality on the students at Prep will continue to diminish unless a new plan of action is initiated that will draw more students to the Sodality. Only in this way can the Sodality become as strong in number and spirit as it was twenty years ago when it was the most powerful activity in the school.

Freshman Sodality members under the direction of Father Giblin, S.J., gather for one of their weekly meetings. Actually the freshman program is designed to prepare them for future, formal acceptance in the Sodality.

Mr. Denny, S.J. reviews a point of discussion in closing minutes of a sophomore Sodality meeting.

Bob Oppedisano, with pick, pecks at poster of Art Club President Joe Clarke. Mr. Raymond Sullivan, moderator, looks on.

Need Publicity? See Art Club

Members of the Art Club, Joe McCabe, Joe Clarke, Jim Ceribello, Frank McGrath, and Bruce Higgins make merry in free time. Throughout the year they were always on call for such occasional publicity as Fall and Spring Plays, the BLUE BOOK Drive, the Fashion Show, and, of course, all major Varsity games.

Travel and Talk: Oratory and Debate

Under the direction of Mr. James Donnelly, S.J., the orators of Brooklyn Prep this year participated in all four divisions of the field, extempore, original, oratorical interpretation, and dramatic interpretation. The rewards of the program, though not startling, were significant. Tom Demarest qualified for the national finals in extempore, after placing second in the Brooklyn Diocesan Championships held at Xaverian on March 27th; Joe Troisi and Tom Hakala qualified as representatives from the Brooklyn District to the State finals in Albany. In original oratory Ed Madara placed second in the CWV Brooklyn Contest. In oratorical interpretation Dan Hanson came in first at the J.V. Contest held at St. Agnes, College Point in October.

The oratory team is rich in sophomore and freshman talent, and so looks forward to the future. Three freshmen in oratorical interpretation, Derenoncourt, Ralph Troisi, and Jones placed second at the McClancy tournament. Other underclassmen with promise are Abularage, Mazloom, Dealy, and Kramer.

The oratory and debate season is long; so are the hours of preparation and of travel to the tournaments. The trophies pictured on the next pages symbolize this effort and the attainment of the effort.

The Debating Society, under the guidance of Mr. Robert Fleischacker, brought home to Prep a winning season. The Varsity squad, Tom Austin, Mike Ryan, Joe Troisi, and Tom Demarest were outstanding both for trophies won and miles travelled to win them. Juniors Austin and Ryan placed first in the important Canisius Debate Tournament, with the resounding record of eight and two against strong senior opposition. Austin also won the best speaker trophy, gilding the laurels just a bit more.

The debaters in general were edged out of top honors in almost every tournament. They had to be satisfied with fourth or fifth position in the St. Joseph and Christ the King Tournaments, for example. Still, the tributes go to the varsity debaters for their hours of preparation and effort to turn the tide of near-wins: Cliff Kazakauskas, Nick Cirillo, Ed Madara, Tom Hakala, Gerry Mulé, and Matt Costello.

The novice team of Mazloom, Abularage, DeParma, and Jones showed promise for the future and may yet be the winning combination on the debate circuit. Other up-and-coming novices are Troisi, Dealy, Clinton, Caminiti, Derenoncourt, Sciascia.

Mr. Fleischacker and Mr. Donnelly, S.J., oratory moderator, both feel that the past season has promised only a bright future.

Tom Austin and Mike Ryan display the symbol of months of effort: much research and practice, plus a four hundred mile trip to Buffalo, brought home the first place affirmative trophy from Canisius.

The 1964-1965 season debaters exhibit the full rewards of the year: Ed Madara, Tom Demarest, Tom Austin, Dan Hanson, Mike Ryan, and Joe Troisi.

Brooklyn Prep also hosted in this year's round of tournaments. Joe Troisi, John Siemann, Mike Jones, Curtiss Clinton, and Vin Caminiti display the third place trophy.

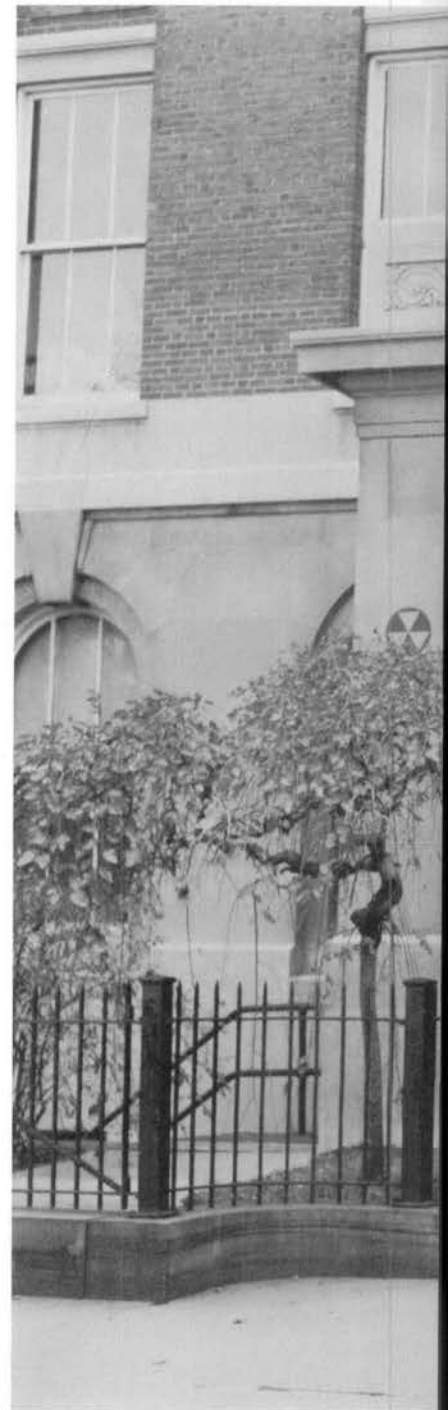

Second place trophy from the Monsignor McClancy Oratory Tournament, held in January, goes to Tom Demarest, Ralph Troisi, Tom Hakala, Mike Jones, and Franz Derenoncourt.

Brooklyn Prep, in a quest for a more meaningful honor to bestow on deserving students, this year adopted a long overdue honor organization, the National Honor Society. This organization which was founded in 1921 is composed of over ten thousand high school chapters spread throughout the country. The chapter here at Prep is named in honor of John Carroll and is under the direction of Father William McCusker, S.J.

The National Honor Society is devoted to the recognition and the encouragement of the four qualities education strives to develop: Character, Scholarship, Leadership, and Service. These qualities are found in every member of the Society and it is the duty of each member, not only to maintain these ideals, but also to promote them as best he can throughout the student body. The members of each chapter, qualified Juniors and Seniors, devote themselves to the administration of a variety of worthwhile projects ranging from freshman orientation programs to volunteer work in hospitals. Here at Prep we will undoubtedly see an increase in such activities come September, as the John Carroll Chapter enters its first full year.

No honor or responsibility excels that represented by the National Honor Society since it represents the fundamental objectives for which schools are instituted. Other honors are only partial in the sense that they recognize some specialized ability, skill, or talent, but this Society looks upon education as a total product measured by the four dimensions of life.

In 1965 dynamic reforms have been developed in every aspect of Prep life. Improvements in curriculum, changes in administration policy, and remodelling of the student government are perhaps the most striking features of the new Prep. In the wake of this new order, a once unnoticed activity has been revitalized under the leadership and guidance of a true genius. The activity—"The Brooklyn Prep Concert Band"; the genius—Mr. Robert McCarthy, S.J.

Progress has been the keynote of the Prep musician: no longer is he concerned with perennial football marches or redundant Rodgers and Hammerstein. Instead he places emphasis on originality, drawing fresh ideas from Bach to modern jazz. Only recently has he realized that the Band is not only a source of personal enjoyment, but also an outlet for cultural and artistic creativity. This new concept of what a musician should be has been emphasized by Mr. McCarthy and supported by Messers Roberts and Dini. The words of soloist Frank Sirianni sum up the attitude Mr. McCarthy has fostered in the Prep

Band: "Mr. McCarthy's love of music and unrelenting enthusiasm for the Band have enkindled in us all the dedication necessary to create, what I believe to be, the best band Prep has yet to produce."

One of the most salient features of the Band is its diverse instrumentation. The addition of such instruments as alto, bass, and E-flat clarinets, a soprano saxophone, oboe, bassoon, flute, and string bass has broadened the potentiality of "the Concert Band". In addition, a highly successful dance band, under the guidance of Mr. McCarthy, has sprung forth from the Band regulars.

As evidence of these and other successes, one needs only to examine the busy schedule of our musicians. Because of its impressive performance, in concert, last season at the World's Fair, the Prep Band has been booked for a return engagement in May. As we went to press, Mr. McCarthy and his musicians were putting the finishing touches on what will prove to be one of the highlights of Prep's social calendar—"The Annual Band Concert."

At the assembly after the fourth marking period, Mr. Wallace, S.J., and the best of the Folksinging group play folkie: a rendition of "Blue" in both folk time and rock and roll sent the assembled student body clapping.

Practice makes perfect: the announcement, "An important meeting of the Folksinging Club today," became most familiar to Prep students this year.

In its first year at Brooklyn Prep, The Folksinging Club, founded and directed by Mr. George Wallace, S.J., has proven itself to be a great success. The club's performances at school assemblies have added a bright, new flair to the musical side of Prep. Besides their appearances before the student body, the hard working troupe has traveled to hospitals spreading cheer among the sick of mind and body.

Some of the leading voices are those of Mike Phillipone, Jack Thomas and Bob English, who doubles on the banjo. The rest of the musical accompaniment is provided by J. T. Gallagher, Charlie Crawley, Gerry Mulé, Jack Thomas, and Mr. Wallace. The whole club includes close to twenty-five members who can be heard practicing late into the afternoon. Judging from their performance at Parents' Night in February, their work has paid off. To the delight of the mothers and fathers, the boys sang "John Brown's Body" and "When Johnny Comes Marching Home".

The "musical revolution" here at Prep, consisting of the modernization of the band under Mr. McCarthy and the formation of Mr. Wallace's Folksinging Club, has been well accepted here. The Folk Club has caught on particularly well for a new activity and great things are expected from it in the future.

Twelfth Night: Four Stars

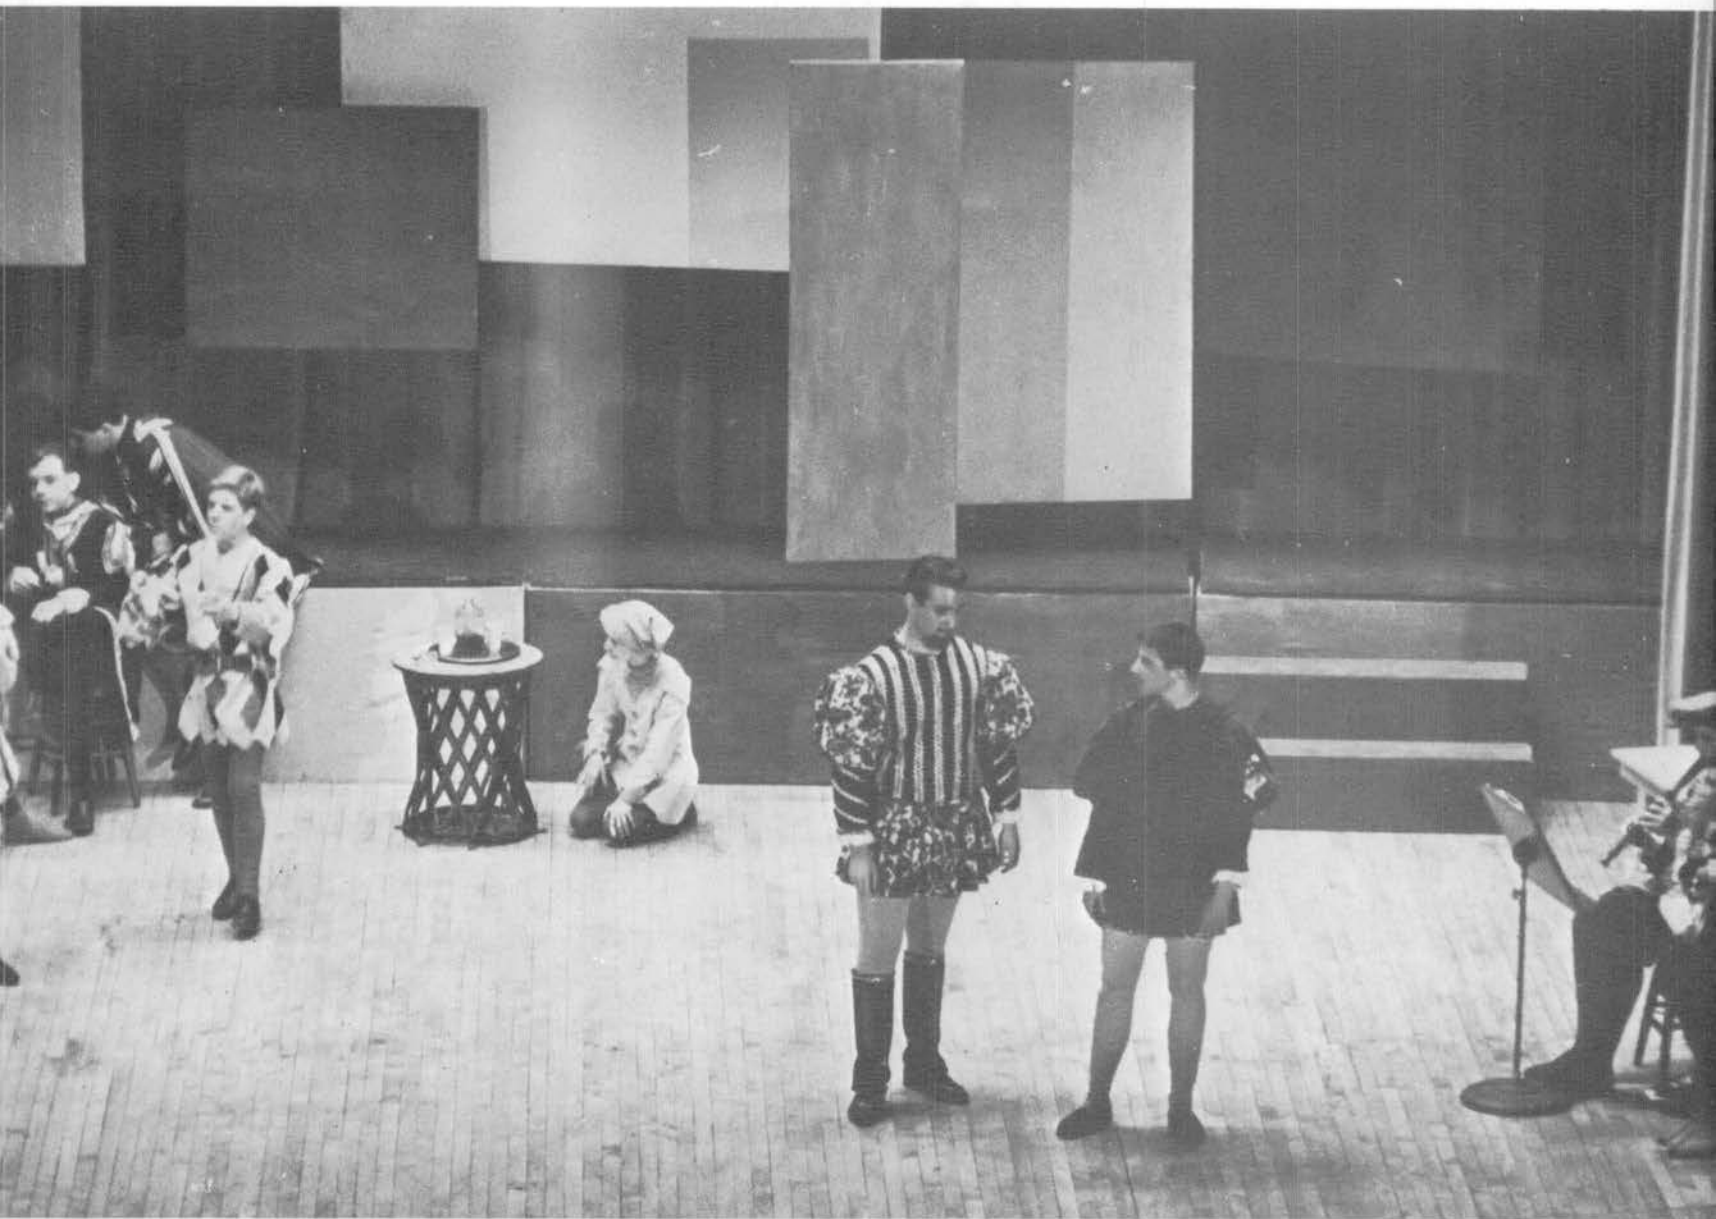

Sir Andrew Aguecheek, played by Dennis Dirks, displays his "courage" in a duel with the disguised Viola, played by Carl Palumbo. Dirks's professional handling of this major role was all the more striking because this was his first appearance with the Prep Players.

Through a decade of hard work and dedication the Brooklyn Prep Players have established the tradition of presenting only unanimous successes. This year's production of William Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" was no exception to the rule.

For the first time under the direction of Mr. Vincent Downing, assisted by the "old master," Mr. Charles Winans, the Players departed from the tradition of the last few years and presented a comedy. The "straight" principal characters: Viola, played by Carl Palumbo, Dramatic's President this year; pensive Olivia, played by Joe Incorvaia; the lovesick Duke of Illyria, played by John Bertolini; Antonio, the wronged sea captain, played by Jerry Jebaily.

Backstage at Bishop McDonnell, the cast apprehensively makes a final runthrough of cues and timing. A few minutes later their weeks of work were rewarded.

John Bertolini, the lovesick Duke of Orsino, pours out his troubles to the disguised Viola. The Duke's courtiers, used to such tears, circle about unperturbed.

In Olivia's cellar, Fabian (Jim Murray), Maria (Mike Gleeson), and Sir Toby (Greg Rabuffo) weave another net to trap the pompous Malvolio.

The serious characters all fell victims to the wiles of five of Shakespeare's wackiest characters: Sir Toby Belch, Olivia's rotund and alcoholic uncle, played by Greg Rabuffo; the very ridiculous and very cowardly Sir Andrew Aguecheek, played by Dennis Dirks; the bawdy Maria, played by Mike Gleeson; the conceited Puritan Malvolio, patsy of the trio already mentioned, played by Jim Lovelock; the jester Feste, played by Bob English.

For the second year the Players received the permission of Rev. Franklin Fitzpatrick, Principal of Bishop McDonnell High School, to use the large Monsignor Rose auditorium there as the setting for their efforts. Thus Brooklyn Prep played its part in starting merrily the fifth century of Shakespeare.

More Hops, More Dancers

The sixty-four, sixty-five school year saw a great jump in attendance at Prep record hops and dances, which also increased in number. Besides adding more record hops to the calendar, a new addition was made to Prep's social agenda: a Freshman-Sophomore Dance. This, along with the Junior Ring Dance and the Senior Prom, comprises a schedule of formal dances which gives the members of each year a chance to socialize with their classmates.

The record hops were planned to enable Prep students to meet girls whom they would invite to subsequent formal dances. All the hops ran well and were great successes, particularly the ones at which a live band provided the music. One of the big hits of the year was the appearance of the Laurels, a vocal quartet including Jerry Jebaily and Jerry Renda of Class 4C. Another change of social custom at Prep came with the first Lenten record hop, held on the afternoon of Laetare Sunday, March 28.

Formal date dances also underwent a rebirth this year. Besides the ones mentioned above, there were the Thanksgiving Dance, the Christmas Holiday Dance, and the Magazine Award Dance.

The student body greatly appreciates the efforts of the Dance Committee to bolster social life at Prep, and is looking forward to next year.

IS IT ALWAYS A FIRST DOWN?

It wasn't this year. But the men who stand for a school on the field of athletic competition cannot fully lose. In a medley relay, in a last, hectic quarter, in a rush downcourt, the individual should always have an eye on the team, always know that his strain only succeeds with the help of another's. No man, as we have seen this year, gains victory, in life or in sports, alone.

Eagles Lose the

Toss in 1964

Led by Captain Joe Pulito and coaches Gene Perry and Larry Kelly, the Eagles of Brooklyn Prep began the football season with the hope of continuing the success enjoyed by previous Prep teams.

And so a confident Prep team met the Stags of St. Agnes in the season's first encounter; however a 14-0 score at half-time destroyed this confidence. The Eagles showed that they were capable of playing at least half a ballgame as they fought back for 9 points, still losing the game, 14-9.

In the next game Don Bosco overpowered the Prep team by the score of 33-13. However, these two games featured some outstanding players: Mike O'Hara, Joe Russo, Mike Voldstad and Joe Atanasio. Both Voldstad and Atanasio highlighted the Don Bosco game with touchdown runs of 80 and 65 yards respectively.

The Eagles then took on the Cadets of Xavier in the first Catholic Football Conference game of the season. They were again outclassed as the Cadets scored their first points in winning the game 33-0. Also because of this game the Eagles lost Joe Pulito for the remainder of the season. Joe had turned in fine performances in all the games and his injury brought more disappointment to an already disappointing season.

Prep then journeyed to Staten Island to take on Monsignor Farrell. Confidence returned to the players when they learned that the opposition was playing only its second year of Varsity Football. Once again the fans were disappointed as Prep lost by a score of 42-12. Although the score would seem to indicate that the Eagles were outclassed, most of the team played very well. The line, led by Rich Marchitelli and Frank Blum, held; and the backfield, led by Tony Sabino and Joe Atanasio, fought hard all game.

Tired of playing in the city, the team journeyed out to Patchogue for their annual game with Seton Hall. However they were not greeted with friendliness as Seton Hall won easily by a score of 42-18.

Prep was picked to lose against Fordham in the second Catholic Football Conference game. But the Eagles surprised everyone when they beat the Rams 6-0. The game was hardfought all the way as neither team was able to score. But a recovered fumble by the defensive line was converted into a touchdown as Joe Atanasio ran across for the winning score. Joe, winner of the Dahut Award as Prep's most outstanding football player, placed second in voting for the most valuable player in the Fordham game.

On Thanksgiving Day, Prep played its annual game with St. John's, and a crowd of approximately 10,000 people saw a hard fought game. The Redmen took an early lead, but Prep's defense, led by Art Blum and John Lombardo, started to hold its own. However, the offense was unable to score as the Redmen won their third straight victory over the Eagles by a score of 13-0.

Despite one of the poorest seasons recordwise, there were many outstanding players on this year's Varsity. Among those who received post season honors are: Art Blum and Pete Stevens who made the Tablet first team, numerous honorable mention winners such as: Joe Atanasio, Paul Purpi, and Tony Sabino who also won the Lou Gehrig Award for sportsmanship. Looking towards the future, next year's Varsity should enjoy a successful season. Led by Capt. Pete Stevens, Joe Russo, Kev Serrapede, John Lombardo, Pete McCall and Bob Sharkey, all of whom received honorable mentions in the newspapers, Prep should regain its position as one of the best football teams in the city.

Hard pressed by the Prep line, Don Bosco just manages to get the pass off.

Joe Atanasio scores the only winning touchdown of the season, against Fordham.

Jay Vee Victim Of the Draft

The beginning of the football season gave high hopes for the success of the Junior Varsity, but hopes fell as the first string lost its power men in the draft to bolster the faltering Varsity team.

Due to penalties, the Eagles lost their first game, 24-0, to St. Francis. Next came an unsuspecting St. John's team: Tom Corridan and Dick Cummings led their teammates to a 26-0 victory over their arch-rivals. Still flying high, the Eagles next showed a tough Lincoln team an even tougher defense. Prep came home happy after scoring 16 points to Lincoln's 6. Handicapped by academic ineligibilities, the Eagles dropped their next game, 14-12, to a Poly Prep team they should have beaten.

The Eagles take to the field at Fordham.

Rory Callahan and Gary Muller team up to down the opposition.

The last two games were the big ones. To beat Xavier and Fordham, St. John's already out of the way, would have meant the league title for the Eagles. Key first string players, however, having played in Varsity games by this time, were ineligible for league JV competition. Coach Mr. William Duffy brought up strong men from the freshman team, but to no avail. The Eagles lost to Xavier, 18-0, and to Fordham, 30-2.

Thus an unsuccessful season ended, but one difficult fully to analyze. The JV as a sophomore team was not, in the important games, together as a unit. What will the future hold? With the tough defense of sophs Rory Callahan and Gary Muller, with the offense of Fran DePeter, Dick Cummings, and Paul McNulty, next year's Varsity team may surprise the spectators.

This play was called T 11. Bill Ward carried the ball around the right end, behind the blocking of Bobby Rovegno, and Vic Sama, usually for a substantial gain. On this particular day against Poly Prep, Ward carried the ball over for a touchdown.

Frosh Shatter Poly in Last Game

Lenny Hypolite, Father Gerhard, S.J., and Gil Hodges go over the season's record, with hope for the future of the Frosh team of 1964.

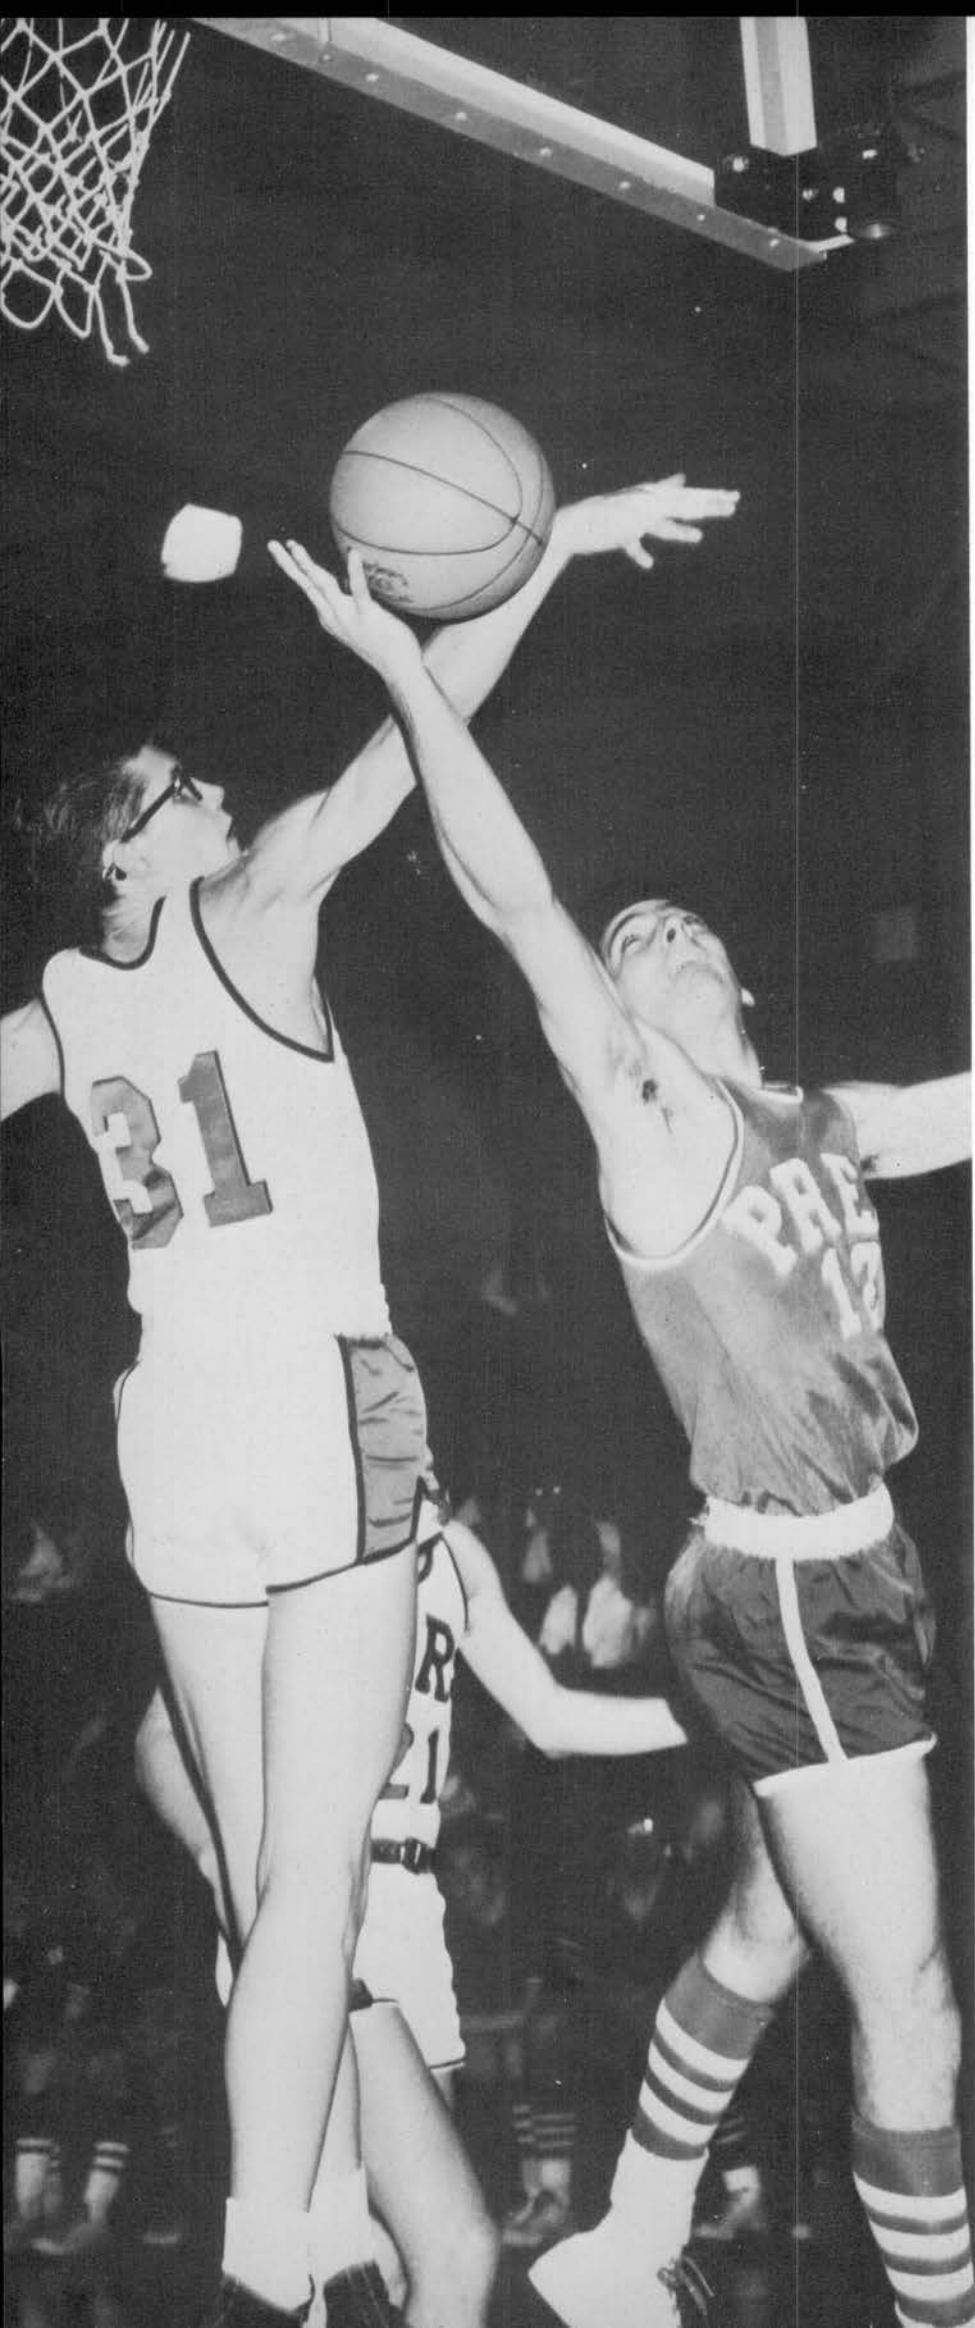

The first day of Freshman Football tryouts saw one hundred hopeful candidates arrive at the dusty field of Brooklyn Prep. After two weeks of tough practicing, Coach Father Gerhard, S.J., announced the cuts, and the team began preparing for its first game. After losing a scrimmage, the team manned the field for a battle with a strong St. Agnes squad. All the players turned in fine performances and the team came out on top by a score of 16-6. Following the victory over the Stags, the Prep Eagles faced Mount St. Michael's, the best team in the league. A hard fought contest on both sides resulted in a 14-14 tie. The next scheduled game against Brooklyn Tech was called because of rain.

Following the week's layoff, the Frosh took on Poly Prep in the final game this season. In what was considered their best game of this year the team demolished Poly, 31-7.

Congratulations are due to the coaches, Father Gerhard and Mr. Robert Macken and the whole team for their fine efforts throughout the entire season. Several Freshmen should be commended for their particularly outstanding performances: fullback, Charlie Russo, Bill Ward who ran from the half-back spot, Lenny Hypolite, the third runner in the backfield, defensive end, Bob Shepani, and quarterback, Gil Hodges. Mr. Duffy has many good prospects for next year's J.V. team.

Varsity

Lacks

This year the Brooklyn Prep basketball team opened its season with high ratings from all who had evaluated the team. But if B.P. did nothing else this year, it proved an old basketball axiom: "You cannot win without height."

Whenever the Prep team manned the courts, they displayed an exciting and enthusiastic brand of basketball which showed much hustle and great desire; but this did not make up for their deficiencies in height and ball handling. Throughout the season, the team also proved its ability to shoot from the outside; but their inability to work the ball on the inside, because of their lack of height, made them an easy team to defend.

After starting the season with a victory over the Alumni, the Eagles ran into a surprisingly strong Xaverian team. After a hard battle the Eagles lost 56-50, despite a 23 point effort by co-captain Tony Abbruzzese. Then Prep lost to Ford and Loughlin in succession, despite fine play by co-captain Ed Petrazzolo and Gary Uhl. The Clippers of Xaverian next invaded the Prep, and in a thriller of a game the Eagles succeeded in obtaining their second victory of the season, the shooting and all around play of Petrazzolo and Abbruzzese netting 15.

After losing to St. Augustine in another close game, the Eagles entered the Jesuit Christmas Tournament. The first team they met was Regis. The Prep put up a tremendous showing in which four members of the team hit double figures, but they just could not hold on long enough, as they lost in overtime by a score of 62-60. In the consolation round the Prep lost again, this time to Fordham in another very well played contest. Next Nazareth fell a victim to the Eagles, sparked by the 15 points of both Petrazzolo and Abbruzzese. Then the Prep lost to Loughlin and St. Francis, despite fine play by Gene Carty. Led by Pete McGrath's 21 points, the Eagles then defeated Bishop Ford 61-51. McGrath again led the Eagles with a 16 point attack against St. Augustine but time ran out on the Eagles, with the score 53-50. In the next game against Nazareth, Prep again came close but their erratic play in the second half proved fatal as they lost 50-48. The Eagles finished their season in good form, defeating St. Francis by a score of 85-78. All five members of the starting team hit double figures with Abbruzzese leading the team with 24 points.

Co-Captain Tony Abbruzzese, voted most valuable player on this year's Varsity, displays one of the many reasons why he won this title.

Despite their losing season, the team did have its bright spots. Co-captains Ed Petrazzolo and Tony Abbruzzese both obtained honorable mention in the DAILY NEWS, with Petrazzolo leading the team in scoring with an average of 15 points per game and Abbruzzese second in scoring and first in rebounds and assists. Also the fine play of juniors Gene Carty, Pete McGrath, Gary Uhl, Harry Hartnett and Paul Atanasio promised much for next year's team.

Much praise and credit should go to Mr. Lawn who worked hard throughout the season to help and improve his players.

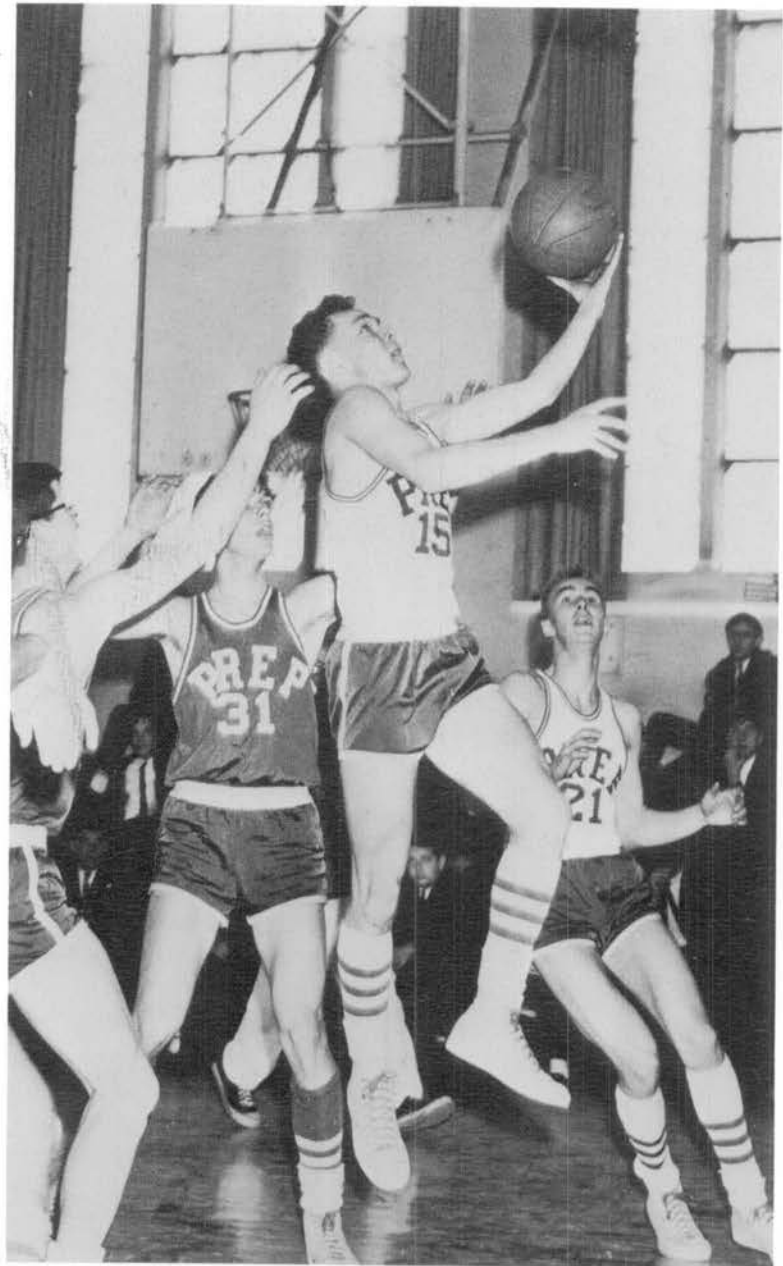

High scorer Ed Petrazzolo adds two more points to put Prep in front.

Fran DePeter moves in close for the rebound.

Jay Vee Almost to the Playoffs

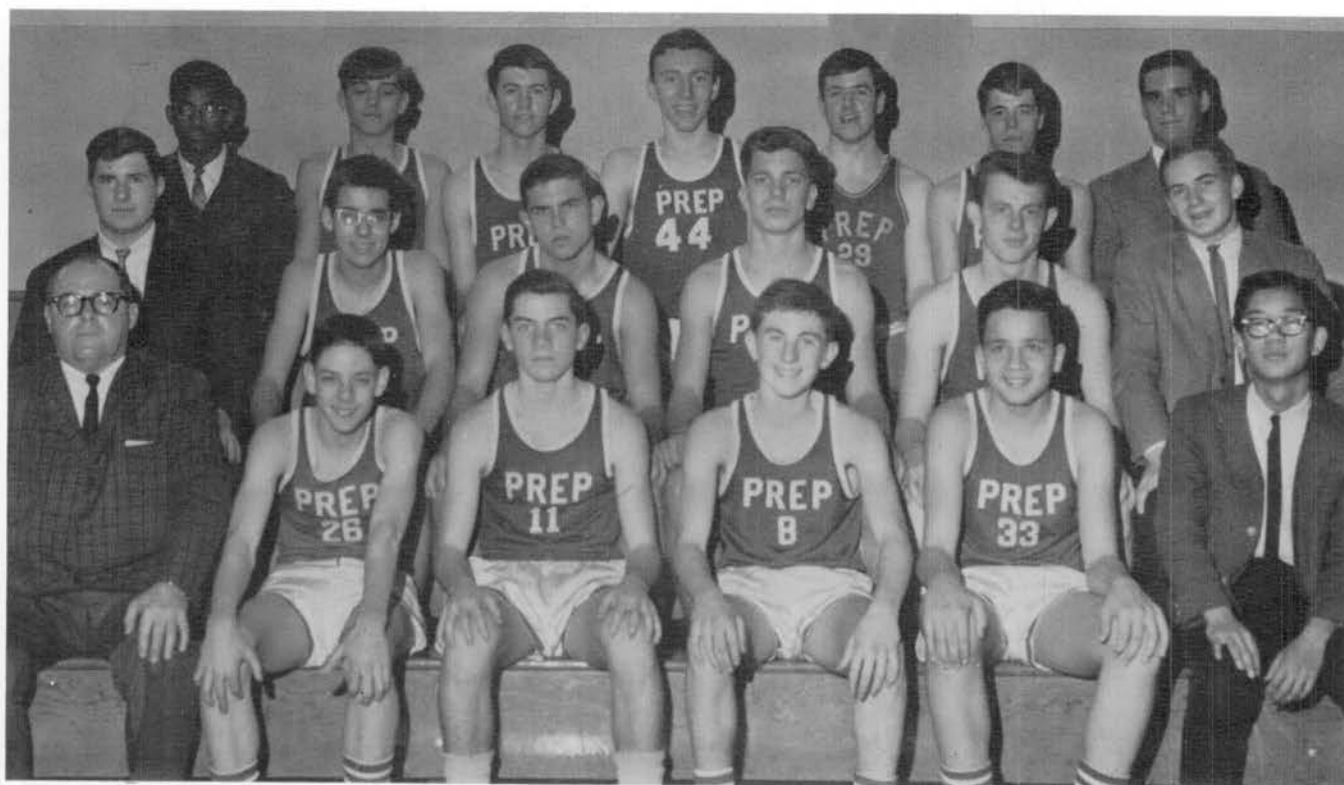

On December 4 the Blue and White of Prep travelled to Xaverian to embark upon the '64-'65 season. Mr. Duffy had set the team's goal when he said "No JV at Prep ever made the playoffs . . . this one will."

The Eagles got off to a slow start, winning only one of its first four games, despite a tremendous effort put forth by Ed Gaffney and Ray Battistoni. Finally the ball began to bounce their way and by mid-season the team was right in the thick of the fight for a playoff berth. However, in a must game against St. Francis, on the last day of the season, Prep was just edged out.

There were many bright spots in the campaign, among which were two victories over rival St.

John's. In one of those games Prep amassed 91 points, the highest amount ever scored by a J.V. team at the Prep. Six players hit double figures in that game, but Bill Halpin led them all with 20 points. By far the most satisfying victory of the year came at the expense of Nazareth by a 49-42 count. Ed Gaffney and Fran DePeter played their usual great all round games. Against Bishop Ford Frank Wolfer hit 18 and Staff Hillaire grabbed 15 rebounds and added 10 points to a well deserved victory.

The final record of 7-9 does not really justify the hard work and desire displayed by all members of this year's team, which will ably represent Prep in its next two years of Varsity competition.

Frosh First

Bill Dorney goes up for an easy two points against St. John's.

For the first time in recent school history, Prep's Freshman Basketball Team won the Brooklyn Championship. Led by the scoring of John Alleva and Bob Atanasio, Prep recorded a thrilling 13-1 record. Prep scored a total of 1,069 points while their opponents had only 775.

After beating Xaverian 65-36, the squad went on to beat Loughlin, St. Augustine, Nazareth, St. Francis and Bishop Ford twice. The first time Prep faced St. John's, they defeated them 54-48. But the second encounter saw things differently. Our frosh lost to the Little Redmen 51-47 in a thriller.

Although Prep lost both playoff games, and finished fourth in the city, it had a remarkable season. The two high scorers were John Alleva with 374, and Bob Atanasio with 356. The other members of Father O'Connor's quintet are Bill Dorney, Kevin O'Flaherty, and Dan McHale. We hope that this squad will develop and prove successful in its remaining years at Prep.

Bob Atanasio fights for the rebound against the opposition.

John Alleva, high scorer for this year's Frosh, adds two more to his total.

Kevin O'Flaherty jumps from the key for two points against St. Augustine.

Cross Country Team Sweeps Jesuits

John O'Brien rounds the turn and starts to head for the finish line after a grueling 2½ mile cross country race.

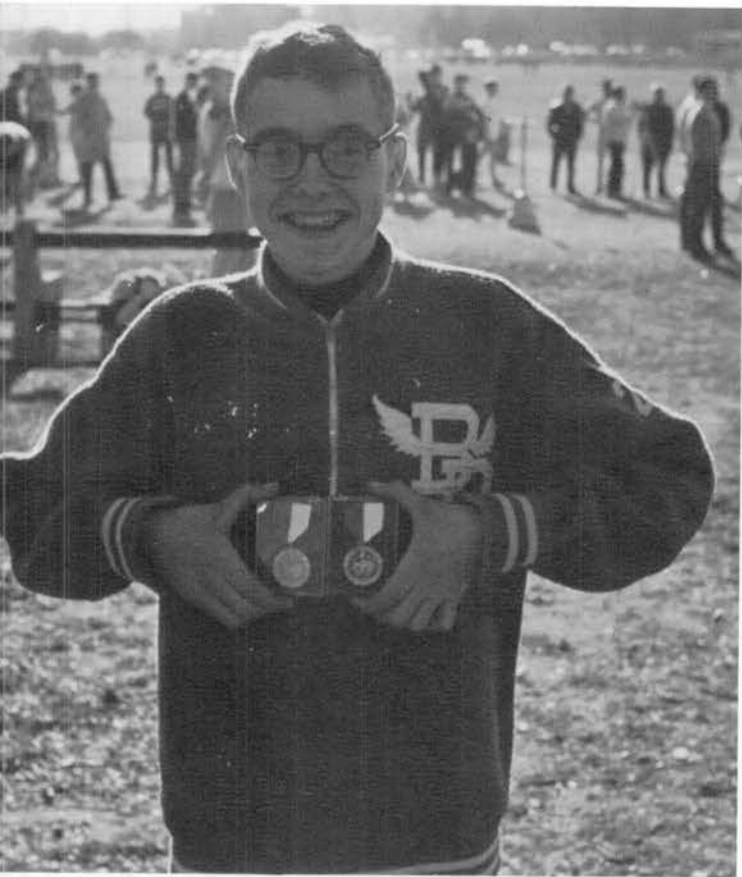

On a crisp Autumn day at Van Cortlandt Park, the 1964 Prep cross country team was all smiles. Led by Co-captain Bob Grossberger and Junior Jim Clarke, it had won the Eastern Jesuit States Championship. In this meet, Jim Clarke established a Junior school record when he placed third in a time of 13:38. The Varsity five composed of Jim Clarke, Co-Capts. Bob Grossberger and Wally O'Brien, Frank Zagare and Tom Murphy also succeeded in placing second in the Brooklyn Championships.

The J.V. also enjoyed success. Tom Murphy, who set the Sophomore record of 14:30 and John O'Brien led the remainder of the team, Joe Clarke, Pete Geraghty, and Jay Robinson to victories in the Brooklyn Championships and the Jesuit J.V. Cross Country Team Title. In the Brooklyn Championships, Tom Murphy finished first and the remaining four finished in 2nd, 3rd, 4th, and 5th places. In the Jesuits, John O'Brien finished first as he led the team to victory.

Coach Mr. Murtha Lawrence sees a bright future for the cross country team. Men returning next year are: John O'Brien, Tom Murphy, Terry Quinlan, Jerry Middlemiss, Jim Clarke, Jay Robinson and Mark Long.

Frank Zagare and Terry Quinlan vie for the lead as Pete Geraghty struggles to keep up with them.

Jimmy Clarke, school record holder, displays two of his many awards won during the cross country season.

Prep Runners Strongest in Recent School History

If one were to ask a trackman from St. John's, Fordham, Chaminade, St. Francis, Molloy, Mater Christi or any high school what he thought about Brooklyn Prep's Track Team, he would be sure to get a respectful reply. Our runners this year have represented Prep in a very outstanding way; Prep has always turned up among the better scoring teams in the large meets. Although the trackmen just missed the Brooklyn-Queens Dual Meet Champs in an injury-ridden meet against Mater Christi, the spirit of the members of the team has always been that we have the best team in the city.

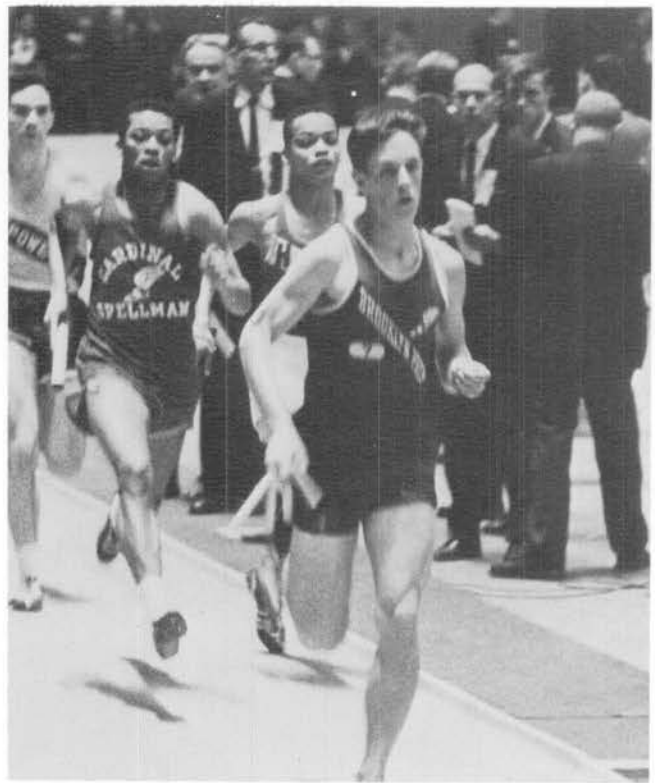

The Indoor Track season for Prep was one of many ups and downs. The situation looked black many times but the runners pulled through. The greatest discouragement was the loss of the Brooklyn-Queens Dual Meet crown to Mater Christi. After beating Christ the King, St. John's, St. Augustine, a strong Xavier team, Bishop Ford and a highly lauded Loughlin team, Prep lost to Nazareth. This may seem odd. Well it was. Prep used almost no seniors in this meet because of its concurrence with the March College Boards. However, Prep had the best record in the division and thus held the Brooklyn title. Everything was now set for the big meet against the Queens division champs, Mater Christi. Prep felt confident, but confidence was not enough. Due to the removal of the board track for the baseball season and the repairing of the cinder track for the outdoor season, the team missed several days of practice right before the meet. In addition the team had to travel all the way to Mater Christi and run with what many considered too short a time to warm up. The loss of three versatile runners Rich Loehfelm, Ronnie Howell, and Larry Svirchev to injuries hurt our chances in many events. Prep, however, went down fighting, an undeserved and unfortunate end to a bright season.

Mr. Charles Grossberger, who assisted at all the meets during the indoor season, raises the gun for the start of another race.

Bob Grossberger, one of the reasons for Prep's success this year, works' out at Wingate Field.

Greg Milmoie leads the field on the first leg of the victorious Mile Relay. This relay consisting of Milmoie, John O'Brien, Mike Voldstad, and Wally O'Brien won their heat and won the overall title in the CHSAA Championships at Madison Square Garden.

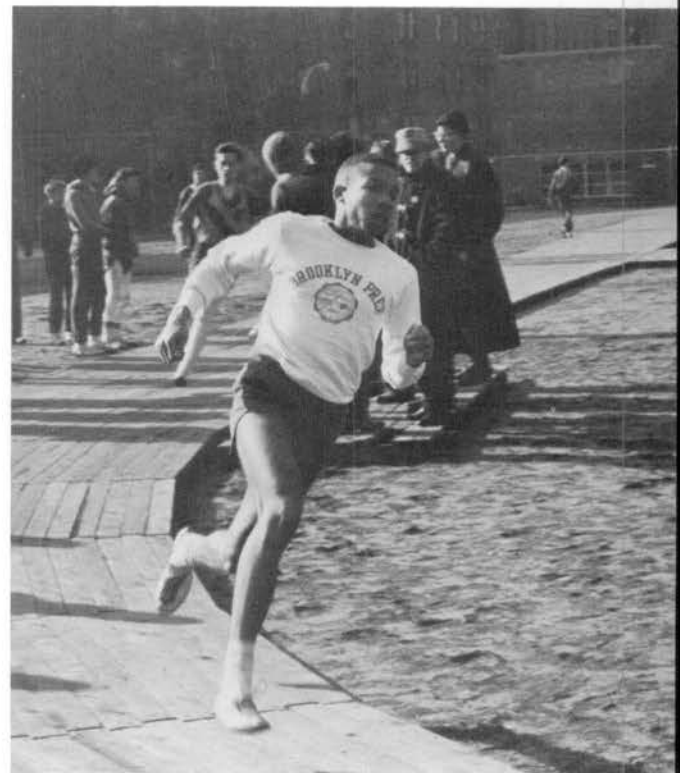

Coach Lawrence watches the action as Manager Bob English prepares to copy down the results of another victorious race for the Prep trackmen.

Two of the major assets of the team were the O'Brien brothers, Wally and John, here shown rounding a turn in their usual lead positions.

Mike Voldstad, showing his characteristic ability, passes a Power runner for a gold medal in the Garden.

Ronnie Howell, one of the team's best sprinters, is on his way to another win, this time over Christ the King.

Bob Somelofske, usually a high-jumper, shows some of his talent in the hurdles.

Rich Loehfelm, a truly outstanding runner, is here shown in the race in which a bad muscle pull ended his exceptional track career at the Prep.

Jimmy Clarke, Prep's best distance runner, burns up the track on a practice day.

Although discouraged by the disappointing climax of the indoor season, the Prep team began the outdoor meets with a strong effort. Practice could not be held at Prep and the runners had to travel to Wingate Field every day. However daily attendance was quite good.

Because the outdoor schedule consists entirely of large meets without any dual meets, Prep always found itself up against the toughest competition. However, on April 10th in the CHSAA Championships, the mile relay team of Serrapede, Grossberger, Voldstad, and Wally O'Brien placed second, and Pete Geraghty, running the individual three-quarter mile placed second. In the Brooklyn-Long Island Sectional Championships that same mile relay placed first, while the 880 relay of Milmoie, Loehfelm, Howell, and Navarro managed to secure third place medals. Next on the schedule was the Queens-Iona Relays, in which the mile relay placed first in Runner-up Championship. At the Penn Relays, despite a strong effort, the best any of the Prep teams could do in the Eastern Seaboard meet was to place fourth. At the time this yearbook had to be sent to the printer, these were all the meets that had been run. The team, showing so well in these meets, was, however, sure to encounter more good fortune.

Some of the seniors who ran their last race this year are Bob Grossberger, Greg Milmoie, Wally O'Brien, Rich Loehfelm, Bob Cassano, Larry Svirchev, Joe Clarke, and Frank Zagare. Some of next year's bright hopes are Juniors Kevin Serrapede, Ron Howell, Jim Clarke, John O'Brien, Pete Geraghty and Sophs Tom Murphy and Mark Longo. With such talent in our realms, Prep should continue to garner the hardware.

Varsity Swimmers Again Take Almost Everything in Sight

Denis Drake and Dave Sheehan get off to a good start for a gruelling 200 yard race.

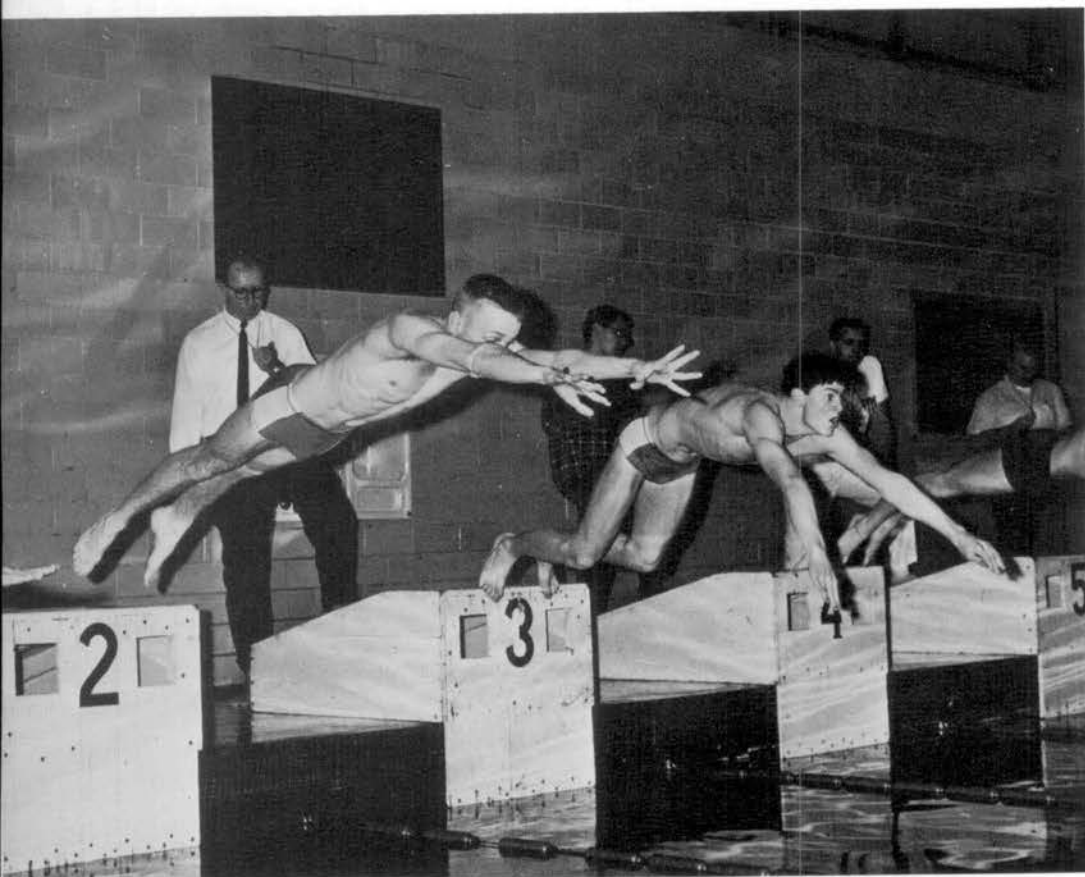

The most consistently successful year at Brooklyn Prep in the past four years has been the Swimming Team. This year's squad, led by Captain and four year letterman Charles Stone, was no exception, as it went undefeated in league dual meets and also won several post-season championships.

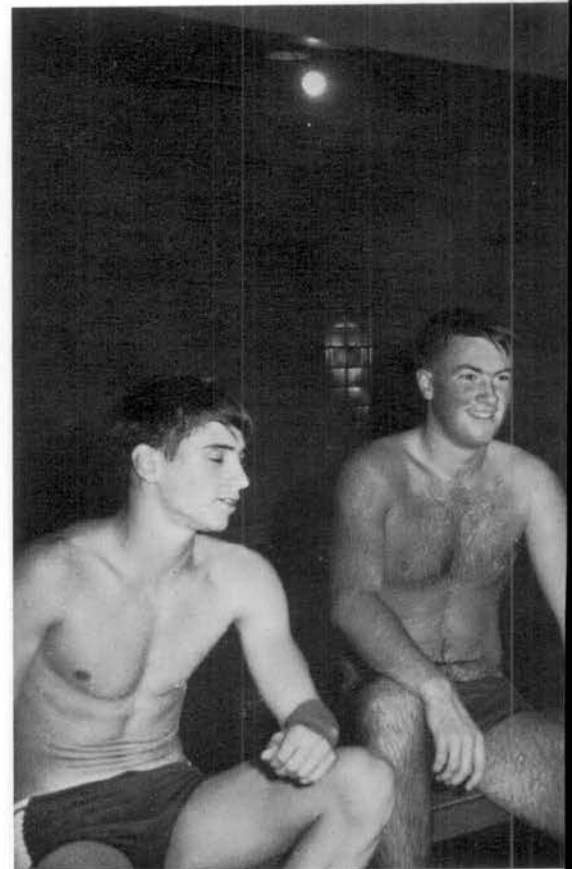

On December 12 of last year the Tankmen journeyed to the Blue Knight Relays at St. Mary's in Connecticut and placed third in a strong field of seven schools. The regular season began with a dual meet against Holy Cross in which the Eagles rolled to an easy win: 78-17. Prep then faced a young Bishop Reilly team and again Coach Doolan's swimmers stroked to victory, winning 76-12. In the third meet of the season, Prep hosted the Nazareth squad, which was sent down to defeat, 77-18. In these meets, three sophomores each won their respective events: Richie Bell in the 200 yard Individual Medley, Frank Jones, in the breaststroke, and the diver, Ed Mallen. The medley relay started the season with three victories and continued this winning streak throughout the season. Dave Sheehan, Bill McGrane, Jim Carey, and Tom Shawiry all swam well in their meets as they did in all other meets they appeared in this year.

After the Nazareth win, the Eagles demolished Poly Prep in a non-league meet, by a score of 86-13. The Loughlin team, formally a big league team, next fell at the hands of an Eagle squad, which now had built upon unstoppable momentum. Outstanding performances by Denis Drake, Bill McGrane, Charlie Stone, and All-American Bob Burke helped put the Blue and White on top at the final gun. The Prep mermen then swam to two more victories over Trinity and St. John's.

In the final, and closest meet of the season, Prep met St. Francis which also was undefeated. This contest was of particular interest to the Eagle squad who were hoping to avenge previous defeats at the hands of the Terriers. Every event was a close one but the clincher was the 400 free. Denis Drake won handily on an excellent time of 4:47, but second place was not so easily decided. In a photo finish Tom Beck beat St. Francis' Cunningham by less than two seconds. The final score was 54-41 in our favor.

The regular season now over, the post season championships began. The first one was the Metropolitan Catholic High School Championships at Seton Hall. Fine efforts by the medley relay of Carey, Jones, Stone, and Beck and butterfly Charlie Stone who both won, and Bob Burke, who took second in the hundred backstroke, pushed Prep to a second place behind St. Mary's.

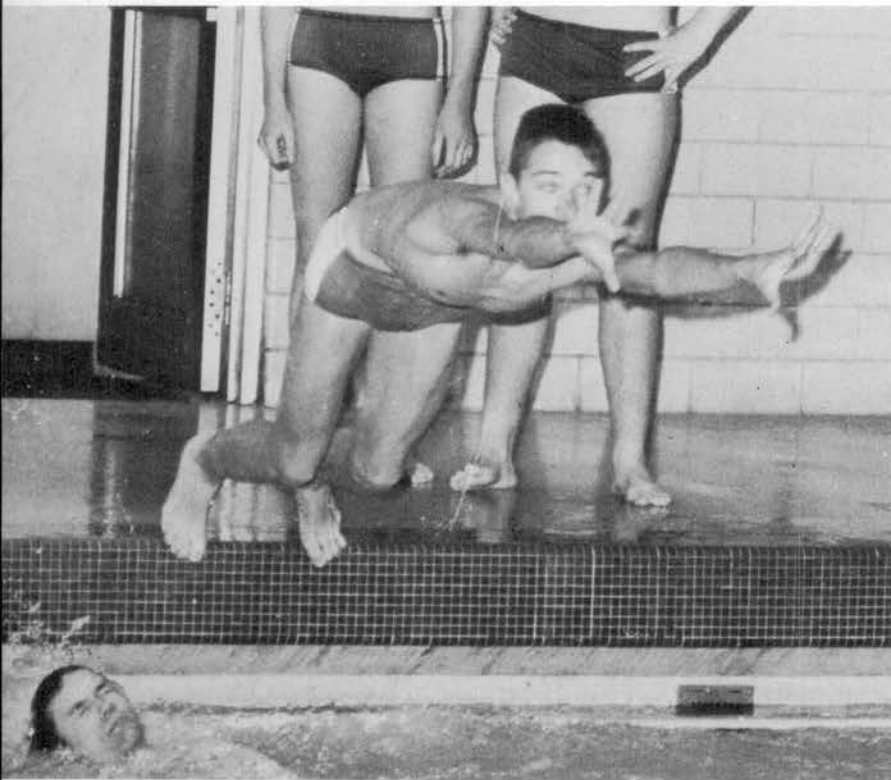

Second in the championship series was the Athletic Association of Private Schools meet. Victories by Jim Carey in the backstroke, Bob Burke in the 200 and 400 free, and Frank

Brian Burns, one of the best divers in the city, displays his form for an interested onlooker.

As Jim Carey comes in on the backstroke, sophomore Frank Jones dives for the breaststroke on the medley relay. With two years of Varsity swimming to go, Frank already holds the Prep record in breaststroke.

Jones in the breaststroke helped defeat McBurney in a close contest.

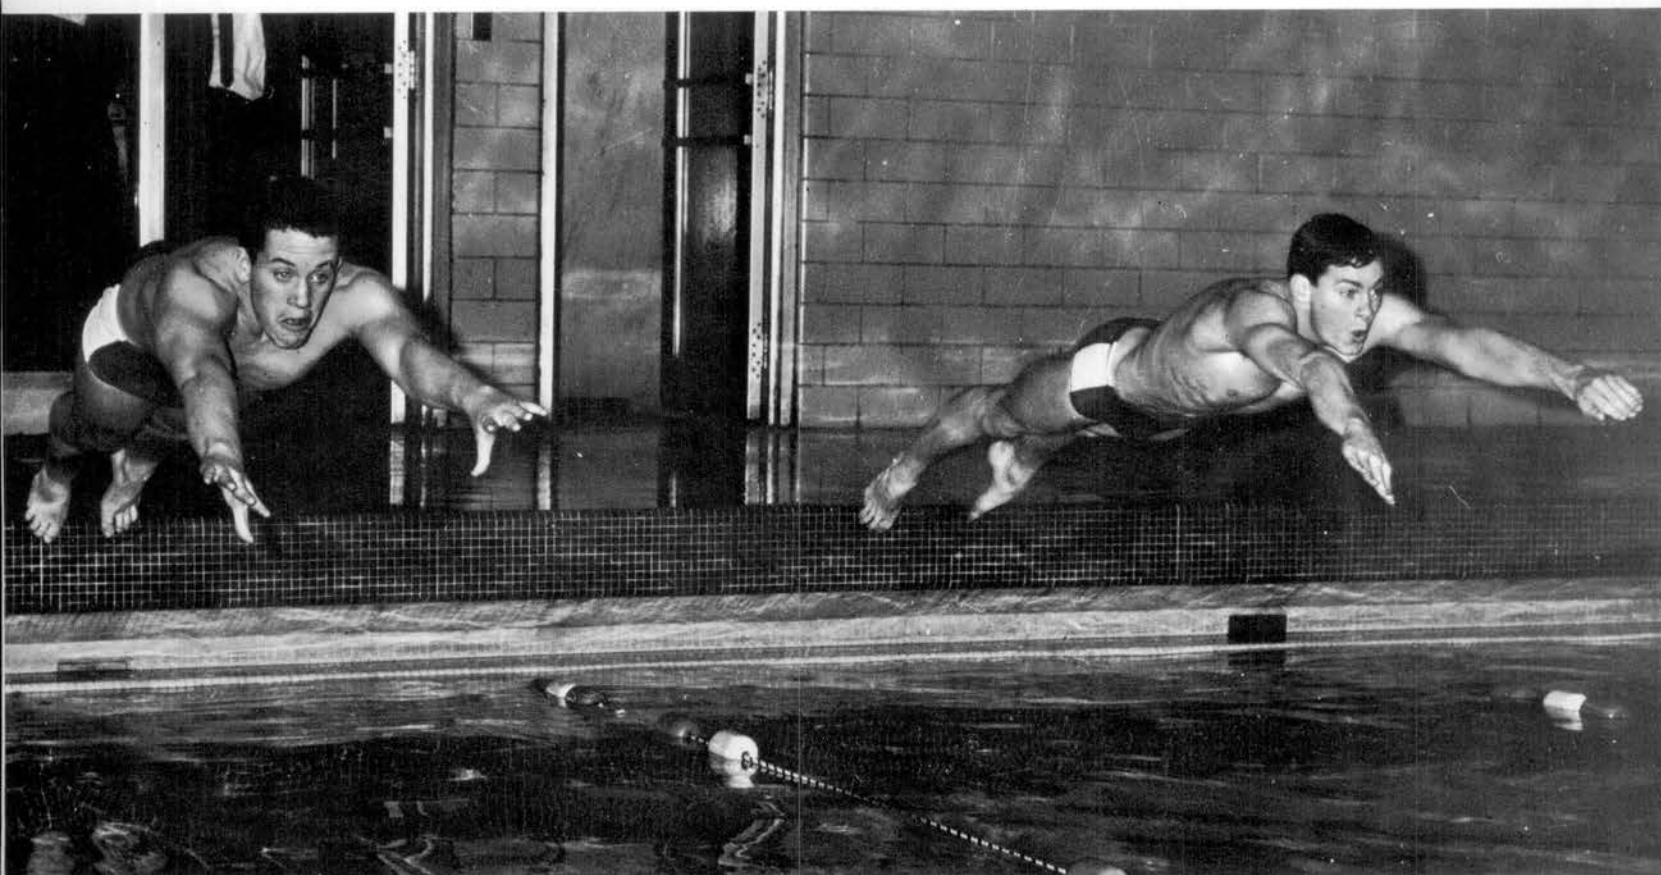

In the Catholic Nationals at Villanova, Prep, with 85 points, placed ninth out of forty-one competing schools. The stars of the meet were Burke, Lee, Stone and Beck, who placed fifth in the Individual Medley. Charlie Stone tied for second in the 100 fly, and Bob Burke captured third place in the 100 back.

In defeating Rice and St. Francis, the Eagle Swimmers captured the Catholic Dual Meet Championship. Individual winners in these victories included Tom Beck, Walter Lee, Jim Carey, Rich Bell and Frank Jones.

The final test for the Eagles came in the CHSAA Individuals. In this meet, one of the most important of the season, every swimmer showed his best and they stroked to another win, beating their closest rival, St. Francis, 82-63. The stars of Brooklyn Prep included Bob Burke, with victories in the Individual Medley and the backstroke (he established new records in both events), breaststroker Frank Jones, Rich Bell, winner of the 400, Charlie Stone, who also broke a CHSAA record and the medley relay. Other Eagle medal winners included Dennis Drake, Walt Lee, Bill McGrane, Jim Carey, Ed Mallen, Dan Weinlandt, Dave Sheehan, and Tom Beck.

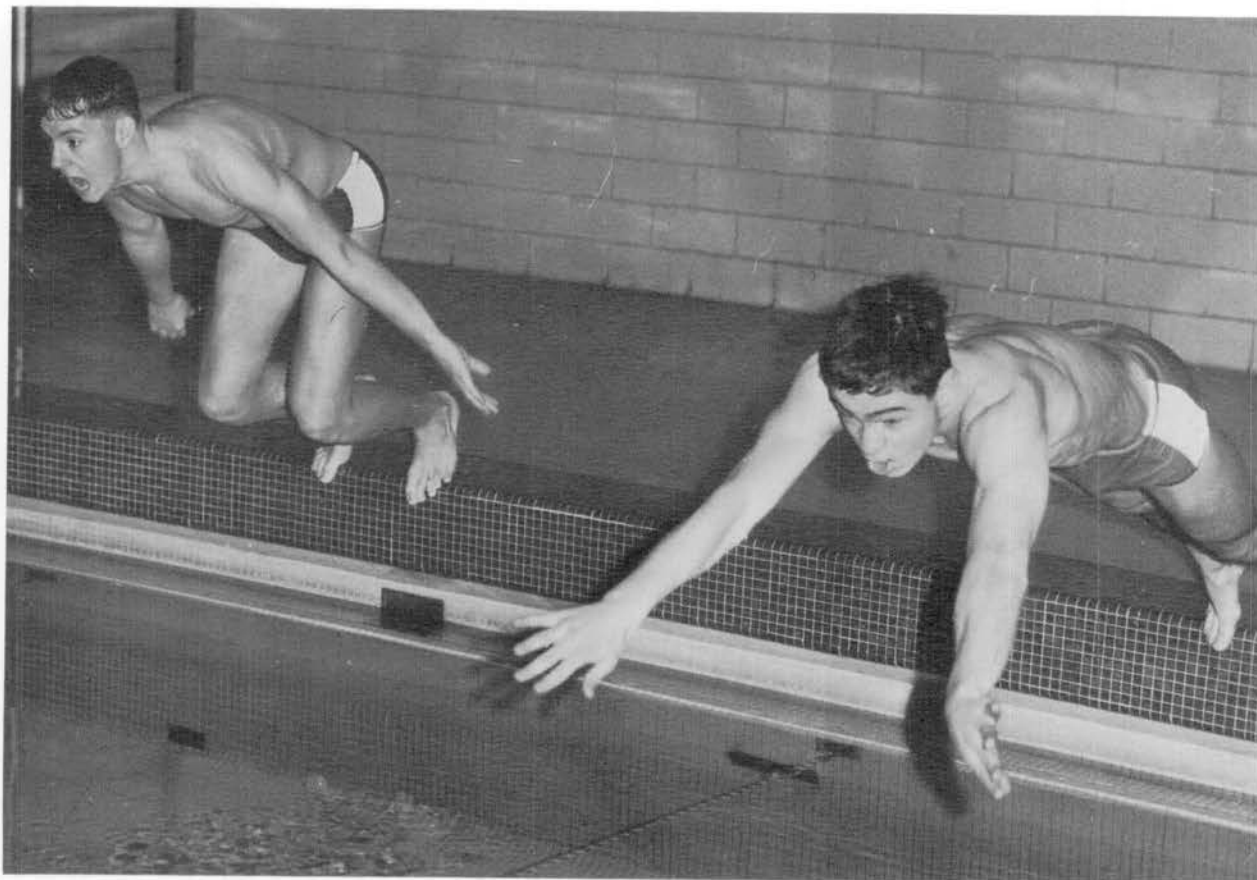

For the second year in a row the Prep swimmers have captured all three major city titles. There is nothing more praiseworthy which can be said about the effort of every team member and the guidance of their coach, Walter Doolan. Although coach Doolan will lose seven lettermen at graduation, the performances this year of Frank Jones, Rich Bell, Dave Sheehan, Ed Mallen, Brian Burns, Rod McGrath and Bob Burke show more than average prospects for next year's squad.

Richie Bell and Bobby Burke start the Individual Medley. So good was the swimming team this year that competition was often between two Prep swimmers for first and second places, far outdistancing the opposing team.

Coached by Mr. William Beck, this year's Freshman Swimming Team enjoyed a successful season, suffering defeat only once in dual meet competition.

The Frosh's first few meets were easy victories but as the season wore on the competition became rougher. An unblemished record stood until the meet with St. John's, where they were narrowly edged out. In the next meet which was also tough, the team carried the Blue and White to the top in a close victory, putting them into the championships.

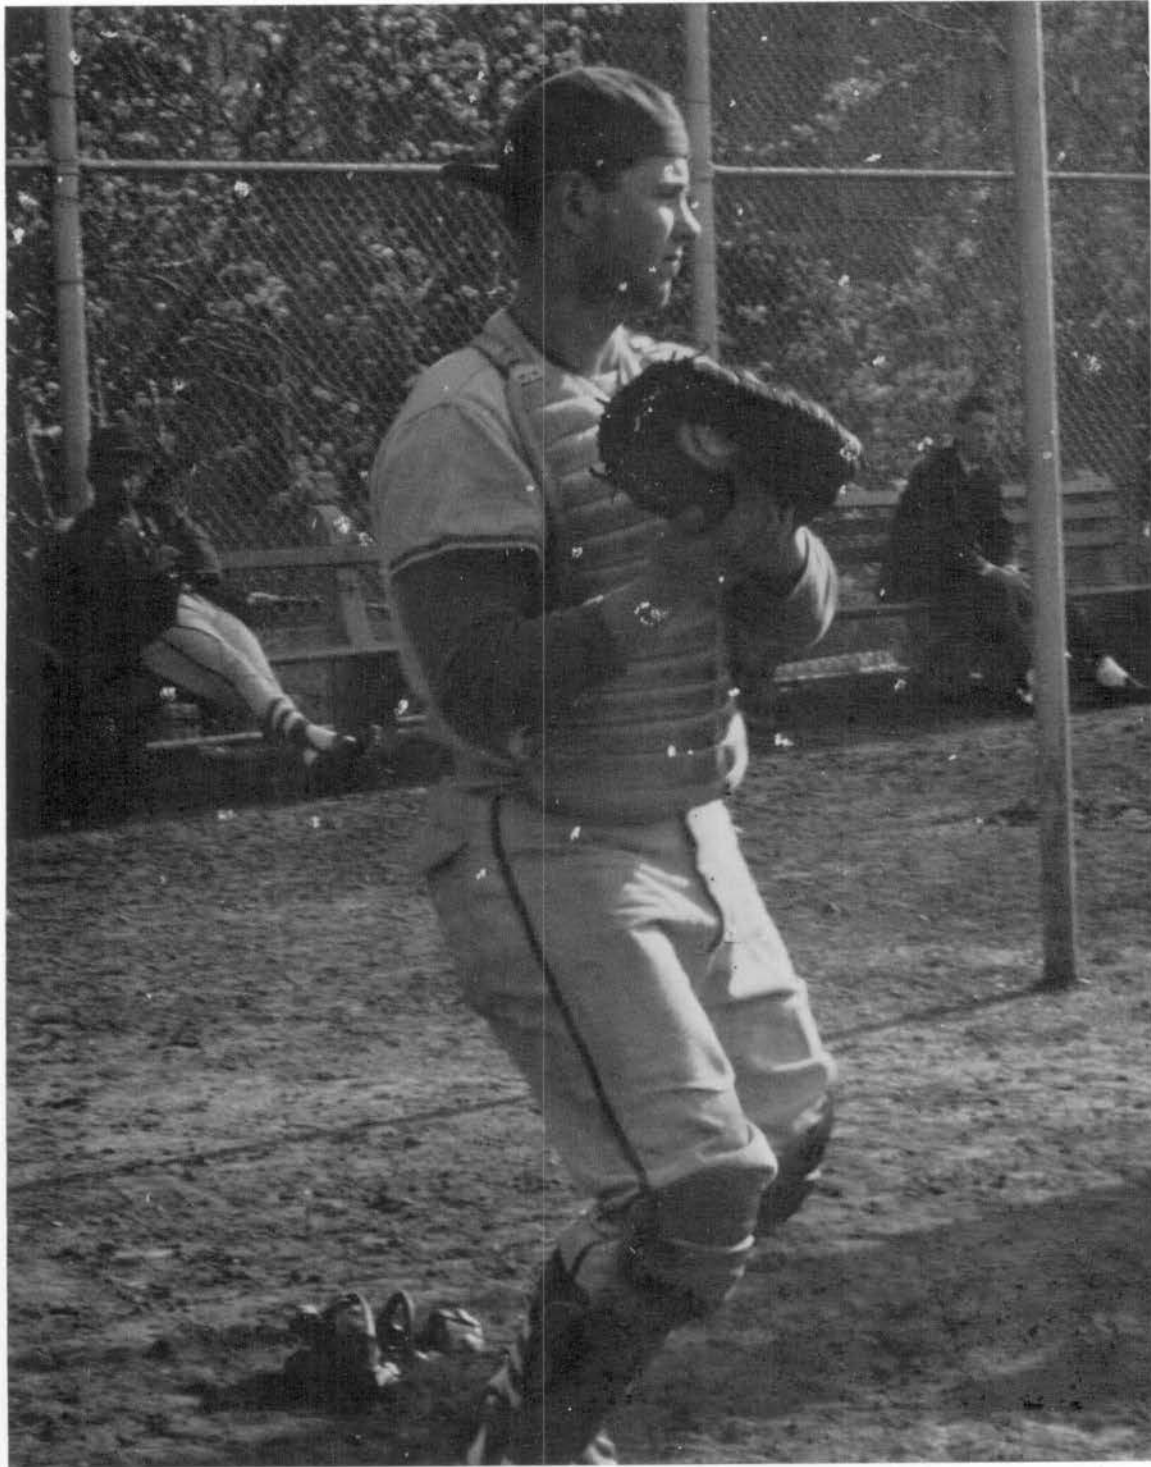

In the CHSAA playoffs the Frosh again tasted defeat but managed to place third in the citywide competition. It was in the Individual Championships that the team showed its real swimming abilities: Art Browne placed third in the backstroke, Mike Noonan took first in the breaststroke, and John Metterle and Gene Racanelli took second and third in the dive respectively. In this individual competition the Frosh aquamen barely edged out their rivals and placed first, keeping up the traditional winning streak.

Art Browne, Phil Carey, Gene Racanelli, Mike Noonan, John Metterle and Ron Irving contributed much to the success of the season and proved to be Varsity material.

Varsity Baseball

Tony Giordano, team co-captain, warms up in his occupational costume. Tony accounts for the security of the '65 Varsity behind the plate.

Butch Halpin steps on first base to retire the side. A junior, Halpin typifies the hopefully strong Prep infield.

Pete McCall and photographer both display fine timing as Pete wields the bat. The ball waits at the edge of the bat at left.

Ed Petrazzolo, co-captain and first on the pitching roster, on the mound. Both in hitting and pitching Ed is hoped to account for a victorious season for the Varsity.

BASEBALL '65

As this publication went to press, the varsity baseball season at Prep was just one game old. Despite this short period of time, it was not difficult to discern definite signs of a successful season.

With five lettermen back from last year's successful team, the hopes are high that this year's team can go all the way. Gerry McDermott, last year's starting shortstop, should provide the experience to guide the three juniors, who comprise the rest of the infield, while helping the team with his consistent and timely hitting. Pete Allutto, starting right-fielder, should help the team defensively with his strong, accurate throwing; Pete will also contribute the lefthanded hitting power in the bottom half of the lineup. Tony Giordano, acclaimed by many as the best defensive catcher in the league, also bats cleanup in the Prep batting order and is expected to account for a great deal of the team's hitting by the end of the season.

An abundance of strong juniors should help the team and assure a strong team for next year. Juniors will hold four starting positions and much of the team's success depends upon them. John Halpin will take over first base; Joe Russo holds down the second base position and Bill Shaleesh will be starting at third.

Pre-season reports pegged the Prep team as a well-balanced, talented squad with plenty of power and depth, and with an emphasis on defence. The weak point on the team was supposed to be pitching, but after a brilliant two hit performance by Ed Petrazzolo and vastly improved lefty Bob Collözza, the pitching problem seems to be solved. Also on the pitching staff is sophomore Frank Wolfer, who is expected to take on a starting berth.

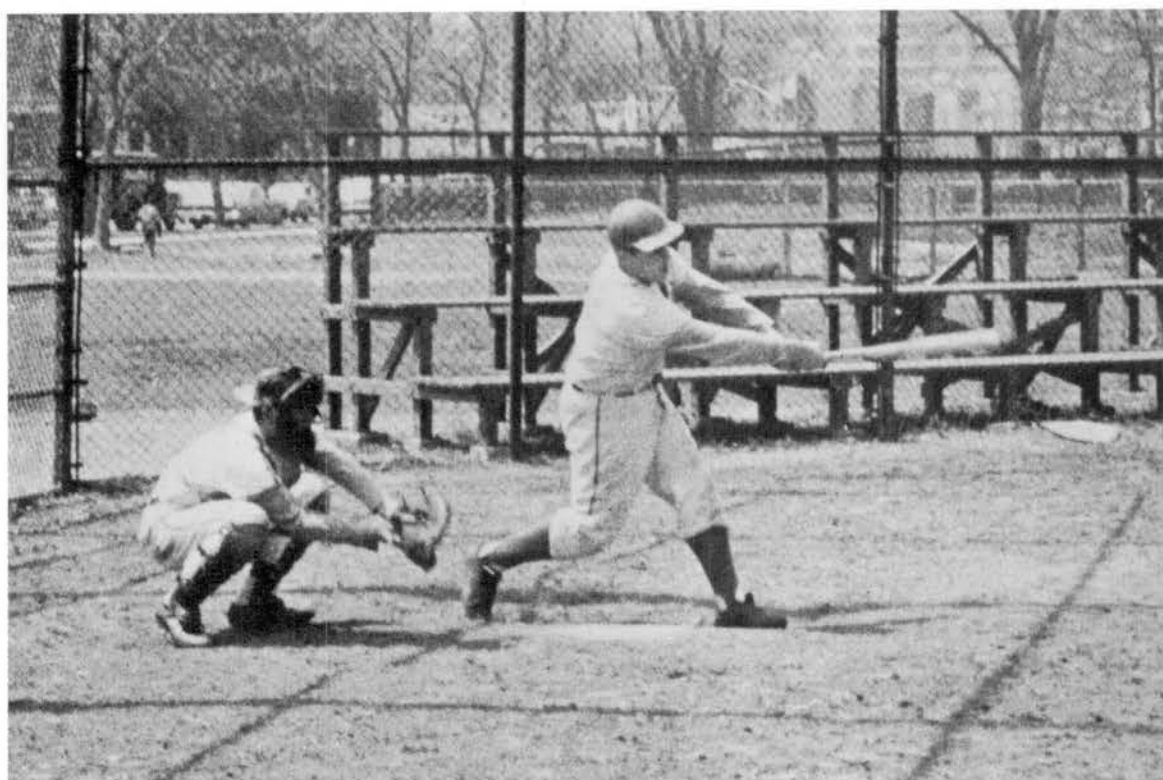

In the only game of the season so far, against Cathedral, the Prep went into the sixth inning leading 1-0 on the hitting and brilliant pitching of Ed Petrazzolo. The Cathedral team then scored two runs in the bottom of the sixth inning to take a one run lead. The Prep team dramatically bounced back in the top of the seventh to score five runs on key hits by Joe Russo and Ed Petrazzolo to win the game 6-2.

A few words should be said about the Eagles' coach, Mr. Walter Doolan, who has been making excellent use of the talent at his disposal and who is possibly destined for a CHSAA Championship.

Gil Hodges, backed up by pitcher George Kershaw, makes the catch ending the inning at the Parade Grounds. In both JV games first-baseman Hodges and also shortstop Joe Trotta excelled. Other defensive stars were pitchers Gerry Jones and Charlie Rehberg.

Neil Donovan and Father Alexander at rest before the busy season. Father Alexander cites the prospects for '65 as good. Neil Donovan, Brooklyn Junior Champ as a sophomore with a 72 at Dyker, should score in the mid 70's. Pete Riebling, Ray LaFlare, and Kurt Choutka should improve on their mid 80's scores of last year. John Minotti, only a freshman already hits a long ball! Pete Stevens, brother of Alex Stevens, Captain in '64, shows promise.

Cheerleaders

At Boy's High Field, Cheerleaders Joe Clarke, Gerry Middlemiss, Frank Zagare, Joe McCabe, and Jim Rooney await the start of the game. During the basketball season, the Prep cheerleaders also kept the crowds shouting at home games in the Prep gym.

Gerry Middlemiss shouts hard at the St. John's Thanksgiving Day Game, though the Eagles lost by two touchdowns.

Tennis

Coach Fleischacker and Captain John Carberry plan strategy for the day's match. The tennis team, composed almost entirely of underclassmen, expects a fine season since most of the players have had league experience.

Volleyball and Wrestling New Intramurals at Prep

Father Kelly awards the trophy for the Middleweight Division in Intramural Wrestling to soph Fran DePeter. The wrestling intramurals formed only part of the intramural program at Prep including football, basketball, bowling, softball, and this year, volleyball.

DOES CHRISTMAS ONLY COME
ONCE A YEAR?

Definitely not. For the editors of the 1965 Blue Book Christmas came in February when, because of the generosity of hundreds of Blue Book subscribers, the editors knew that their plans would be carried out. Their thanks, then, to all the people listed in the following pages.

*The Fathers' Guild of Brooklyn Prep
Congratulates the Graduates of 1965*

At the Sports Dinner held in January, Junior Robert Burke receives the award for the outstanding Prep Athlete from Fathers' Guild President, Mr. Joseph Bier. Father Rector, Father Kelly, and Fr. O'Connor look on. The Sports Dinner, under the direction of Mr. Arthur Blum, was the major event on the Fathers' Guild Calendar for 1964-1965, which also included the November Parents' Mixer and the April Fathers and Sons Communion Breakfast. Mr. Bier was assisted in all these undertakings by Vice-President Mr. Adam Shanks, Treasurer Mr. Donald Higgins, and Secretary Dr. Gabriel Cuculo.

Congratulations to the Graduates

Class 4C:

Leaders of the school in the BLUE BOOK Business Drive, and in much else, holding in its ranks the Vice-President of the Student Council, the Editor in Chief and the Business Manager of the 1965 BLUE BOOK, the President of the Band, the President of Dramatics, the Layout Editor of the Magazine, the Captain of Varsity Football, the Captain of Varsity Basketball, the Captain of Varsity Swimming, the Captain of Varsity Baseball, and two out of the ten top scholars in the Class of 1965.

Class 4A,

second in the school in the BLUE BOOK Business Drive, congratulates its fellow graduates in the Class of 1965.

Congratulations to the Class of 1965 from Class 2H, first in the Magazine Drive,

first in the Lenten Mite Box Drive, third in the BLUE BOOK Business Drive.

*For help in publishing the 1965 Blue Book,
thank you . . .*

- . . . Mr. Edward Murphy, S.J., who kept the books during the business drive, no small task, and typed the Patrons and Business sections.
- . . . Mr. Frank Ball, Jr. and Mr. E. J. Adomilli, who encouraged us all to excellence as we met our deadlines with the New City Printing Co.
- . . . Mr. George Rubens and Mr. William Welter of Lorstan-Thomas Studios, who helped most in the Senior and Underclass sections, but also with many small favors beyond the call of business.
- . . . Mrs. Francis Hines, secretary to the Treasurer of Brooklyn Prep, who helped us often in the balancing of budget and expenditures.

*In study and play
the year passed.*

*June comes,
and everyone goes home.
Prep becomes a hollow building and an empty field,
faceless,
waiting for another year...*
