Tom Ribbecke '70

Tom Ribbecke was born in Flatbush, Brooklyn and went to Holy Innocents. His brother, Lawrence, preceded him at Prep by four years, and cousin Daniel Moran, by two years - so Prep was a family affair.

At Prep Tom was immediately involved with the closed circuit TV and became the studio manager as a junior. His childhood friends Mark Halliday and Bill Brickley also produced the morning news shows. When Tom tells people that he lettered in TV, he says that he was given a

Prep sweater with an antenna!

While in Syracuse University, Tom made his first crude guitar and was fixing everyone else's, so building them was a natural next step. Later he opened a tiny repair shop in the mission district of San Francisco. He became busy with commission work, for his carved top guitars and a new invented design - the "Halfling." That resulted in a patent and a stock held manufacturing company, The Ribbecke Guitar Co.

RGC was signed to do a reality show by the producers of "Extreme Makeover," because they heard that RGC was staffed largely by troubled kids who were able to find a home where they were taught to pursue excellence. Tom considers this his greatest achievement because they are all doing well as they approach middle age!

Tom Ribbecke is regarded in the music industry as one of the top 5 luthiers in North America, and one of the top 10 globally. He worked to engineer the revival of the archtop style guitar, beginning in the late 1970s and early 1980s.

His instruments are sought out by many of the premier players of archtop acoustic, electric, and bass guitars. He counts among his clients and friends the bass player of Hot Tuna and formerly of Jefferson Airplane, Jack Cassidy; the jazz bassist Bobby Vega; the British singer, Seal; the late Irish rock guitarist, Rory Gallagher; the 7-string guitar savant and jazz player, Taylor Roberts; the singer-songwriter John Sebastian; and numerous other "players' players."

Tom is a featured speaker at countless conventions and gatherings of luthiers, musicians, fans of the archtop guitar, and even environmentalist groups concerned with deforestation in different parts of the world due to his sustainable use of certain exotic woods in crafting his guitars.

Tom lives in Healdsburg, Northern CA with his wife, Deborah. He enjoys having his shop in a barn behind his house and a magical life where he continues to practice, build, invent and teach.

Thomas Ribbecke '70

If your guitar has the name "Ribbecke" on it, you are holding a Mercedes Benz of guitars. A Ribbecke guitar is a handmade work of art, known for its excellence both nationally and internationally. From his studio in Healdsburg, CA Tom has fashioned over 770 guitars! Tom has also instructed many young people in his studio and helped them find new meaning in life.

Tom feels that BP's desire for excellence gave him the desire to perfect his art.

BP is proud to honor him as 2024 Alumnus of the Year.

James H. DeGraffenreidt, Jr. '71

James played leading roles in the restructuring of the telecommunications and energy industries by advancing the voice of the customers. As a state consumer advocate early in his career he was part of a public interest group of intervenors that achieved lasting beneficial changes to the initially proposed dissolution of the old AT&T monopoly. In that role he also led his office's intervention in proceedings that restructured the natural gas industry.

James retired in 2009 after eleven years as chairman and chief executive officer of WGL Holdings, Inc. By emphasizing innovations in energy efficiency, environmental and corporate responsibility he led the company to top quartile performance among industry peers for safety, customer satisfaction and total shareholder return. He emerged as an industry leader and served as Chair of the American Gas Association and Industry Co-Chair of the Alliance to Save Energy.

Throughout his career James remained committed to serving his community. As a volunteer he personally supported local non-profit organizations in Washington, D.C., and surrounding counties in Maryland and Northern Virginia that addressed education, public health, and safety issues for marginalized and vulnerable communities. He completed eight years as a member of the Maryland State Board of Education in June 2016, the first four of which he served as board president. As Board President he led Maryland's successful application to win and complete execution of a U.S. Department of Education Race to the Top Grant. In addition to innovations in teaching and learning, Maryland implemented effective reforms in student discipline that have resulted in substantially reducing out of school suspensions statewide and emphasized elimination of disparate disciplinary treatment of students based on race or special needs. He is among the recipients of The 2022-2023 Joseph R. Biden Lifetime Achievement Award.

Brooklyn born, James commuted to BP from Queens and later earned his BA from Yale College in 1974 and JD and MBA from Columbia University in 1978. He and his wife, Dr. Mychelle Farmer, live in Baltimore and have four children.

Alexander Sanchez (Canisius Prep '15) received a BA from Canisius University in 2019 and then earned a law degree from the University of Buffalo in 2022. He is about to start at the Erie County District Attorney's office as an ADA. Prior to this transition, he was an Immigration Staff Attorney for the Volunteer Law Project which provides free civil legal services to low income individuals and small not-for-profit groups in Western New York State. Throughout college and law school, Alex has been committed to mentoring Latinos and providing support for those who want to use their education to improve the Buffalo community. "The BPAA gave me the opportunity to open doors I previously did not have access to. Thanks to these opportunities I was able to accomplish great things and am now in a place where I can help others."

Jason Cintron (Fordham Prep '10) holds a dual bachelor's degree in Criminal Justice & Sociology from SUNY-Albany and has earned a master's degree in Urban Policy at Hunter College. A Bronx native, Jason grasps the reality of minority underrepresentation. It is why he has committed to ensuring Minority and Women-Owned Business Enterprise construction firms remain viable and have the resources necessary to bid on projects successfully. He co-founded the Minority & Women Contractors & Developers Association in early 2019. He is currently an adjunct professor at New York City College of Technology, teaching Real Estate Fundamentals. "Recalling my high school years fills me with immense pride, stemming from the invaluable lessons learned and enduring connections forged at the Prep. These opportunities were made possible through the generous financial assistance of BPAA and the ongoing support of alumni committed to empowering underprivileged youth seeking a top-tier secondary education."

Chris Jaroszewski Añazco (Loyola '11) graduated Boston College with a Business Administration degree in 2015. A co-founder of an early-stage e-commerce startup, he is as equally invested in social justice as in business and technology, thanks in large part to his Jesuit education. He previously worked for Porticus, a global foundation whose goals address various social and environmental issues. Besides advising on and leading philanthropic efforts, he has also worked for several not-for-profit organizations including Incarcerations Nations Network an organization committed to addressing mass incarceration and judicial system reform. "The opportunity to attend Loyola School was an enormous blessing, and I will always be grateful. But the BPAA scholarship gift means so much more to me than my high school education. Thank you, Alumni of Brooklyn Prep, for planting a seed, making everything possible, and bringing my dreams within reach."

Virgil Parker (McQuaid Jesuit '15) rose from an impoverished background to graduate from Howard University with a degree in Journalism and a minor in Afro-American studies in 2021. He has become a television producer at News10NBC (WHEC-TV), a Fulbright Alumni Ambassador, a community advocate and more. Mr. Parker has led projects in partnership with a number of organizations including The Aspen Institute, the NAACP Legal Defense Fund, and the Indiana University Lilly Family School of Philanthropy in order to bring attention to social equity issues. In addition, Parker has executive produced and co-moderated projects that commemorated important community initiatives such as the 60th anniversary of the Equal Pay Act of 1963 and the 2023 International Day of the Girl Child. "I am extremely grateful that BPAA granted me a scholarship to finish my education at McQuaid Jesuit. McQuaid creates great opportunities for young men, and people like me would not be able to experience those opportunities without financial support."

Jonathan Ahn (St. Peter's Prep '17) graduated from NYU in 2021 with a degree in Engineering and is slated to graduate from NYU this spring with a Master's in Urban Planning from the Graduate School of Public Service. A first-generation college graduate, Jonathan has a deep interest in the economic development of South Global countries and their sustainability. This has led him to internships with the UN Department of Economic and Social Affairs, the UN Capital Development Fund, and the World Bank. He is currently serving as Program Management Intern for the Office of Internal Oversight at the UN. "Thanks to the alumni of Brooklyn Prep, I received an excellent Jesuit education that has had a lasting impact on me. 'Being a Man for Others' became my life motto and influenced my career path as I work towards creating a more inclusive and sustainable future for all."

Matthew Sorace (Xavier '19) graduated summa cum laude from The Ohio State University with a degree in Real Estate and Urban Analysis. He is now an Acquisitions Associate at Ocean Block Capital, a commercial real estate company based in New York City. He is also a General Member of the National Federal Development Association involved in matters involving government real estate. While at The Ohio State University, Matthew founded the chapter of Financial Literacy for Youth, the goal of which is to impart financial wellness education to the youth of Columbus, Ohio. While in college, he also founded an on-campus social fraternity that emphasized the importance of academic achievement and extensive campus involvement. "The Brooklyn Prep Alumni Scholarship fundamentally transformed my life by providing the opportunity to pursue a Jesuit education at Xavier. The scholarship alleviated the financial burden for my family, enabling me to attend Xavier and instill the values of integrity, faith, and service to others, which I've carried with me ever since leaving 16th Street."

John ("Jack") Michael Gillen

1935 - 2021

With deepest esteem the BPAA Board remembers and thanks the decades-long service of Jack Gillen, Class of 1953, our Treasurer and fellow board member. For Jack, Brooklyn Prep and the riches of our Jesuit education are celebrated and fostered through the generosity of our alumni, which has enabled the BPAA to provide $4.7 million in scholarships since 1972. Brooklyn Prep closed but Jesuit education continues, and its contributions flow widely from Jesuit alumni. Jack's sound investment acumen on our behalf and belief in today's and tomorrow's Jesuit students prompted his bequest of over $2 million dollars, the strongest possible endorsement of Jesuit education for the future and the scholarships granted in the name of Brooklyn Prep.
